Brodhead wins Lion's Tourney

The Brodhead Tigers' 5th and 6th grade basketball team, under coaches Randall Adams and Gordon Pope, captured this year's Lions Club Tournament at Livingston Elementary Thursday night in a landslide victory, 48-29, over the challenging Livingston Blue Devils.

The Mt. Vernon Red Devils took third in the consolation game by edging out the Roundstone Eagles, 29-27.

The Tigers, who are now seven and four on the year, have only lost one game within the county this year and that was to the Eagles by only three points. However, they had no intention of making it two losses within the county and Thursday's score proved that.

Led by Devon Graves with 12 points and Jonathan Pope with 10, the Tigers were able to leap out to an impressive, 16-2, lead over the Blue Devils in the first quarter.

But a determined Blue Devils team made the game interesting in the second quarter by rallying for 12 points while limiting the Tigers to only four to narrow the lead from 14 points to only six.

But the Tigers were able to stretch their lead up to 19 in the third quarter regardless of the Blue Devils' Jonathan Northern, who pumped in 15 points to lead all scorers in the game. Fourth quarter action saw both teams play well with an equal share of 10 points to set and end the game at 48-29, a Tigers' championship of the 1990 Lions Club tourney.

Scoring along with Graves and Pope were Tigers Robbie Barron and Slade Calhoun with eight each, Jon Adams with six and Chris Bradley and Eric Benge with two each.

Blue Devils scoring with Northern were Dougie Medley with five, Mason with four, Mark Carpenter and Payne each with two and Rusty Newcombe with one.

Consolation game

The Mt. Vernon Red Devils came from an 11 point deficit in the first quarter to defeat the Roundstone Eagles, 29-27, for third place in the Lions' tourney this past Thursday night.

Leading the Red Devils in the win was Dusty McClure with a big night of 21 points. Others scorers were Blake Childress with three, Jesse Bugg and Travis Anderkin with two each and Ronnie Varant with one.

Eagles scoring were Jason Dawson with 11, Eric Powell with six, Brian Bullens and Jimmy Kidwell with four each and Shane Whittemore with two.

Lady Rockets lead most of game but lose, 55-50, to Estill

The Rockcastle County Lady Rocketts were forced to take a tough loss, 55-50, to the Estill County Lady Engineers after having led over three-quarters of the game last Thursday at RCHS.

"We led most of the game," Assistant Coach Darla Reams said Friday. "But I think early foul trouble is what hurt us," she added.

The Lady Rocketts did jump out to an early, 13-6, lead but also started early with the personal fouls committed. April Burton, Cindy McCauley and Beth Amyx all had to take a seat on the sideline at one time or another in the first half due to early foul trouble.

But despite losing some of the much needed play of the players mentioned, the Lady Rocketts were able to carry their seven point lead into the half, 23-16.

Although Estill was able to cut into the lead in the third quarter, senior forward Karla Bullock, who led the Rocketts with 15 points, enabled the Lady Rocketts to withstand the fire and keep the lead, 38-35.

But it wasn't enough. Estill surged in the final quarter of play with some consecutive three-pointers to tie the score at 48 all. And after taking the lead for the first time by only two points, went into a stall with 1:10 remaining in the game.

Estill's stall forced the Lady Rocketts to foul and with just under a minute to play, the outcome was to be the Lady Engineers taking the game away from the Lady Rocketts on the free throw line, 55-50.

The Lady Rocketts will continue play after the holiday break when they take on Corbin January 3 at Corbin.

Lady Rocketts scoring against Estill were: Karla Bullock, 15; April (Cont. to C-2)

Tip in at buzzer sends Rockets to victory over Whitley, 60-58

The Rockcastle County High School gymnasium rolled with thunder Friday night as the Rocketts sent the visiting Whitley County Collets home with a loss at the buzzer, 60-58.

Senior guard Tim Cottrell scored his only two points of the night on a tip in off a missed shot by teammate Billy Todd to give the Rocketts their sixth win of the year at the buzzer. The Rocketts now sport a six and four season record.

How sweet an ending but what a sour start. Play was literally rough from the beginning as Rockcastle and Whitley took the floor in what was supposed to be a basketball game but what appeared to be nothing less of a football game.

On one occasion Rocketts' Billy Todd had to get a towel from the bench for a bloody nose he suffered when no foul was called.

From this incident, no more need be said on how the game was officiated except for maybe two words, very poorly.

Nevertheless, the Rocketts scrapped and scratched for every point as well as Whitley thus providing only a 9-8 score (Whitley's Favor) at the end of the first quarter.

However, the Rocketts did manage to gain a few extra yards in the second quarter and with it a, 24-20, lead.

And led by Todd with 18 points and Micah Parkerson with 14, the Rocketts stretch the margin to eight, 45-37, at the end of the third period.

But in almost a replay of the Madison Southern and Estill County games the Rocketts faltered and came within seconds of losing another by giving up a comfortable lead down the stretch.

The Rocketts were up by as many as 14 in the final quarter when Whitley came charging back to tie the score at 58 all with only eight seconds remaining in the game.

RGHS freshmen lose to North Laurel, 57-49

The Rockcastle County High School freshmen squad took one on the chin by a very talented North Laurel club, 57-49, this past Thursday at Laurel.

The Rockets' freshmen, under head coach Chris Cornelius, are now three and two on the year.

Although the Rockets trailed for the duration, forward Jason Fletcher put in a good night's work of 22 points for the freshmen. Trailing Fletcher in scoring were J.D. Bussell with five, Mickey McClure with four and Marvin McCollum, Freddie Pruitt and David Dooley, all with two.

Rockets' junior forward Micah Parkerson reaches for two against a Whitley County Colonels' defender in Friday night's high school basketball action at RGHS. The Rockets won the game, 60-58, on a Tim Cottrell tip in at the buzzer.

Lady Rockets' JV
The Lady Rockets' junior varsity were able to move their record to three and five on the season with a 45-37, win over the Estill County Lady Engineers junior varsity Thursday.

Leading the Lady Rockets' JV were Jan Durham with 18 points and Christy Coleman with 11. Other scorers were Christina Silmon with six, Danetta Ford and Greta Burdette with four each and Tiffany Carter with two.

Rockets win by two

However, it only took eight seconds for Todd to miss and Cottrell to follow with the tip in to send the Rockets to victory for one of the better Christmas presents given to a basketball team.

The Rockets will host Corbin January 3 after the holiday break.

Scoring for the Rockets were: Billy Todd, 18; Micah Parkerson, 14; David Sargent, 11; William Bullens, 6; Kevin Mullins, 3 and Tim Cottrell, Chris Newland and David Eaton, Jr., all with two.

Rockets' JV
The Rockcastle County Rockets' junior varsity fell on the losing end to the Whitley County Colonels' junior varsity, 49-46, Friday night in yet another poorly officiated game.

The Rockets' JV, who are one and five on the season, deserve much credit in Friday's game for covering a one time 14 point deficit in the second half and rallying within two points of the Colonels late in the game.

And if it wasn't for a few controversial calls, the Rockets' JV may have found a win at the end of the game instead of a loss.

Scoring for the Rockets' JV were: Mikheal Shaffer, 15; Scottie Bullens, 9; John Hamm, 8; Jason Fletcher, 5; and Corey Craig with 4 and Stacy Smith with 2.

Special Christmas Issue

Thursday, December 27, 1990

Santa will arrive in Rockcastle County Monday night, and last Sunday afternoon Jason Reynolds, a Brodhead kindergarten camper was at Renfro Valley with his parents Allison and Roger to tell Santa what he would like to find under his tree Christmas morning. Santa and his elves have been at the Renfro Valley workshop for the past three weeks, in conjunction with Renfro's Christmas in the Valley Celebration.

Chief Joe Howard resigns

Mt. Vernon Police Chief Joseph L. Howard resigned this week from the city police department effective Jan. 1.

Howard has already been sworn in as deputy jailer.

Howard has been in law enforcement in Mt. Vernon for 12 1/2 years. He was a patrolman for 5 years, assistant chief for 2 years and chief for 5 1/2 years. He leaves a six-officer city police force.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer will recommend a new chief to the city council. The mayor has not commented on the chief's resignation or speculated on a successor.

December was wet month

There was 45 of an inch of rain from noon Wednesday until 8 a.m. Friday bringing the total for December to 7.20 inches, probably a record. A total of 5.7 inches falls this week, according to records at Cox Funeral Home weather station.

Rain is predicted until late Saturday. Snow flurries are predicted Sunday and Monday with highs in the 20s.

The more things change, the more they stay the same

By: Ray McClure

Local news during December 1940 reveals striking similarities to December 1990.

Like today, Rockcastle Countians were playing "Jingle Bells" and "Silent Night" as December 1940 dawned.

Like today, folks were sending Christmas cards and thinking Santa Claus and girls.

Like today, families were nervous about a war under way in Europe, and a dictator named Adolph Hitler. Today, Saddam Hussein.

Like today, residents were fuming over gasoline prices. Gas could go as high as 50 cents a gallon was a gloomy prediction.

And, like today, children were wondering if there would be a white Christmas.

As December dawned in 1940, young men were joining one of the four military services. Others were being called to duty by way of Selective Service. Most called by the draft and joked it was not very selective.

On Thursday, Nov. 28, 1940 a list of registrants for the draft were listed in the Signal. The list ended in the Dec. 12 Signal at number 1,851 with the name, John L. Fain.

Local men realized times were going to be uncertain, and were until 1945, but as the moment the war seemed a long way off in a far away land that many county men had never heard of much less expected to be sent there.

During that first week of December, 50 years ago, the Signal employees were busy preparing the next Signal with the local news of the week.

The headline story in the Dec. 4 edition read:

"According to information received, all delinquent taxpayers face suits in the near future. Of the $4 million that is collectible, the state will get $400,000 and the counties will receive the balance."

And, "Due to a surplus of cotton, the U.S. government is furnishing free of charge, long fiber cotton to be used in making mattresses."

"Mrs. Mary Frances Riddle Proctor, better known to those near and dear as Aunt Mary Frant, passed away Friday, Nov. 29 at her home near Buckeye at the grand age of 85 years."

"The streets of Mt. Vernon are gaily decorated for the holiday season with different colored lights."

"Due to prompt work by the local fire department, a blaze in a barn owned by Stewart Wolfe was extinguished at the rear of the Wolfe Hotel."

"We are glad to inform our readers that a Baptist Church has been organized at Sand Springs, also with the help of the Holy Spirit."

"The small child of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Linville is still very sick. The doctor has been summoned again."

"Folks in the vicinity of Poplar Gap are very busy getting their Burley ready for market while others are loafing or having hog killing time."

"There will be a community Christmas tree on the courthouse lawn, Thursday evening, Mrs. Helen Miller and Miss Dorothy Huff are in charge of arrangements."

"D.B. Saylor, in the grocery business here for 12 years, has sold out to J.J. Rowe and Everett Chaney."

In the same issue, the Signal listed 73 marriages. One of them was Tay Alexander Argonite of Dallas, Texas. There was an attached note that the person's name didn't sound like Rockcastle.

"Byron Baker, freshman at Berea College, was selected guard on the freshman squad. He is from Brodhead."

"Tom O'Mara Jr., of this city has face by a shotgun Sunday afternoon. Deputy Sheriff Walter Sowder, Magistrate Frank Robins and Brodhead Constable Ollie Collett arrested three men. But to date no one knows for sure which one of the three did it."

"Friday was lucky for the Mt. Vernon Red Devils. They beat Brodhead on Brodhead's hardwood 28 to 22 for the first time in five years. About 450 persons attended the noisy affair."

"Newest arrival on the Renfro Bardance is newborn Gordon Moore Comelison of Berea. His voice at present is untrained, but then we feel sure his singer father, Ernest, will help him weed out the sour notes."

"The Mt. Vernon Rotary Club held its annual Christmas party Monday at Renfro. W.L. Simpson, Signal editor, presided. 42 plates were served."

"The local Red Cross drive has ended with 185 members."

"As we went to press, we learned that James H. Brannaman, 58, of Orlando, lost his life Dec. 24 when his automobile was struck by a northbound L & N passenger train."

"Red Devils swamped Wayneburg 72-22. Med Noc was high point man with 21 points. Robert Hammon got 16 points. There were no fouls."

"Due to a 'bonehead' on the part of the editor, I was wrong last week when I listed Mrs. Arthur Franklin as owner of historic battle flags of World War I. They are owned by Mrs. Sidney Franklin."

"Some college students home for (Cont. to A-8)

Father Beiting, founder of Christian Appalachian Project, honored

Rev. Ralph Beiting, founder of the Christian Appalachian Project 40 years ago, has been named one of the 10 "most caring" adults in America.

Over the years he has provided jobs, clothing and other necessities to needy people in Appalachia.

Rev. Beiting, 66, was in Washington recently to receive the award on Capitol Hill, where he received accolades for his devotion to Eastern Kentucky by the Caring Institute, a non-profit organization created to honor public service.

The 5-year-old institute also bestowed awards yesterday upon the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale and Famous Amos Cookies founder Wally Amos, a promoter of adult literacy in Kentucky and across the nation.

"The growth of the Christian Appalachian Project from debt to an annual budget in excess of $20 million a year shows the vitality of this organization, and its continuing for some years to serve so many people in one of the poorest regions of our country -- this is a true test of faith," said former Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, chairman of the institute.

The project has grown to 350 employees who serve 50,000 people in 40 counties. It offers 80 programs, including day care, summer camps, centers for the elderly and a Christmas wreath factory in Jackson County.

Dear Editor,

This will be my final attempt and last response to convey my feeling in the mascot issue and would like to respond to a letter in last edition. I agree to the fact that a lot of statements and comments have been misrepresented; especially mine. We have never said that anyone in the local school system or in this generation is knowingly promoting anything. This thing was handed down to us from another generation, most of the teachers and school personnel wasn't even born at the time and satanism was a thing that was almost unheard of but as the song goes, the times they are a changing. The first church of satan now has tax exempt government status.

The very definition and concept of a mascot is, a thing a person and is supposed to bring good luck to the one who bears its image.

If for one do not want my grandson who starts school next year to be identified with this image and expect his ballteam to benefit from its presence. I certainly don't want him wearing this symbol on his person.

I disagree that Bugs Bunny doesn't have anything in common with live rabbits. Bugs represents a rabbit. Symbolism is the key word here. Bugs Bunny symbolises rabbihood from head to toe. He is indeed a prince in rabbit kingdom. I don't think anyone from three years old to 40 years can disassociate themselves from that. When we see carrots, ears and "What's Up Doc?" We think rabbit.

Some say this symbol or emblem doesn't have to do with the reality of satanism and is in no way associated with it. Christmas trees, Santa Claus, reindeer and Easter eggs don't have anything to do with Christianity either but they have been so mixed and mingled and associated with it down through the generation till now we have produced a generation of people who don't know the difference. I think people who are so steeped, rooted and grounded in traditions should take the time to do a little research and see how they came into being.

The A.C.L.U. has taken these symbols and successfully used them in court to force a school system in the State of Wisconsin to stop displaying any trees, ornaments, Easter Eggs, or Easter bunnies or any symbols associated with a Christian holiday. The irony of it all is that these symbols have nothing to do with Christianity in the first place. Symbols are very important in our society today.

I would like apologize to Mrs. Smith whom I feel was genuinely offended as an innocent bystander in this matter and to all other innocent people who were caught up and hurt in the overflow of this mess. I would like to say also to anyone who is not so innocent and have underlying and hidden motives for wanting to keep or promote this symbol, you're in a heap of trouble.

A Prayer for Older People

Lord, Thou knowest better than I myself know that I am growing older, and will someday be old.
 Keep me from getting talkative, and particularly from the fatal habit of thinking that I must say something on every subject and on every occasion.

The Signal office will be closed the week of Dec. 24-28 for the Christmas Holidays. We will reopen Mon., Dec. 31 with the normal deadlines applying for that week's paper.

Let's keep Christ in Christmas

Christmas seemed to come early this year. There has been Christmas sales going on now for two or three months I know. In November, when pumpkins, turkeys and fall leaves usually decorate the market place this year Christmas lights and all the decorations for Christmas were dominating the scenes.

What happened to the excitement of families getting together to celebrate Thanksgiving Day? Did the Grinch get mixed up this year and steal Thanksgiving instead of Christmas? Or maybe we are allowing commercialism to take over the holidays. It seems to me that only the holidays that make money are advertised and glitter is taking the place of the real meaning of Christmas.

I love the lights shining forth to represent the light that shined from the star of Bethlehem to show the wise men and shepherds where Christ lay. I also love the beautiful carols that are sung to remind us of the angels that sang that night, "Glory to God in the highest" and "Peace on earth to men". Those songs and the lights and gifts of love should be reserved for the Holy Week that we know as His birthday. They seem to lose their glow and meaning when we have to look at them for a month before Christmas, then puff they are gone and nothing is left but a mess and the bills.

I guess I am quite old fashioned when it comes to holidays but I still like the crackle of fire works in July - homecomings on Labor Day, families getting together and eating turkey on Thanksgiving Day and Christmas celebrated the twenty-fifth of December. The day we have been taught to accept as the birthday of Jesus Christ.

There has been a movement going on for years to take Christ out of Christmas but it can't be done. The very Word itself pronounces His name, therefore proclaims His sovereignty: As long as we celebrate Christmas we will be confessing there is a Christ.

For those who don't believe in Christianity we should give a clear message, leave us alone to worship the God of our fathers the way we have been taught. Since our country was founded over 200 years ago, Christianity has been its official religion, and we have professed to be a Christian nation.

We are not demanding the unbelievers send Christmas cards, decorate your homes nor give gifts as a remembrance of the gift God gave the world when he sent His Son Jesus Christ to be born on Christmas morning.

So please take your hands off our Christmas cards, carols and nativity scenes and allow us once again to worship Jesus Christ as we see fit. Join us if you wish but please don't hinder us.

Churches all over the world are putting on programs at this time of the year to glorify Christ and all of them are worthy of attention. I'd like to share my feelings about the service I attended the other night.

The cantata at the First Baptist Church was an example of what many churches are doing and I was pleased to be invited to it.

When I saw and heard young men I had watched grow from babyhood to manhood proudly sing of the Saviour of man I knew the name of Christ would never be removed from Christmas.

When I heard and saw young women, some of whom I also knew

"Twas the Night before Jesus Came..."

Twas the night before Jesus came... and all through the house, Not a creature was praying, not me or my spouse. Our Bible was lain on the shelves without care, Not dreaming that Jesus would ever come there. Mom in her rocker, the baby on her lap, Was watching the late show, while I took a nap. When out of the East there came such a clatter,

I sprang to my feet to see what was the matter, Away to the window I flew like a flash, Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash. And what to my wondering eyes should appear, But angels proclaiming that Jesus was here! It was Jesus returning just like He had said! Although I possessed worldly home and much wealth, I cried when I saw him in spite of myself. In the great Book of Life, which He held in His hands, Was written the name of every saved man. He spoke not a word, as He searched for my name, When He said, "It's not here," my head hung in shame. The people whose names had been written with love, He gathered to take to His mansions above. With those who were ready, He rose without sound, The rest were left standing --- transfixed on the ground. I fell to my knees, but it was too late, I had waited too long and seated my fate. I stood and cried as they rose out of sight. Oh, God, how I wished I'd been ready tonight. The message is true, it's meaning is clear, The coming of Jesus is drawing near. There's only one life---and when comes the last call, We'll find the Bible was true after all. Author unknown --Submitted by Naomi Edwards

Children's Prayer
By: Vickie Petrey

The smell of roasting turkey... The shriek of a child's delight, It's here! It's here! It's here! It's finally Christmas eve night! The little ones go to bed, Knowing there'll be treats in the morn. Their dreams are filled with happiness, And images of the Christ Child That was born. The soft glow of lights on the tree Burns in a downstairs room, Anxious for the fun That will come soon.

At last the Eve has passed away, Glad young ones shout for joy. Each one runs to the tree To search for a Christmas toy. But before their eager fingers grasp The long awaited prize, Solemn silence comes over them, And they slowly lift their eyes. Thank You, God, for all your love, And the love of Jesus, too. And please bless our parents and our home, These, too, were gifts from You. To a Troubled Soul By: Lewis F. Bowling

What is in our heart is hard to say, As it draws near to Christ's birthday. He left His home up in the sky, Because of His love for you and I. When Satan comes our soul to snare, We can be sure Christ is there. He steps in between, our life to defend, The only reason He is our friend. When our path is black as the darkest night, He comes on the scene as a beam of light. When our loved ones leave us in despair, And we think no one cares... (Cont. to A7)

RCHS students writing will appear in "Foxfire Christmas"

Last year, twelve RCHS seniors were honored by having their writings accepted for publication in a book called Foxfire Christmas. Foxfire Christmas is a book published by students from a high school in Rabun Gap, Georgia. The project began when Ms. Allen's seniors decided to do their own magazine called Thoughts of Christmas, featuring articles about Rockcastle Countians. Articles were selected from this magazine to appear in Foxfire Christmas.

The book contains short stories, poems, Christmas tips, and other holiday ideas written by students from the Appalachian area.

Now, one year later, just in time for Christmas the book is on the shelves of bookstores all the United States.

The local students who are published nationally are: Stacy Barron, Christy Brummet, Shane Chadwell, Julian Cromer, Gail McClure, Clarissa Hodge, Jennifer Rogers, Jerry Lovell, Victoria Singleton, Janet VanWinkle, Everett Vanzant and Robyn Harris. Ms. Allen encourages these students to come to the high school on Friday, December 21st between 10:30 and 11:30 to receive their free copies of Foxfire Christmas.

A publication of Foxfire Christmas is available in the RCHS library and is also on sale at the Berea College Bookstore and other major book stores.

The book which is hardback is $15.00.

 For the lost soul to Heaven bring.

 On His name you must call,
 He is the One who died for all.
 If you are troubled, don't know what to do,
 This poem is written special, just for you.

The Jot-'Em-Down
 By: Mayzell Ries
 There is a store in our Brodhead town
 And it's called The Jot-'Em-Down
 It's run by Ben Rose and his family
 So come on down to the Jot-'Em-Down and see
 They have blankets and sheets and furniture galore
 So come on down To the Jot-'Em-Down store
 The people are friendly the prices are right
 They are open from 9 a.m. 'Til 5 p.m. at night
 It's located on Main Street right in the middle of town
 So if you want something cheap Come on down to the Jot-'Em-Down

What's Wrong?
 By: Linda Kirby
 What's going on in this world today.
 You can't go to town without rumors going on.
 One person tells the truth the others tongue will sway.
 And tell me Lord, why is it that I can't have anything
 Without someone stealing from me or you,
 You could be as good as you can be
 But the more you give the more they take.
 Tell me something, what kind of Christian does that make.
 I'm not a stingy person, I had rather give than receive.
 For I believe they Lord watches over us.
 But there are people so naive And in His power, He gives us trust,
 A power to live, a power to be strong.
 When someone does something and you know it's wrong.
 I wish I could take this world and shake it up and down
 Bring love and trust back
 Bring good feelings, good friends
 In this world again.
 Jesus is the power, He can bring you up.
 Just ask Him in a little prayer
 He will know where you are Don't let anybody, push you around and don't let them put you down
 For Jesus is here, with me with you and everybody, for you see people!
 Jesus in the key!

Father Beiting and CAP (Christian Appalachian Project) has had," said Jerry Tucker.
Beiting, a Catholic priest, was sent to the area as a seminarian in 1946 and "fell in love with Eastern Kentucky -- not only with its beauty but with its sorrow."

In 1957, he established Cliffview Lodge, the first interracial children's camp in Kentucky. That program gave birth to the project, which primarily but not exclusively serves the poor.

"You can't eliminate the rich because they are part of the solution," Beiting said.

The energetic Beiting is a pastor of several Eastern Kentucky churches and a missionary -- in addition to being chairman of the project. He is planning several new businesses for the project, including a trailer manufacturing venture in Prestonsburg, a clothing outlet in Beatty and an expansion of the wreath factory.

"I can't think of anyone who better deserves this award," U.S. Rep. Harold Rogers, R-Somerset, said. "He typifies the very purpose of that award and the title of it -- caring for people."

Beiting, who also has received several state and local awards, said he was "very surprised" to be chosen, but undeserving. In his speech, he said the institute should have selected his parents, or his 10 siblings, or the thousands of volunteers who work in Appalachia, or "the little old lady who wrote to me and said, 'Here is my contribution. I will do without my medicine for a week so that you can feed the poor.'"

"It's still a journey into faith," he said.

And I am glad they they love me.

Christmas are: Wathalyne Fairchild, Frances Henderson, Jim Bob Roby, John James Riddle, Robert Robinson, Billy Peyton, Jack Lewis Lawwell and Lewis Denver Nicley."

"Bill Tyree has caught a fish nine feet long, or so he says. Also, while he and his friends were sitting around the stove, an opossum walked through the back door of the shop. The dozen of the outdoors was easily captured and Bill expects to have possum stew for Christmas."

From Editor Simpson: "With this Dec. 26 issue, another year has passed us by. For Mt. Vernon, it has meant a year of progress and encouragement for the future. We have lots to be thankful for and can look forward to a prosperous 1941."

It was to be the last year of peace. One year later on Dec. 7, 1941 America went to war.

Annual benefit concert at Renfro Valley is Sunday

Toy is the price of admission

Once again, Renfro Valley Folks, Inc. will host the Annual Christmas Benefit Gospel Concert.

The concert is scheduled for 2 p.m., Dec. 23 and will feature The Renners and The Jubilee Echoes. The admission for the concert will be a minimum of one toy per person.

The toys will be distributed on Christmas Eve from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. to those families who applied to the Department of Social Services earlier this year and were sent a letter of invitation to Renfro Valley to pick up the free toys.

John Lair, founder of the Renfro Valley Barn Dance, cared about people, especially the children born to needy families in the area. On broadcast of the Sunday Morning Gatherin', Lair was often heard speaking of his love and compassion for those children.

The one element that made his compassion so unique was the generosity with which he attempted to meet the needs of those he loved.

Lair died in 1985. But today, Renfro Valley continues that tradition and the legacy of John Lair lives on through the generosity of the Renfro Valley Folks.

Through special benefit concerts and personal involvement in the distribution of toys and other goods, the Renfro Valley Folks are striving to make life better for those less fortunate all around the Renfro Valley area.

Come and support Renfro Valley Folks, Inc. in continuing the tradition of caring. Be a part of the Annual Christmas Children's Benefit. For more information call 1-800-765-SING.

The Jubilee Echoes and The Renners will perform at 2 p.m.

Retired Teachers' Christmas dinner held at Steak House

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

As retired teachers and guests entered Rockcastle Steak House Dec. 14, glittering Christmas tree lights and silver shone brightly.

Shirley Martin stood behind a table covered by a red cloth with a white poinsettia border. She served punch, or coffee from a silver punch bowl and silver coffee pot.

After a social hour, everyone was seated at the U-shaped dining tables. James Oscar Hamm offered the blessing for the food prepared for our bodies.

After devouring the good beef dinner, Sue French, president, introduced Ohio Clark, from Richmond, to entertain the group with his dummy. This caused laughter.

Then Mr. Clark sang songs about the love of Jesus, whose birthday is celebrated each year on Dec. 25.

Some of the "once upon a time teachers" joined in these songs. Did they clap for themselves?

Yes, they did! Thanks to Astle Bray, Shirley Martin and Sarah Faye Hamm for planning the program as well as the menu, etc.

Another honored guest, Virginia Shaw, was asked to speak.

She is a past president of Kentucky East Retired Teachers. And at present represents the same counties in Frankfort a who meet four times each year besides the call-meetings. She said, "Open your retired teachers' April, 1991, letter, you'll like it."

Her enthusiasm was catching and questions were fired at her. She answered patiently with vim and vigor.

Probably this latter helped Rockcastle County Retired Teachers' Association climb to third place in Kentucky Retired Teachers East!

"We were one of the counties to rank near the bottom a few years ago," Sue French said.

Neurule Miracle, Rockcastle County's former School Superintendent, greeted her former employees and guests.

The next meeting will be in February, 91, at Rockcastle Library Building.

We have ninety-nine members at present. If they all attended meetings and worked toward better education, what "wonders" could be performed. Not only for future generations but for themselves.

Those present at this meeting Dec. 14, 1990, were Verla Scott, Neurule Miracle, Shirley Martin, Lela Mae Turner, Sue Gosmer, Elizabeth Mullins, Virginia Shaw, Ohio Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Junior French, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bray, Mr. and Mrs. J. Oscar Hamm, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Murphy Cash, Mr. and Mrs. Emmuel Rader and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Witt.

Ladies Aid Missionary Society

By: Elizabeth F. Mullins

Fifteen members and guests attended the Christmas Dinner at Marjorie and Richard Shavel's home, Dec. 15, that started at 6:30 p.m.

Everyone rejoiced at Emily Glorvak's appearance in a wheel chair.

As a patient at Sowder Nursing Home now, she attends the Christian Church when weather cooperates and friends can push her wheelchair to and from the nursing home.

After the dinner satisfied the group's appetites, Secret Sisters were revealed.

Beautiful packages were piled under the ceiling high clear lighted tree!

Then came the job of drawing for 1991 Secret Sisters, hostesses and lessons.

Jiminy Gilpin presented the lesson on Jesus' birth, life and death.

Marjorie read the Sowder Nursing Home's Monthly Grapevine.

Announcements were made where the best cantata ever heard in Broadhead Christian Church house. Also at 5:30 p.m. Sun. 16th of Dec. 1990, attend the Christmas Dinner in the churches fellowship hall and see program afterward. Then dessert after this.

January hostess is Barbara Watson of Ladies Aid Missionary Society.

Doctors recertified

Dr. George W. Griffith, and Dr. Orson L. Arvin, both of Mt. Vernon, have been recertified as a diplomate of the American Board of Family Practice (ABFP) as a result of passing a recertification examination offered by the ABFP.

The physician thus maintains a specialist status in the medical specialty of family practice.

ABFP diplomates must continue to show proof of competence in the field of comprehensive, continuing care of the family by being recertified every six years.

Hammond is receptionist for hospice

Demi Hammond has been appointed office receptionist for Rockcastle County Hospice.

A resident of Mt. Vernon, she began her duties on Monday, December 3 and will be in the office from 9 a.m. to noon Wednesday through Friday.

Her background and experience will assist Hospice in meeting the needs of terminally ill patients who want to have home care.

Hospice's home centered care allows the patient to live his or her remaining days in peace and dignity, a multidisciplinary team is used by Hospice and includes the patient's own physician, registered nurses, home health aides, social workers and trained volunteers.

Current team members are Peggy Owens, RN, patient care coordinator, Dr. George Griffith, medical director, Wendell Romans, chaplain, Earlene Davis and Jerry Morris, ACSW, social work services.

The Hospice team provides nursing care, manages pain and other symptoms, promotes communication between family member and the medical community and offers emotional, psychological, social and spiritual support as requested by the patient and family.

The patient and family are part of the team. The family continues to care for the patient with support and training from the Hospice staff. The patient continues to make decisions about his or her care.

Caring volunteers are an important part of Hospice care. After intensive training, volunteers work with patients and families. They may sit with the patient to give the family a much needed break, offer social and emotional support, run errands, shop or provide transportation to the patient. Volunteers serve in many ways, but they can best be described as good friends and neighbors.

Other volunteers help in the Hospice office. Professionals such as dentists, lawyers or beauticians, offer their expertise to patients with special needs. Some individuals and groups volunteer for tasks such as shoveling snow or raking leaves for patients and families.

2,600 items collected for REAP during 4-H food drive

The 4-H clubs of Rockcastle County have really outdone themselves this time; their hearts have been overflowing in the REAP contest that was held for the past three weeks.

4-H clubs collected a whopping total of 2,615 non-perishable food items to give to people who are not as fortunate as others. "What a great Christmas gift to others," according to John McQuerey, 4-H Extension Agent.

Each 4-H club collected food items and the two winning clubs earned a Pizza Husparry. The third and fourth place clubs will have pizza delivered to their classroom for a pizza party.

The first place club was Mrs. Shannon Bales's 4-H sixth grade, Leprechauns Club, from Mt. Vernon Elementary that collected 544 non-perishable food items. Second place winner was Ms. Janie Grigsby's seventh/ eighth grade, Southern Blues Club, from Livingston who collected 362 items. Third place club was Mrs. Patsy Morgan's sixth grade, Morgan's Mutanis' Club, from Brodhead who collected 292 items. And fourth place was Mrs. Nancy Hale's sixth grade, Cool Clovers, from Roundstone who collected 276 non-perishable food items.

Other 4-H clubs reaching the century mark in items were Mrs. Sandy Lear's fourth grade, Cool Kids, who collected 114 items, Mrs. Paula Clark's fourth grade, Clai's Clovers, who collected 144 items, and Mr. Nelson Graves's sixth grade, Green Machine, collected 161 items.

Totals from each elementary school were as follows: Livingston School, 551; Roundstone School, 482; Brodhead School, 528; and Mt. Vernon School, 1,054, for a total of 2,615 items.

"Congratulations to each 4-H Club who participated in this contest; each 4-H member and 4-H leader deserves a special past on the back on a job well done," McQuerey stated.

The "Chicken Man" on ABC

The emcee comes out on stage, stops as though he is confused, and begins his introduction of the next performer: "Friends, if you've seen the next act, there's nothing more I can tell you about it. If you haven't seen it, there's nothing I can say that will prepare you for this man. With that in mind, I'd like you to welcome the Chicken Man, Jerry Isaacs!" And then begins what is one of the most unique and entertaining acts on stage today.

By: Kathy McCracken

If you tune in to "America's Funniest People" on ABC at 8:30 Sunday night, January 6, you will see Renfro Valley's own Jerry Isaacs. The Chicken Man, Jerry recently was chosen to appear on this national TV show and flew to Hollywood, California, for the filming. We met Jerry in the Log Cabin Gun and Bugle Shop in Renfro Valley and asked him about his unique act and his trip to Los Angeles.

Jerry Isaacs grew up on a farm, one of 11 children. In high school, he was, by his own admission, a shy, quiet young man who hated getting up in front of the class. As an adult, he spent 23 years working at General Electric in Somerset, Ky. But while his hands worked, his mind dreamed; for all his life he wanted to become an entertainer. Now, all these years later, that quiet man who never even liked giving a book report, comes out on stage in a red suit, sings to over a thousand people, dances and -- of all things -- cackles like a chicken! Without fail, his unique rendition of the "Red Hen Boogie" brings down the house.

Jerry's unusual act was a long time in the making. He learned to mimic chicken sounds when, as a boy, he gathered eggs for his mother. Then in the 60's, he learned a dance called the swivel. And, finally, 20 years later, he heard "The Red Hen Boogie" by the Louvin Brothers of Nashville. The entertainer in him put them all together and the act he had been waiting for all his life was born.

As he worked in his sound-proof booth at GE, Jerry practiced perfecting his chicken cackle. In 1983, the act was ready to "hatch," and he did his chicken song for about 300 people from the fire department. It was so well-received that he knew he had a hit!

Jerry says his family backs him 100 per cent. His stepson, Michael Radford, an artist, drew the chickens that has become Jerry's trademark. But his many brothers and sisters are still a little surprised that their usually quiet sibling, the former song leader at Calvary Baptist Church, gets up on stage and acts like a chicken. He had played in a country band for several years, but the "chicken song" was to be the one that people would remember. It was also the one that landed him a place on the TV show, "America's Funniest People."

The Renfro Valley Folks, entertainers from the country-music complex at Renfro Valley, Kentucky, were doing a December 2nd show at the Red Mile in Lexington for a Kidney Foundation Benefit. Jerry, one of the Folks, was there to do his chicken act. Unknown to him, "America's Funniest People" had a crew there also.

Jerry says, "It was really a coincidence. Just the week before, I was at home trying to tape 'America's Funniest People' to get their address. Several people had told me they thought I had a good chance of getting on the show, so I was going to give it a try." But he never sent his video tape. Instead, "America's Funniest People" found him.

One of the crew members saw Jerry's act and asked him to come upstairs where they were taping to be a participant. They taped his chicken act twice and the song "Kaw-Liga," with Jerry in his Indian costume, once. They told him he would know in about two weeks if he had been selected.

On Wednesday, Dec. 13, "America's Funniest People" called Jerry at the Old Barn in Renfro Valley. He had been selected as one of the three finalists and would need to fly to Hollywood that Thursday. The tickets were delivered by Federal Express. He was told to wear a suit just as though he was going out to dinner.

Jerry says he had never been in a big plane and, while the other passengers were reading or watching TV, he was looking out the window. He hadn't been able to sleep the night before and, after losing three hours during the flight by crossing time zones and three more waiting at the airport, he didn't get into bed until 3 a.m. the next morning.

Work on the show started at 10 a.m. Friday and lasted most of the day, Jerry says. "It takes a lot longer to do the show than it looks like on TV. If a part doesn't turn out just right, they go back and do it over again.

There were three contestants on the show. The Chicken Man was up against a picture of the Mona Lisa that stuck out her tongue and a three-year-old child who did impersonations. Jerry says he was really nervous because the competition was tough. The judging was done by 50 to 75 people of all ages from the studio audience. First prize was to be $10,000, second prize was $3,000 and third prize was $2,000. And when the votes were in, "Chicken Man won second place and $3,000!"

Jerry says getting to see the show and meet everyone made the long trip worthwhile. They were served delicious meals (even shark meat once) and his wife, Betty Ruth, says he put on weight while he was there. The contestants were given an America's Funniest People T-shirt and $125 spending money and got to stay two nights at the Sheraton Universal Hotel in Hollywood. And, of course, Jerry has $3,000 in prize money coming in the mail.

We asked Jerry how he felt about the publicity. "Sometimes," he said, "I just have to pinch myself because I can't believe what's happened. All my life, I wanted to be an entertainer, and now it's a reality. They said 35 million people in America watch ABC, the network that carries 'America's Funniest People,' and it's seen in 24 foreign countries. It's untelling how many million that is altogether."

But, all the publicity hasn't changed Jerry Isaacs at all. In the words of Ralph Marcum, gunsmith and fiddler at Renfro Valley, and a work companion of Jerry's, "Jerry's just the same every day. He don't get upset with people and I've never heard him say a bad word to anybody. You just don't find a feller like that very often."

And, in Jerry's own words, "Of course, God gave me the talent, and I'm grateful for that. And it just means so much the way people have stood behind me and the way they've shown their appreciation for what I do. You know, it's the people that have put me where I am today. For me, that's my pay for working, hearing the applause. Of course, I have to put food on my table, and the chicken song has done that, but the appreciation shown by the people -- that's what keeps me going.

And, we hope he keeps going for a long time.

Mrs. Bales' 4-H Leprechauns from Mt. Vernon were the first place winners in the REAP collection contest with 544 non-perishable food items.

Ms. Janie Grigsby's Southern Blues from Livingston were the second place winners with 362 items.

Mrs. Patsy Morgan's sixth grade 4-H club from Brodhead was the third place winner with 292 items.

Mrs. Nancy Hale's 4-H Cool Clovers from Roundstone were the fourth place winners in the REAP contest with 276 food items.

Jerry Isaacs, "The Chicken Man" will appear on ABC television, January 6.

Gary Reppert, owner of By-pass Auto Parts, pulls Mrs. Margie Bishop's 1986 Chevrolet from the ditch in front of Convenient in Brodhead Friday morning. Mrs. Bishop went into the ditch after a truck pulled into her path. Mrs. Bishop was not injured in the accident.

Points East

By: Ike Adams

My intentions were to buy Loretta a dress suit for Christmas. A skirt and jacket, dark blue I figured, and business looking like the ones that women lawyers wear in Lexington. Loretta can out talk any lawyer I've ever met and that's about all they're good for so I thought she might as well dress the part once in a while.

So I'm figuring to splurge -- spend maybe 75 to a hundred bucks on like a wool and cotton blend and I headed to Dawahares in Fayette Mall with that attitude. If you can catch one of the Dawahares boys actually in the store you can get a better deal than you can from a sales clerk and I don't trade with 'em until they've knocked off about 15 percent and agreed to skip the sales tax. When I really feel like arguing, I go for half price. And you'd be surprised at how often I get it at Hoover's.

Anyway, I ventured into the ladies fashions to take a look at the suits and discovered that $180 probably wouldn't buy the drawers a woman would have to have to go with one of them. I didn't even have a down payment. A clerk walked over and asked if she could be of any assistance. I told her to grab hold of me if I started to fall and I staggered out of the store.

I had the same experience at three other places and I got to thinking that Loretta would probably appreciate underwear just as much as a suit anyway. My face gets red when I start thinking about it, but I actually walked up to a lady in a lingerie store where two or three other men were shopping. Told her I want three pairs of decent underpants, size 5, preferably white and I wanted them gift wrapped.

She went back into a storeroom, I presumed to fetch and wrap them for me and I was feeling pretty good about the whole thing. Nobody had been staring at me or anything. She was gone about five minutes and then I saw her coming through the door with a stack of little boxes about 12 x 15 inches wide and a couple deep. They reached from as low as she could stretch her arms and she had her neck tilted back so that her chin was on top of them. She was trying to walk like that.

About the time she reached the counter, the boxes lost balance and six or eight of them fell to the floor and landed with unmentionables went flying everywhere. Another clerk ran over.

"What happened?!" she yelled. "Oh I was just trying to help this gentleman select some panties", my clerk explained and pointed at me. Every head in the store turned in my direction.

I don't think death will be anymore painful than that experience.

You could have fired eggs on my face as they began picking them up and putting them back in the boxes. There must have been a hundred pair.

"You can help if you like sir", my clerk suggested. "Maybe you'll see something you like as we put them back away". She held up a pair that had about as much material in them as a medium size band aid. "Aren't these just darling?"

I was grabbing and stuffing as fast as I could go. Slamming 'em back on boxes. Stacking them back up and this lady was trying to get a conversation going. "Wife or girlfriend? Business or pleasure? Work or play?" I swear she asked all those questions and I'm saying, "Wife, Business, Work." And getting redder. I could feel the skin peeling off my ears.

And I'm trying to get her to hush long enough for me to explain again that I'm sure Loretta will like just about anything she picks out and I know it's $5 & well that I will too. I just want 'em wrapped and I wanna get out of here before I find out that I'm on candid camera, or worse yet, that someone I know comes along and sees me down on the floor handling underwear with a pretty college student. It's just not the kind of thing I like to explain on the spot.

So now you know what Loretta got for Christmas. Sooner or later she's going to come around and ask me who I talked into doing my shopping and I'm going to tell her that I personally sorted through more than a dozen boxes of unmentionables to select the ones she got. And she's not going to believe a word of it.

Footnote: What's wrong with you junk mail lovers. Or have I finally found all of you? Because the annual seed catalogue scam only has six takers so far and we need at least 25 to make it even remotely interesting.

In case you missed the column a couple weeks ago, it works like this. You send me two postage stamps and I put your name on a mailing list. I have access to somewhere around a hundred catalogues that come in the mail just for the asking. Twenty some seed catalogues for example.

We use the stamps you send to, mail the list off to the catalogues places and ask that they send their book to everyone on the list. We're honest about it. We tell the companies what we're doing and once in a while we get turned down, but 99 percent of them will start sending you stuff in the mail. If you don't like lots of mail, don't sign up. If you do, you'll never get a better deal than this because you will, in fact, get stacks of it and your mail handler will go nuts.

Send your name and two stamps to me at 9900 Highway 52 West. Paint lick 40461 then start watching your mail box around the middle of January. That's all there is to it.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor,

I am responding to last week's letters in the paper. I understand that everyone is mad because the big businesses got all the prizes and they were fussing because the churches and schools worked so hard on their floats. Well I happen to know for a fact that Hyster and Company worked many long hard hours on their sleigh. And I feel they worked just as hard as the church and schools did. And the way I feel is, that all people want to do is find something to fuss about and if people worked as hard on everything else as they do finding something to fuss about that the world just might be a better place to live. And if they are all so worried about the Berea parade and what's in it, why do they try to put floats from Rockcastle in it. And I'm sure if the floats from Rockcastle won in the Berea Parade, that I would be just wonderful with everyone. So why don't the people fussing about the parade and who wins, just try to make a better float and maybe they will win.

Thank you,
Renee Debord

Charting Rockcastle

By: Richard Anderkin
Managing Editor

Just as so many other people are doing in this issue in the Signal, we want to take time to thank our many readers and advertisers for making 1990 another successful year for our newspaper.

We are so thankful for the support we have always received from Rockcastle counties and we are looking forward to another good year.

We are always striving to put out the best possible weekly newspaper, but we know that we still lack in some areas, so if you've got any suggestions give us a call. Of course we will take constructive criticism only during the holidays.

If you have read or I should say attempted to read the letters to Santa in this week's issue you have no doubt figured out that we typeset the letters just as they were brought to us. Actually we did not have any choice since we could not read 250 first grader's minds.

Each school was very cooperative in getting students to write the letters and we appreciate it.

But, I have never understood why children are allowed to misspell words and massacre punctuation, the way they are.

I know that somewhere along the line the powers that be in the educational field decided that it was better if the children learned to spell by sound and in the computer lab it is more important at first to learn the computer skills than to spell the words right.

I just hope their thinking in this matter is correct and we are not raising a bunch of children that don't know how to spell.

I know that education reform in Kentucky was badly needed and most of the changes will be good for Kentucky school children.

I am wondering however, about the wisdom of school-based decision making. The idea behind it is great, schools should have the right to make their own decisions in most cases, but I know there is great potential for trouble when you start creating more school boards. And that is basically all it amounts to. If all of the schools in the county go to school-based decision making, there will in effect be six school boards as opposed to only one now.

School-based decision making has certainly worked well in some states, but it has also failed miserably in others. I hope it works out for the best, because the educational process in Rockcastle County is definitely improving and I would hate to see it slowed by school board wars.

I usually have very little to say about stories I have written in the newspaper, even when a few people tell others they have been misquoted, because I know myself and others in attendance know they have in fact not been misquoted.

But, many people involved with the mascot controversy at Mt. Vernon school have made and are still making statements that what they have said has been misrepresented. Their statements may have in fact been misrepresented, but it was not in this newspaper. I have always been very careful to quote folks correctly and, in a sensitive issue such as this one, I have been even more careful to get it just right.

I would suggest to those involved in the controversy to think before they speak and they won't have any problems. Anyone can stand up and make a rash statement and later decide in their own mind that is not what they said. But if it appeared under my byline, you can guarantee it was said and is correct.

There are several things that bother me about this whole situation, but the most disturbing thing is the fact that the group wanting the mascot changed has admitted that even if an accurate, complete survey comes back not in favor of a change, they will still not be satisfied. To me that is basically unreasonable.

I just hope whatever is done is done soon so more important things can be dealt with.

SCC off-campus classes at RCHS

The office for off-campus programs, Somerset Community College, announces the following classes to be offered for the spring of 1991. The classes will all be held at Rockcastle County High School except where otherwise noted. Class times will be from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Advanced keyboarding and word processing will be offered on Mondays and will be taught by Corrie Riddle. This course will focus on advanced keyboarding skills and will introduce the learner to beginning computer operation. Enrollment in this class is limited and will be taken on a first-come-first serve basis.

Microcomputer applications and development will introduce the student to basic computer software. Students may enroll in this class with no previous training in using the computer. The course is being taught by Kim Worley, systems manager at Somerset Community College on Tuesdays. The enrollment in this course is also limited. This course will be taught at the Rockcastle County Vocational School.

Principles of Economics I is being taught by Dr. Karim Khondker, of the SCC Economics department. This is the course that is required in many major fields of transfer. It is being taught on Wednesdays.

Writing II is being taught by Nancy Bussell on Wednesdays. Writing I is a prerequisite. Enrollment in this class is also limited and at press time only five slots remained in the class.

History of the United States since 1865 will be taught on Thursdays by Ronnie Cash.

Intermediate Algebra is taught on Monday by Donnie Robinson, principal of the Laurel County Vocational School. The course is accepted as the mathematics requirement in many associate degree programs, including nursing. Since most transfer majors require college algebra, it is strongly recommended that students first take this intermediate course.

General psychology will be taught by Marilyn Dameron on Mondays. Psychology is a requirement in virtually all programs -- both associate and baccalaureate.

Folk and Traditional music is being taught by James Badgett who is with the Lincoln County School System. The course will meet on Thursdays. This course focuses on a listening approach to music and fulfills the humanities requirement in all degree programs.

For further information on these courses, students may contact the Off-Campus Office, Somerset Community College, Phone - 606-679-8501 (Cont. to B10)

Touch waffle baker from Toastmaster makes a 4-section, plate-size waffle—enough for even the hungriest person.

Fresh fruit in season is another high energy alternative. Served alone or with plain yogurt or cream, fresh fruit is a quick and easy meal that won't weigh you down or load you up.

Your local market now offers a number of delicious, good-for-you cereals. In recent years, manufacturers have introduced literally hundreds of new, health-conscious cereals—like muesli, oat bran, and granola. An excellent source of fiber, many of the new cereals offer a significant portion of the U.S. recommended daily allowances (U.S. RDA) of nutrients.

Start your New Year with a healthy breakfast—you'll be surprised how good you feel.

Moderation essential to holiday weight maintenance

You don't have to take an extra 5 to 10 pounds into 1991 as a souvenir of the 1990 holidays. People can still enjoy traditional holiday foods without gaining too much weight. Moderation is the key. Use moderation in selection of foods, serving size, and time you spend at the table.

The following tips will help to reduce weight gain, while still enjoying holiday gatherings:

- 1) Avoid high-calorie hors d'oeuvres such as nuts, bourbon balls and sausage biscuits. Eat raw vegetables and fruits instead.

- 2) Remember that alcohol is high in calories. When combined with other high-calorie ingredients, such as in eggnog, it can add many extra calories. Substitute a non-alcoholic eggnog contains 342 calories; fruit punch, 137.

- 3) Eat a low-calories snack, such as low-fat yogurt or fruit, before a big meal to help control your appetite.

- 4) Take larger servings of vegetables and fruits, and reduce the serving size of rich foods, especially those with gravies and sauces.

- 5) Drink plenty of low-calorie beverages, such as low-fat milk or water, with the meal to help fill you up.

- 6) Eat slowly to make a single plate of food last throughout the meal.

- 7) If you still feel hungry, wait about 15 minutes and reconsider. It takes about 20 minutes for your stomach to tell your brain that you're full.

- 8) When everyone has finished eating, move to another room so leftover food won't be a temptation and can be removed from the table to ensure food safety.

If you make luscious, rich desserts for family and friends during the holiday season, use lower-calories recipes or modify traditional ones to reduce fat, sugar and calories. The following are tips for more healthful desserts:

- 1) Substitute low-calories and low-fat ingredients. Replace sour cream with buttermilk, or yogurt. Use a dab of light whipped cream instead of a mound of heavy whipped cream. Substitute low-fat, frozen yogurt or ice milk for ice cream.

- 2) Reduce calories by starting with 1/4th of a cup less sugar than the recipe calls for. Gradually reduce sugar until you've decreased it by one-third of the total amount in the recipe.

- 3) You can also reduce the amount of fat in a recipe in a similar fashion. Start with 1/4th less fat than the recipe calls for.

- 4) Make puddings with low-fat or skimmed milk and reduce the amount of sugar called for in the recipe.

- 5) Enhance the flavors of desserts with spices, rather than sugar or high-fat ingredients.

Make breakfast your New Year's vow

Our mothers were right: Breakfast is the most important meal of the day. "Breakfast" means literally "to break the fast" your body has endured since dinner the night before. And that means two cups of coffee and nothing else is not enough to get you going at the start of a busy day.

Why not make eating breakfast one of your New Year's resolutions? You'll feel better and you'll probably be more productive at work, too.

Following are some breakfast ideas that offer the high energy of complex carbohydrates without a high percentage of fat, which can slow you down.

- One delicious alternative is homemade waffles, topped with strawberries, jam, syrup, or just about anything else you can think of. Low in fat and high in carbohydrates, homemade waffles will give you energy all morning long. The new Cool
