MAPLE GROVE CHILD CARE CENTER HAS BUSY WEEK

The past week at the Maple Grove Day Care-Child Care Center was a busy one.

Tuesday, the children toured McDonald's Restaurant in Richmond where they were treated by the restaurant to a free hamburger, coke, and french fries for each child. A cook-out was held on Wednesday and roasting weiners and marshmallows was a real adventure for the children. A field trip to Levi Jackson State Park and a free lunch donated by Hardee's in London were on Thursday's agenda and the week was climaxed on Friday by graduation ceremonies for the children who will be entering grade school in the fall.

Those graduating were: Billy Bullock, Tracey Bullock, Brian Evans, Dewey Gregory, Dale Monk, Jeff Mullins, Christy Sexton, Elizabeth Singleton, and Lynn Singleton. Many friends and relatives attended the graduation and reception which followed.

The staff at Maple Grove wishes to thank everyone who has helped make this year so successful, especially all the parents.

It is unusual that a community such as ours which has only twelve thousand people produces a person that achieves national fame and still remains loyal to the place where he was raised. It is even more unusual for that person to stay in the community and work diligently for the up-grading of his community and those around him.

We have had such a person in our community for as long as this bank has been in existence. We cannot praise this person enough. We take great pride in honoring him - MR. JOHN LAIR.

Office by dialing a number which will also be publicized.

This new service to members is made possible by a development by the telephone company called WATS or Wide Area Telephone Service. The service being leased is called IN-WATS as it will provide toll-free service on incoming calls only. A large part of our present telephone costs, Mr. Cole said, is paying for collect calls from members reporting outages, or emergency calls and for a very little more we can lease the IN-WATS service and any member may call the office toll-free from anywhere in the Coop service area.

Jackson County RECC serves over 24,000 members in Jackson, Rockcastle, Laurel, Clay, Owsley, Lee, Estill and in the bordering areas of eight other counties. With the IN-WATS system any member in the coop service area will be able to call the office at no cost to the member. This is the best way we have found to improve our service to all our members at the least additional cost to the Coop Mr. Cole said.

KU Announces Ten Percent Decrease In Fuel Adjustment Charges

A decrease of almost 10 percent in the fuel adjustment charges on the electricity its retail customers use during July and August and September was announced by Kentucky Utilities Company.

This will mean a saving of slightly more than 5 cents a month for residential customers using 650 KWH per month. The decrease to 7036 cents a kilowatt hour reflects the lower cost of the coal KU burned during March, April, and May from the stockpiles at its generating plants.

The fuel adjustment charge has been in effect on residential, commercial and industrial electric bills since August, 1972, but did not become a significant part of the bills until last summer reflecting the continuing large increase in the cost of coal.

This is the first time the fuel adjustment charge has dropped since January, 1973.

Fiscal Court Meets

SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court last Monday, June 30th, the Court passed on two items of business.

A motion, made and passed at the June 3rd meeting of the court, pertaining to the increase of road for Allen, Clontz and Cox law officers and other officials in the courthouse, was rescinded by a unanimous vote.

The second item concerned the paying of all claims as presented to wind-up business in the 1974-75 fiscal year.

REGULAR MEETING

Several items of business were on the agenda for the first regular meeting of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court Stenographer Lois Reid for indigent James Couch in a public defender case.

The Court also made and passed a motion unanimously to pay a claim from the City of Livingston for repairs on city hall there.

The Court then took up the business of the increase in the rent for the law offices of Allen, Clontz, and Cox, located in the Courthouse. After some discussion, the Court decided to accept a lease with Allen, Clontz and Cox for five-years, with a five-year renewal option, at a monthly rental of $175.

In other action, the Court agreed unanimously to borrow $30,000 from Citizens Bank in Brodhead and deposit funds in the Bank of Mt. Vernon to run the county with until taxes are collected. The Court authorized County Judge Hubert Thacker to sign said note to the county.

On a motion by Sherman Sargent, seconded by J.R. Cromer, the Court unanimously increased to $25 a month the pay for Ellis Kirby for trash collection at the Courthouse.

The next item on the agenda brought about quite a bit of discussion among the magistrates.

Three of the Magistrates, Ernest Mason, J.R. Cromer and W.H. Wren, put through a motion setting up a varying amount of road funds for the five districts. Under the motion, Districts 2, 4, and 5 would get $7,000 each for the year for road upkeep and maintenance in their districts. District No. 3, represented by Magistrate Sherman Sargent, would get $5,000 and District No. 1, represented by Magistrate Chester Whitaker, would get $4,000 for the year.

The three magistrates used as their main argument that they had more miles of roads to maintain in their districts and therefore should be entitled to more funds with which to maintain them. However, Magistrates Sargent and Whitaker saw it differently in that they felt since the districts are set up to represent approximately the same number of people than the money should be divided equally among the five magistrates.

When it came down to a vote, the three magistrates for the motion stuck together and managed to pass it over a no vote by Magistrates Sargent and Whitaker.

Another matter on which the magistrates split was that of the equipment rental contract with the State Highway Department. The Highway Department offered a larger contract this year than usual for the hauling of rock by county trucks for which the contract agreed to pay over $5 an hour for the use of the trucks up to a maximum number of hours.

However, Magistrates Mason, Cromer and Wren agreed that since the county had to pay the truck drivers $2.75 an hour and a minimum of $25 per day for gasoline alone not to mention wear and tear on the trucks, that the contract was not worthwhile to the county. The three magistrates voted yes on rejecting the contract. Magistrate Sherman Sargent and County Judge Hubert Thacker voted no and Magistrate Chester Whitaker abstained from voting.

Mr. John Lair

An Editorial

July 4th, 1975 has special meaning for everyone since this is Independence Day for our Nation. This date takes on additional significance for Rockcastle County this year due to the celebration of John Lair Day.

Mr. Lair has contributed a great deal to our county by virtue of founding the nationally famous Renfro Valley Barn Dance. Mr. Lair instituted for commercialization, what had always been a way of life for people in this area. This has been further expanded on by people all over the world until now country music has gained great popularity and respect.

As Mr. Lair pointed out, when being honored by the local Jaycees some years back, what he originally started out to do was to make a living. As he stated in his acceptance speech to the Jaycees, he was certainly happy that others here in Rockcastle County could benefit from his endeavors.

The beneficial effect of Renfro Valley has been probably more far reaching than even Mr. Lair could have comprehended. Consider the financial gain for Rockcastle County from the service stations, motels, restaurants, groceries, etc., and it is easily understandable that Rockcastle County has gained a great deal from Mr. Lair's efforts at making a living.

Probably the most important contribution or legacy Mr. Lair has given to Rockcastle County is not one that is or will be monetarily beneficial to him. For years he has been known as a songwriter and poet. To add to these accomplishments, Mr. Lair has for some time been in the process of writing a history of Rockcastle County, Kentucky. This, we can be sure, is a tiresome task but one that will be a source of pride for everyone in our county for years to come.

To end this editorial and not go on and on mentioning additional community projects, business endeavors, etc., suffice it to say that we are proud of being a neighbor and friend of Mr. John Lair and wish him many future happy birthdays.

Frankfort Watchline

A proud father is a proud father, whether or not he is to be the governor of the Commonwealth.
The birth last week of a girl child to Gov. and Mrs. Julian Carroll probably stirred as much excitement in the capital as anything has in the weeks since the election.

While Mrs. Carroll has recuperating from the surgery, the governor proudly displayed his latest offspring to the press corps who descended on the local hospital less than three hours after the birth.

It was the kind of event where even hardened newsmen offer a warm handshake, for a change, and where most of us have no qualms about accepting a gift from the public official, in this case of cigar.

There were also enough comments forthcoming between newsmen to bring to light the fact that most of us felt a great deal of pity for the new baby.

Not, of course, for the fact that the baby's first few months or years will be mostly blissful ones. It will be her nursery, surrounded by life's every amenity.

Every amenity except, perhaps, privacy. Three hours old, Elynn Kriston Carroll was held on display from behind the glass-fronted nursery at King's Daughters' Memorial Hospital while a hall full of forever-to-be-strange faces shifted around for one last view.

How appropriate that glass window was, a physical fishbowl not so very difficult from the figurative fishbowl of the Governor's Mansion that will be her home for at least the next several months, and for more than four years if her father wins in November.

Fortunately for an interested public, Gov. and Mrs. Carroll realize the public interest in little Elynn.

For those of us on whom it falls to disseminate the information, it will probably continue to be a bit disconcerting to wonder that fleeting baby-thoughts might have crossed Elynn's mind as she opened her eyes to look out into her future world.

On a far different news front, it appears that legislators will probably vote themselves a substantial increase in per diem pay during the 1976 session, to take effect in the 1978 session.

The special advisory committee on compensation for legislators has finally come up with some recommendations, which include increases in per diem salary and expenses during sessions that will add about $2400 to their take during the biennium.

The increase, reflected as a percentage of the total the legislature will collect, amounts to something in the range of a cost of living increase. The commission justified the increase in expense money during the session by saying the $35 a day is more realistic in light of current costs for lodging and meals.

The recommended hike is small enough that few legislators will be too concerned about voting for it, even though they know their opponents will make an issue of it when they have to run for re-election.

In fact, the only opposition of any real strength is likely to say that the increase is not enough to make the job attractive to qualified people.

The advisory commission also made a recommendation that the Legislative Research Commission review salaries every two years and recommend changes in the schedule.

While up-to-date information is not yet available, it appears the increases recommended will move Kentucky up a couple of notches in relation to the totals paid in other states to lawmakers, but substantially, Kentucky will remain near the middle.

Letter to the Editor

As a contemporary of John Lair back to the time we were children together, I wish to express my personal gratification at the greatly deserved recognition that will be accorded to him by the people of Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County on "John Lair Day", July 4. I know I am speaking for others who now live in faraway places as well as myself when I express my deep regret that I cannot be present.

I remember John as a young boy coming from Renfro Valley to school in Mt. Vernon

ramblings

I suppose I really need to apologize for the scarcity of news in this week's Signal but a morning took precedence over our normal routine.
My husband's father, James A. Anderkin, passed away unexpectedly after a several illness of short duration. Although he had fought asthma for 30 years and emphysema for the past several years, Dad remained alert until the end. He had made his home with us for the past six months and was the most self-effacing of men. We all loved him dearly and his high standards of ethics and morality were well-known among his family, friends and neighbors. Perhaps this is not an appropriate place, but I did not feel that I could let the occasion pass without some personal mention of Dad perhaps because he meant so much to me personally. I had come to know him well the short time he lived in our home and, in today's world of changing values and ideas, he was a refreshment to my spirit of the way men should think and act.

I also cannot let the occasion pass without personally thanking everyone who was kind and thoughtful enough to express their sympathy in the form of gifts of food. This is an old custom in this area and one which is worth its weight in gold to a family who has lost a loved one. My husband's family is a large one and came from just about all over the country. Naturally, they congregated at our home several times during our period of mourning and if we had to we could have taken care of preparing the needed food - but the burden would have been great. I myself have been guilty of not always being this considerate but this experience, so close to home, will certainly make me more aware of the needs of my friends at times like this.

I do not feel light-hearted enough this week to go on to other subjects. Our family is still adjusting to the absence of Dad from our home. We are thankful that he was with us for the period of time that he was and we realize that our lives were enriched greatly by our association with him.

Remember when only health faddists favored yogurt? These days, the cultured milk product comes in a whole range of flavors - from blueberry to something called "passion orange". It's the darling of the dairy case. Don't even be surprised if you find "yogurt-icycles" - frozen on sticks and easy to nibble as you go.

QUESTIONS ABOUT CANNING AND FREEZING

Some of the questions folks

ask me about canning and freezing are really strange. Last year one woman asked me if it was all right to use aspirin as a preservative instead of heating the food.

"No! Aspirin is no substitute for correct processing in the right type of canner. Use the boiling-water-bath method for fruits, tomatoes, rhubarb, and pickled vegetables. Use a steam-pressure canner for all other vegetables and for meats, poultry and fish."

Here are the most common food-preservation questions asked each season:

Q. Why is open-kettle canning not safe for fruits and vegetables?

A. Open-kettle canning is only recommended for jellies. For vegetables, temperatures reached in open-kettle canning are not high enough to kill all types of spoilage organisms. Spoilage bacteria may also get in when the food is transferred from kettle to jar.

Q. Is it safe to process foods in the oven?

A. No. Oven canning is dangerous. Jars may explode. The temperature of the food in jars during oven processing does not get high enough to destroy all spoilage bacteria.

Q. Does adding 1 or 2 tablespoons of vinegar make it safe to use boiling-water-bath method for canning vegetables?

A. No! This is not enough vinegar to make a high-acid product out of a low-acid one. A strong pickling solution would have to be used.

Q. Is it safe to can foods without salt?

A. Yes.

Q. Is it all right to use chemical preservatives in home-canning?

A. No. They may be harmful.

Q. Should liquid lost during processing be replaced?

A. No, never open a jar and refill with liquid - this would let in bacteria and you would need to process food again. Loss of liquid does not cause food to spoil, although food above liquid may darken.

Q. Why do foods darken in top of jar?

A. Liquid did not cover food. Food is still safe to eat, as long as it's properly sealed.

Q. What makes canned foods change color?

A. Overprocessing may cause discoloration of food. Pink and blue colors sometimes seen in canned pears, apple and peaches are caused by chemical changes in the colorin matter of the fruit.

Iron and copper from cooking utensils or from water in some localities may cause brown, black, and gray colors in some foods.

When canned corn turns brown, the discoloring may be due to variety, stage of ripeness, overprocessing, or copper or iron pans.

Q. Is it safe to eat discolored canned foods?

A. The color changes noted above do not mean the food is unsafe to eat. However, spoilage may also cause color changes. Examine carefully canned foods that has an unusual color before using any.

Q. What causes white sediment in bottom of jars of vegetables?

A. The white sediment may be due to minerals in the water, starch in the food, or it may mean spoilage. If food is soft or liquid is dark and murky, do not use.

Q. Why do white crystals sometimes form on spinach?

A. Calcium and oxalic acid in spinach combine to form harmless calcium oxalate. The spinach is still perfectly safe to eat.

Q. Why must fruits and vegetables be steamed or dipped in boiling water before freezing?

A. This is called blanching is one of the most important steps in preparing food for freezing. Steaming the food for the recommended time stops the action of enzymes that can change food's flavor, color and texture, and even rob it of nutrients. Green peppers do not need to be blanched, however.

Q. How long can we store vegetables and fruits in our freezer?

A. No longer than a year. After that, they lose flavor and nutritional value.

Q. Is sugar necessary in freezing fruits?

(Cont. to 12)

Like milk, yogurt is an excellent source of calcium, riboflavin (B12), and protein. Of these other nutrients, yogurt equals milk in value, cup for cup, and can count toward the amount of milk recommended daily: adults - 4 or more cups; teenagers - 4 or more, and children - 3 or more. *****

You just can't beat milk as the summer-fun family beverage! It's tops for being convenient, fast to serve, nutritious and so good poured icy cold. *****

Back in the middle ages, ice cream was a carefully guarded secret of the nobility that they tried very hard to keep from the common folk. *****

The average cow weighs somewhere between eleven hundred and fifteen hundred pounds. *****

It takes 10 pounds of milk to make one pound of cheese...15 pounds of milk to make a gallon of ice cream...and 21.1 pounds of milk to turn out a pound of butter. *****

Butter is naturally yellow because of the yellow pigment Carotene that's in it. An addition to butter's natural vitamin A, this Carotene converts to vitamin A and is needed for growth, healthy eyes and skin, and to help fight off infection by keeping body tissues in healthy condition. *****

Eight ounces of Cheddar cheese gives you as much protein as a full pound of steak. That is one day's requirement of protein. And cheese gives you a bonus - there isn't any waste. *****
