Livingston Link

Staff, students and parents are excited about the 1992-93 school year. Livingston school will benefit from the help and support that parents, friends, teachers, central office staff, (the list is overwhelming), have given. The help was given and the excitement has grown. With the building in order we now shift our focus on our students. Livingston school is working hard to educate and provide an environment where each child will develop to his/her fullest potential. We believe that every child can learn and learn at higher levels. We also think that it is important that every person involved in a student's life work together. There are plans underway to develop a stronger educational partnership between the home and school. We invite and encourage you to become actively involved with your school.

We certainly want to welcome our new principal, Charles Carter. Mr. Carter is married to Janet Carter. Mrs. Carter teaches primary students at Mt. Vernon Elementary. Mr. Carter taught Physical Education to students at M.V.E.S. for 16 years. They have one daughter Allison, 4 years old. Mr. Carter has played a significant role in preparing our school to open. He firmly believes in everyone working together to benefit our children at Livingston Elementary.

Mrs. Carolyn Bryant has been involved with our school in the past, through the challenge program. This year she will join us full-time, as a junior high teacher. Mrs. Bryant lives in London with her husband, Richard and their two sons, Wade and Ryan. We feel fortunate to have Mrs. Bryant as part of our team. Mr. Bill Shackelford joins the staff this year as our new custodian. Mr. Shackelford lives in Livingston. Mr. Shackelford is very knowledgeable and we welcome him also. Carolyn Carpenter joins our staff as our new cook. Carolyn lives in Livingston with her husband, Calvin and their children Jessica and Coby. We appreciate the fine job our cooks do at Livingston and know that Carolyn will be a positive part of the tasks our cooks have ahead. You know they're famous for their homemade rolls! Our new lunchroom monitor is Beverly Jo Howard. Mrs. Howard lives in Livingston with her husband Denver. They have four children, Mary Ann McNew, Karen Alcom, Kim and Tammy. We welcome Mrs. Howard to our team at Livingston School.

Hysinger in Academy for Eminent Young Scholars

Lee Earl Hysinger, Jr. of Mt. Vernon is one of 292 specially selected junior high students nationwide participating in the eighth Joseph Baldwin Academy for Eminent Young Scholars at Northeast Missouri State University, Kirksville.

The Joseph Baldwin Academy is designed to enrich the learning process of young gifted and talented students by challenging them with a college curriculum. Students who have completed the seventh or eighth grade by June 1992, scored in the top three percent on a nationally normed achievement test and were nominated by their school's principal or counselor were eligible.

Lee was chosen from more than 2,000 nominees on the basis of his formal application, school transcripts, and score on an additional qualifying standardized examination.

"Letters to the Editor"

I live on a rock road just back of the Brush Creek Hillside Church. There wasn't any place to turn a car around to get one off the road. They graded the road but didn't make it any wider so at my own expense I had gravel and rock hauled and made a turning place here at my place at the end of the road then the county blacktopped and I asked them if they could blacktop the turning place but they said no, the mail man has to turn here and the rest of my neighbors. In the gravel back to my mail the children around about ride bicycles and motor cars and plays around my mail box since the road has been blacktopped. Now my mail is being misplaced and that's government business and could get someone in trouble.

Notice!

Rockcastle County Schools will officially open for students with a half-day session on Monday, August 24, 1992. Students will begin their first full day on Tuesday, August 25th.

Mission Statement

The mission of the Rockcastle County Schools is to develop students who have the knowledge and basic life skills to lead productive, fulfilling lives; therefore, we must create a positive, educational environment which requires a well-defined curriculum, appropriate facilities, and a total commitment from school personnel, students, parents and community.

"The 1992-93 school year promises to be an exciting and meaningful year for students. Teachers will be implementing innovative and stimulating techniques/strategies in our classrooms which will ensure that our students achieve the new and required performance standards."

The Rockcastle County Board of Education
Provides Equal Educational and Employment Opportunities

Rockcastle County Team members who attended the Institute are seated; Regina Little, Onna Kay Owens, Kelly Pensol, standing Molly Hamm and Kathryn Howard.

During the three-week session of the Academy, Lee will study in one of 14 intensive courses offered including Introduction to Political Science: The International Dimension or 20th Century Art. Each course is taught by a member of the NMSU faculty.

Through our Home/School committee we plan to seek out parent volunteers that could provide support for our students. If you are interested in becoming actively involved with L.E.S. please contact Deborah Cummins or Patricia Martin.

Remember that P1 (kindergarten) students will be attending school all day this year. Also that a physical and immunization certificate is required of all 6th grade students.

The Livingston P.T.O. will begin a membership drive next week. Incentives and rewards will be offered for those students in the class that has the most parental P.T.O. members. Remember also - you don't have to be a parent of a child in school in order to be involved with your community school.

"No one can do everything, but everyone can do something." Support our children, our future!

The Joseph Baldwin academy for Eminent Young Scholars was founded at Northeast Missouri State University to serve as a summer institute of academic preparation for gifted and talented young students nationwide. This mission complements the University's role as the statewide public liberal arts and sciences university for Missouri. Lee is the son of the late Lee Earl Hyinger Sr. and Mary Jane Hyinger. He will be in the 10 grade level.

den's parents attend school with them, Monday morning the 24, to provide pertinent information for the child.

The kindergarten classes will all be attending afternoon sessions this year. Starting Tuesday, August 25, kindergarten students will begin their assigned bus schedule. If you have questions regarding your child's bus schedule, direct your questions to Mrs. Onna Owens, assistant principal by calling 758-8512 or 758-8515.

Our Food Services Program will begin Tuesday, August 25. Breakfast will be served from 7:45 - 8. Meal prices remain the same as last year. Twenty day lunch tickets may be purchased for $16.

New staff members to be welcomed are Vicki Scott, who transferred from RES, and will be teaching grades 4 and 5; Ms. Sandy Lear, librarian; Mrs. Mary Whitlock, music teacher; Mrs. Joy Todd, cafeteria cashier; Mrs. Judy Adams, nurse assistant; Paul Hale, custodian, and Mrs. Francis Johns, speech pathologist. Mrs. Mary Gregory who has worked with our students for years will serve at Roundstone and Livingston. We will miss you Mrs. Mary and Good Luck!!! Thanks for your years of service to the children of BES.

Thanks to Jackie Lawrence and Bill Melcher, our building is looking great. We would also like to thank the JTPA workers who helped. Those workers were: Jason Adams, Jimmy Hall, Jennifer Singleton, Randi Saylor, Paula Delph, Chrystal Bradley and Chris Sagraves.

The Alumni Memorial Garden which is under construction will be an attractive asset to our school. We will let you know when the project is completed.

The SBDM Council meets the first Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. Mark McKinney, chairman, invites your participation.

The PTA meets monthly the second Thursday evening at 7 p.m. If you are not an active member, we encourage you to join and become a voice in your child's school.

Please continue to support your child by encouraging good attendance often tardiness is taken lightly, but remember, your child may be missing an important core subject by being late to school.

School will be dismissed, Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 7.

SCC expects record enrollment for fourth consecutive year

Will enrollment at Somerset Community College reach 3,000 students this fall?

President Rollin J. Watson told faculty at the year's first faculty meeting Aug. 13 that another record enrollment is certain.

"Our enrollment goal for this fall semester was to have at least 2,800 students - more than twice the number at SCC when I came here as president three and a half years ago. Now it appears that our enrollment may be near 3,000 students. Somerset Community College continues to be the leader of the University of Kentucky Community College system in growth."

Dr. Watson told the faculty that they deserve much credit for their dedication and their willingness to work hard in difficult economic times.

It would be one thing to serve much larger numbers of students in a time when the university and our college had plenty of money," he said. "It is a real credit to the people who work here, that we are serving much larger numbers of students despite funding limitations. Somerset Community College is a real bargain for the state of Kentucky."

Part of the enrollment growth, Dr. Watson continued, is a result of hard economic times. "The community college system has always been a bargain for students," he said. "It was planned that way -- to offer education at low tuition for students who could commute to a college in their own region. Now, more than ever, people are seeking the best value for their dollars, and our college provides high quality at very low costs."

"Another reason for our growth is that, in general, the need for higher education is more widely recognized now than in the past."

"But other colleges in Kentucky are not growing at rates even close to Somerset Community College," President Watson emphasized. "Our college is growing because our employees have responded to the needs of the time with better planning, better organization, better teamwork, and the willingness to work hard to serve students."

Since President Watson came to SCC in January, 1989, a doubling of enrollment has occurred with less than 20 percent increase in employees. Approximately 25 new persons have been employed, but nearly half of these were replacements for retirees.

"We have been very fortunate," Dr. Watson said, "in attracting talented teachers and administrators who have been selected to complement and support the talented people who were already here. Some of our new employees brought knowledge and skills that were not critically needed in the past, but are essential with today's much higher requirements for colleges."

Three administrative areas of the college are now under leadership of Dean-level educators who each have more than 25 years of experience in education at other institutions and agencies - academic affairs, Tony Collins, student affairs, Charles Hansel, and institutional development.

ment, Stewart Phillips.

"These are people who have reinforced our other outstanding teachers and administrators, to make it easier for all of us to do a better job," Dr. Watson said. He also cited the directors of two new SCC centers, at Laurel County, Donald Johnson, and at McCreary County, Peg Taylor. Citizens in these two counties have begun fund-raising efforts to support the college, and Laurel County citizens have collected $35,000 in the past six weeks toward a goal of $200,000 for support of SCC in 1992.

"There are other examples throughout our college," the SCC president concluded, "of talented faculty and staff who are working together to do more and accomplish more than most colleges believe possible. Our improved planning, organization and effort have made SCC more efficient. This is the main reason that SCC has doubled its enrollment in a very short time."

CARD OF THANKS

The Pine Hill Pentecostal Holiness Church Youth Group, would like to thank everyone who helped make our car wash a success. We especially thank the following for sponsoring us and for their donations. Hat's 5 & 10, Hammond Interior Design, Thrifty Lumber Company, Pizza Hut, Dr. Lee Cain, Cox's Florist, Mt. Vernon Foodtown, Charles Clark Construction, Citizen's Bank of Brodhead, Dowell & Martin Funeral Home, Heavenly Treasurer's, Renfro Valley Country Store, Sparks Flower Shop, Willis Coffey's Office and Appliance Service Center.
We would also like to thank everyone for helping us with our bake sale and special thanks to the Bank of Mt. Vernon for their donation.

Since thanks to all our neighbors, friends, Providence Church members, and relatives for their concern, help, prayers, food, visits, cards, flowers and calls while I was in Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington and the Humana Hospital in Somerset for therapy.

Since returning home to recuperate, I enjoy the visits, calls, and all the delicious "goodies" that are given me.

May God bless each of you for your generosity, thoughtfulness, and helpfulness. It is appreciated so very much.
Thanks, H. Phillip Davis

The family of Herbert Lear would like to publicly express its heartfelt gratitude to all friends and relatives for their many acts of kindness in the death of our loved one.

We also with to thank two Good Samaritans, Chester Azbill and Chester Pitts, who stopped on the road to give emergency aid, Dr. Patrick Kelleher and the intensive care staff at Berea Hospital, Rev. Wayne and Thelma Harding, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Offutt, and Rev. Jim Reber.
May God bless all of you.

In Loving Memory of my beloved sister, Evelyn Fletcher, who passed away one year ago, Aug. 13.

May I Go?

May I go now?
Do you think the time is right?
May I say good-bye to pain filled days and endless lonely nights?
I've lived my life and done my best, an example tried to be.
So can I take that step beyond and set my spirit free?
I didn't want to go at first. I fought with all my might. But something seems to draw me now to a warm and loving light. I want to go. I really do. It's difficult to stay. But I will try as best I can to live just one more day. To give you time to care for me, and share your love and fears. I know you're sad and are afraid,

"Taste of Texas" opens

Alex and Denise Sargent Garza

As you drive along Leighway Drive on the Eastern by-pass, in Richmond, you may have noticed the enticing aroma of mesquite barbecue coming from the former Dairy Queen building. The Taste of Texas has recently opened in this location. Owned by Alex Garza and his wife Denise their new restaurant features a wide variety of items. Special Texas style barbecue, Mexican food and more traditional hamburgers are available. The couple met while both were serving in the United States Air Force. Denise is originally from the Brodhead area of Rockcastle County. Alex is a true Texan and credits his love of cooking to his heritage and his Mexican-Indian grandfather. The Garzas selected Richmond for the location of their restaurant as a fine community and a good place to raise their daughter, Stephanie. They also credit Glen Adams for help in selecting their location.

The unique mesquite taste is obtained by preparing the meats in an Old Hickory Smoker. Chicken, beef and pork are smoked daily on the premises. Traditional Mexican entrees are also featured along with non-alcoholic colodas. "Taste of Texas Mexican food is not spicy," explains Alex. "But it can be added to meet the individual tastes."
Alex's food service career includes working in one of Houston Texas finest private clubs of which George Bush was a member. He also managed several Mexican restaurants.
The Taste of Texas is open from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. everyday. They employ seventeen full and part-time people. A grand opening is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 20 from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. Future menu items will include smoked fish and turkey. "Cooking is my hobby," says Alex. "And we would like to invite everyone down for what we feel is the true taste of Texas."

Bud Cox, Billy Dowell and others look over the damage to Fain's Video Alley which was completely destroyed by fire early Sunday morning.

Fire destroys Fain's video store

By: Richard Anderkin

An early Sunday morning fire completely destroyed the building that houses Video Alley.

Mt. Vernon volunteer firefighters were called to the scene of the West Main Street fire around 4:50 a.m., after city police officer Larry Thompson spotted the fire. Thompson found the fire after the burglar alarm went off, according to assistant fire chief Bud Cox.

Cox said when firefighters arrived fire had already spread to both floors of the building, but was burning worse in the right rear of the building.

Gary Fain, son of Oscar and Helen Fain, who own Video Alley, said that everything inside the building was a total loss, but that he did manage to get the receipts out of the building on the Saturday night rentals.

"The fire was mostly in the back when I got here so I grabbed the receipts from the counter in the front of the building, but that is all I could get, because the smoke and heat was already very bad in the front of building," Fain said.

After going through the receipts, Fain said that there were still over 2,500 tapes in the building, all of which were lost.

Video Alley is located next door to the Fain Furniture store, which was not damaged very extensively. Cox said the adjacent building suffered only slight smoke damage to the exterior.

Oscar Fain said that he would like for everyone with movies rented from Video Alley to return them to Fain Furniture, at the time they are due.

Shooting

A Mt. Vernon man was arrested Monday night and charged with assault in the first degree after he shot another local man.

According to Mt. Vernon police chief Bill Mink, Dennis Payne, 38, of Mt. Vernon is charged with shooting Gary Denney, 30, of Piney Ridge Road with a handgun at around 10:30 p.m. Monday in the parking lot of Thrif D Drugstore on Richmond Street in Mt. Vernon.

According to police reports, Payne shot Denney once in the lower stomach with a .22 caliber revolver. Denney was taken to the Rockcastle Hospital and later transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center by helicopter.

Denney is listed in satisfactory condition at U.K. Payne, who is being held on a $50,000 bond in the Rockcastle County Jail, will be arraigned next Wednesday in Rockcastle District Court. Chief Mink said the shooting was apparently the result of a earlier dispute between the two men.

Woman indicted in child's death

By: Richard Anderkin

Cody Allen Leger, 2 1/2 years old, died 16 months ago. His mother was arrested and charged with his murder Monday afternoon.

According to an indictment released by the Rockcastle County Grand Jury Friday, Alfreda Lynn Abney, 28, of Mt. Vernon is charged with intentionally scalding her son to death. According to officer Eddie Delaney, Mt. Vernon police and the Kentucky Attorney General's office conducted a sixteen month investigation into the death.

Fayette County deputy coroner Charles Howell who would not release a cause of death on the child during the investigation, only to say it was suspicious, could not be reached for comment. Howell did say "at the time of the death, that the state medical examiner said bleach could not have caused the first and second degree burns that were found on Leger's body."

According to police records, Cody died at the University of Kentucky Medical Center on Saturday, April 5, 1991. The handicapped child had been taken to U.K. after he was found alone and badly burned in his mother's apartment. At the time of the death Alfreda Abney told police that she had been doing laundry and apparently left some bleach in her apartment in a place where her infant child could get to it. When Abney got back to her apartment, neighbors were washing the child off in the basin.

Abney will be arraigned in Rockcastle Circuit Court on August 28th. She is presently being held in the Laurel County jail under of a $50,000 cash or property bond.

Rogers here on Monday

United States Congressman Harold Rogers will be in Rockcastle County Monday August 24, at 10 a.m. for a town meeting. Rogers, who is seeking his seventh term in the House or Representatives, will hold his meeting at the Rockcastle courthouse.

Before the 10 a.m. town meeting Rogers will host a breakfast at the Kastle Inn Restaurant in Burr.

Wrecks

Roger Sturgill, 33, of Mt. Vernon escaped injury last Thursday when the truck he was driving overturned on Rose Hill Road.

He told Police Chief Bill Mink he was driving a dump truck owned by Daugherty Construction Company when it stalled on a hill and started rolling backward. He steered the truck toward an embankment and jumped out. The truck struck the embankment and overturned. Three gallons of gas leaked. Mt. Vernon Fire Department was called to the scene to wash the highway.

Dale Alvin Bradley, 41, of Mt. Vernon told policeman Mink he was forced off U.S. 25 near Superst Service Station last Thursday and struck an embankment.

He was hospitalized but has since been dismissed.

A wreck on I-75 six miles of Mt. Vernon Monday injured Norman Glasgow, 24, of Greenville, S. Car., and his passengers, Tammy Glasgow, 22, and Martha Sanders.

Glasgow apparently fell asleep, ran off the road, over-compensated, hit an embankment and overturned.

They were treated and released at Rockcastle Hospital. State Trooper Craig Sutton investigated.

County judge explains industrial plans

The fiscal court, the county industrial authority, city officials and other leaders are making a concerted effort to move the county to a higher level of competitive compliance, according to John Clontz, chairman of the Rockcastle County Industrial Authority.

Seven of the top fourteen factors considered in choosing an industrial location, according to surveys conducted by Area Development Magazine are as follows: highway accessibility, labor, energy, construction costs, state and local incentives, low crime rate, and rating of public schools. Rockcastle County fares well on these indices. "Having a green field available to industrial prospects is not enough in the current competitive climate," Clontz reported.

The fiscal court has approved a three-point approach toward this end: (1) a comprehensive industrial site plan has been completed for the undeveloped industrial land along U.S. 150. A marketing strategy has been completed for the same site; (2) a proposal to the Kentucky Economic Development Cabinet for funds was approved by the court at the August meeting. These funds will allow for the construction of roadways, water lines, sewer lines, and storm drains. Total Funds -- EDA grant 60 percent, ARC grant 20 percent, -- state loans 20 percent will amount to approximately $540,000.

The third part of the court endeavor involves a joint effort with the Industrial Authority. It will include an appreciation dinner for the existing Rockcastle County industries. According to Judge/Executive Roland Mullins, "a concerted effort to recruit new industry is important, but just as crucial is retention and development of existing employees." Funding information, training programs, and infrastructure upgrading will be priority items for the existing industries.

City Council ponders ways to get money

By: Ray McClure

How to remedy a badly bent bank account, so to speak, was the focus of a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

A payroll tax was discussed and more discussion is in the offing before it's all settled.

Two remedies were suggested. One was a tax on insurance premiums. That proved to be a "no" since it would affect the elderly on a fixed income.

Clark "Joe" Mullins, who is on a committee to look for a solution, said his best figures came from the state and showed a one percent payroll tax would generate about $282,000.

But the council questioned whether the figures on employment given him were correct.

On a motion by Robert Bailey for officials to talk with the state and others to make sure figures were correct, the council vote was unanimous.

Lee Keene made a motion that a payroll tax ordinance be drawn up with the amount of tax left blank to be voted on at the September meeting. The vote was unanimous.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer told the council some kind of explanation of the city's financial difficulty be drawn up and placed as an advertisement, and paid for, in the Mt. Vernon Signal, saying that way "we'll get it right."

When the meeting was called to order, the mayor told the council he was appointed mayor in 1987 and found a deficiency of $42,000.

"I inherited this from a previous administration," he said.

The administration prior to Cromer's was that of Mrs. Elizabeth Baker who was chosen to replace County Judge/Executive Roland Mullins. Mrs. Baker later resigned and Cromer was chosen.

The mayor said the city has almost paid off the $42,000 deficiency with only $10,000 now left on the debt. He said the city would be in the black if Renfro Valley Folks had paid their entertainment/ticket tax which they have chosen to challenge in court.

The 1992-93 city budget shows estimated revenue at $237,962 with the same amount for appropriations. Of that amount police will get $188,155 general government, $44,807 and the fire department, $5,000.

Sturgill guilty of forgery

By: Richard Anderkin

A Livingston man pleaded guilty last week in United States District Court in Lexington to a charge of passing a treasury check written to another Livingston man.

Michael D. Sturgill, 23, of Livingston, entered a guilty plea to cashing a United States Treasury Check that was actually written to James L. Taylor, also of Livingston.

According to Ray Carmichael, Assistant United States Attorney who is prosecuting the case, Sturgill took the social security check from Taylor's mailbox and cashed it at one of the local banks. When sentenced Sturgill could receive 10 years in prison and be fined $250,000.

County judge explains industrial plans

At a recent meeting in Frankfort with Lt. Gov. Paul Patton, Patton explained the state program for economic development to several local officials.

He pointed out that certain funds would be available to the county if we were declared a coal producing county. Even though coal output has been very small, the county now qualifies. Further, he explained tax incentives that are available to industries willing to expand or to locate in Kentucky.

Finally, Lt. Governor Patton committed the staff of the Kentucky Cabinet for Economic Development to refer prospective clients to Rockcastle that might be interested in relocating.

Banner should stick to "truth in advertising"

Charting Rockcastle

By Richard Anderkin

Something possessed me the other day to pick up the latest copy of The Banner. I had only looked at the publication a couple of times, in the past. Both times I was waiting for a pound of bologna or some other lunch meat from B & R Grocery's meat case.

I rarely pay attention to other competitor's publications. I had paid even less to the Banner's contents because there simply was nothing in it that could keep my attention.

But, as I read over the latest issue of the Banner, I was beginning to see red, which I first attributed to the red color on the outside of the publication, but as I scanned each page a little closer, I realized that the red was just my temper.

For many years a lot of advertising representatives have had the reputation of telling business people anything to sell an ad. Many times those accusations were unfair, because I know many, many advertising people who tell it like it is, whether it is what the advertiser wants to hear or not. And then of course there are those that will say absolutely anything or in this case, print anything.

On page one across the top in big bold letters, it reads, "Reaching Over 15,000 Readers," that is proof enough that paper will let you write anything on it.

The last column I had the Banner, which is published by Larry Burdette, operator of WRVK, was printing about 5,000 copies and distributing them by laying them around in stores in a two or three county area. If 15,000 copies are being read, then all 5,000 printed are picked up and read by three people. We all know that is the case, at least at B & R, Willa Grocery, Carter's and S. W. Miller they don't all get picked up.

I know many readers will think this is just sour grapes on my part and you can think whatever you want, but fact is the entire publication is filled with untruths. The biggest one appears on pages 2, 8 and 10. In three different places it is printed that Banner reaches more local homes than any other publication. What a joke.

First of all, the Signal is a paid circulation newspaper, the only publication in the county that is. We print 5,400 copies each week. Of those 5,400 copies about 1,000 are sent to our friends out of state. The rest stay in Rockcastle and surrounding counties, about 4,200 are distributed and paid for by Rockcastle Counties each week. While we do not reach every household in the county each and every week, we do hit them all except about 800. That my friends is a far cry better than the Banner's circulation. As a matter of fact, the Banner is probably no higher than fourth in circulation or readership among newspapers or shoppers that are distributed in this county.

New York millionaire, Roy Park's Rockcastle Neighbor, which is produced by The Somerset Commonwealth Journal is mailed to just about every Rockcastle home, that of course doesn't mean it is read by all of them. I'm sure it is not, because three weeks ago, the Neighbor had no local classifieds in it and usually doesn't have over 10 on any given week. Also if 2,000 Neighbors are delivered to the boxes in the county's three largest post offices then at least 1,000 of them are thrown in the trash.

Advo, that is the pile of grocery inserts that come to you inside Kro-ger's insert. Many of those are trashed as well.

We all have competition, whether you sell groceries, gas, furniture, clothes, crafts or certificates of deposit and when one of your competitors makes misleading statements or goes as far as even put them in print, you should be upset as well. All I ever want is a level playing field and if you don't correct false statements such as those about paid circulation, then people may actually start to believe them.

Of course when they finally realize they haven't got any results they'll know someone has misled them.

Of course the statement about 15,000 readers may not be totally false, it doesn't say anything about a time frame. Maybe they are counting a combined total for the time since they started publishing.

Maybe the federal government should start regulating truth in advertising, they've got their hand in everything else. *****

Until next week. There is usually a silver lining in all clouds. For example, the city of Mt. Vernon's nuisance, which they called a safety officer, has been laid off because of financial woes, that means he won't be able to harass people anymore.

Pendulum may swing in '92 election

Commentary

By George Ferrell

The political season is now in full swing with the GOP convention this week.

Ronald Reagan and Jack Kemp roused the crowds Monday night and a lot of Clinton bashing went on as the convention delegates rallied around President Bush and Vice President Dan Quayle.

The media kept citing polls, this poll on Reagan democrats, that poll on the voters desire for change and various other polls aimed at gauging the electorate.

I have always had a great distrust for polls.

For one thing, I think it may alienate some voters from voting, particularly if their candidates do not do well in the polls.

Also, I think some candidates play too much to the polls and not enough to the issues.

Sure, Bush is back by about 20 percentage points or so, but then this is not election day either.

We've got over two full months, September and October, before the General Election rolls around that first Tuesday in November.

I've been watching politics since I was knee high to a grasshopper and a couple of things seem to stand out about this one.

Clinton and Gore are a "southern" ticket for the democrats. What this means is that there will be at least some examination of the Carter presidency by the GOP.

One other side note is the Bush campaign of 1988 — "read my lips, no new taxes."

This has left Bush without a strong card to play on the tax issue. Also, he cannot say that he has accomplished much in the area of reducing the deficit.

One thing this could mean is that our next presidential term will see some direction toward easing deficits by raising revenue.

The federal deficit is enormous and looms before us as one of the most destructive financial forces since the Great Depression.

I have always played my politics toward reducing the deficits and having a balanced budget.

But I imagine we won't hear much about that this election year — the deficit, standing at 300 plus billion for this fiscal year and several trillion overall, will stand to just get worse for the foreseeable future.

I can remember reading an issue of Life magazine from the 1950s and there was an examination of national politics, including an analysis of Eisenhower's budget deficit which had been proposed in the area of six to eight billion.

If the elected leaders of this nation cannot get a better grip we'll likely be looking at annual deficits of six to eight hundred billion during the next term. That's a major drift in the course of some 40 or so years.

What will make the political quagmire change direction? For one thing, probably not Congress.

Most members of the U.S. House of Representatives probably want to reduce the deficit.

That won't happen because they all need to come across with various projects, grants, job programs and other goodies for their constituents. It comes up every two years — the voters decide what a congressman has done for them lately.

There is only one thing that can please everyone, including the politicians, and make a dent in the federal deficit.

That, my friends, is economic growth on a level such as many have never seen before.

Economic growth creates jobs, decreases unemployment, creates tax revenues, creates investment, stimulates the economy and manufacturing, and makes jobs for the poor.

I'd guess that what is needed is something similar to World War II type growth in this country.

It's possible that this could happen. With the end of the Cold War and a global economy, American business, both large and small, could benefit from the expansion of global markets.

However, the "peace dividend" talked about by some analysts probably does not exist.

"Come one, Come all, to the family reunion
With mother and daddy so sweet
Come one, come all, to the family reunion
It might be the last time we'll meet"

That's the chorus to a song by The Stanley Brothers who probably did more to instill Bluegrass Music as an anthem for the Kentucky Mountains as the King, himself. And I'm not talking about Elvis. Bill Monroe is the King of anything related to music as far as I'm concerned. But the Stanley Brothers have probably sold about five times as many records as old Bill in the hills.

And at the Adams, Thompson & Blair annual family reunion, which has only been going for less than a dozen years now, it's a safe bet that 300 of the 400 people who signed in this year can sing along with just about anything the Stanley Brothers ever recorded. And the 400 who didn't sign in just came to hear the music. All of them can sing along. It's the most genuine musical event that I've ever attended. It's the way that I

Pendulum may swing in General Election

himself from the off-cited Carter administration.

In college I had an American History class and the professor spent some time giving us his analysis of U.S. history.

He said that the country in policy and presidential matters, is much like a pendulum. It swings one way and then it swings back.

Just going back to 1932 when Roosevelt swung the pendulum back from Hoover's policies, there have been several major periods.

We moved back from FDR to the right when Eisenhower was elected, then back again during the time of JFK and LBJ.

Nixon swung back toward the right in some respects and Carter turned that tide.

We've now had 12 years of Conservative Republican policy. The voters decide whether the pendulum will swing left or continue swinging right.

Just where the clock's hands are sitting I do not care to venture.

This November will see the playing out of that pendulum and whether the voters want more of the same or whether they want a new but somewhat uncertain future.

That's all for this week. I'll be watching the developments and keeping my ears open in the coffee shop for any shifting of the sands.

"City Council"

The mayor pointed out there have been major changes and cost cutting by the city. He noted costs have been cut to the bone and can't be cut further.

Not many attended the hearing and those that did, did not have much to say or many suggestions to make, except motel owner Wayne Gregory who discussed the payroll tax with the council.

chure prepared by the fiscal court," Miller said.

A review of the funding programs promoted by Patton reveal that state loans, revenue bonds, special revenue bonds for distressed counties, Community Development Authority Block Grants, Farmers Home Loans, Economic Development Administration loans, venture capital loans, equity investments, tax increment financing, state loans for small business, Small Business Administration loans, contract loans, Appalachian Grants, local government loans, craft item producers state loans, and Kentucky Rural Economic Development Authority loans are available.

Details on these funding mechanisms can be obtained at the office of the County Judge/Executive. Anyone interested in manufacturing can apply.

The answer to our need for industries is to "grow our own," say Mullins.

wish we could show the whole darn world.

George Bush and all these other millionaire politicians keep talking about family values and family this and family that and they don't have the slightest idea of what they're talking about. Not even a clue. Family values to people like that mostly means figuring out how much money a cousin has so that you can then figure out how much he or she is worth to the family. And the more you got, the more you are valued by the family.

People like George Bush and Bill Clinton ought to be required by law to go to the Adams, Thompson and Blair Reunion, which starts on Thursday night and ends when everybody is gone some time after dark on Sunday. They ought to have to go and they should also be required by law to keep their mouths shut while they're there. They ought to have to listen to and watch us for a few days.

Because they'd learn a few things that they need to know. They'd see four or five generations of the same families, families who have known each other and married into each other and worked with each other for well over a century. They'd find out what family love and family values are all about and they would be amazed that money is not included in the equation. They'd discover that you don't have to be a Democrat to be a member of the family or that you have to be a Republican. But you do have to vote and it's a personal matter.

They'd find out that you try to hug or shake hands with everybody who shows up because everytime you do it makes your heart swell a little bit and makes you feel glad all over. Love is what it all boils down to. It's the most intense, most productive, most important of all our emotions and I fear that when politicians speak of it they don't know what they're talking about. They confuse passion with real love.

Real love is seeing second cousin Clyde Adams and knowing that you know him except you haven't seen him in 20 years -- and when he asks you to tell him who he is to you, you call him a Blair. Adamses are not flattered when you call them Blairs. Blairs are duly insulted if you hint that they look like Adams.

But darn it, Clyde is bald headed and I'd bet ten dollars that there are five bald headed Blairs for every bald headed Adams. Not only that, but Clyde married a Blair and she is a lot prettier than he is. So I said to Cousin Clyde that he was a Blair. I was about to say Clyde when he said Adams and scowled at me.

I went ahead and yelled Clyde and the memories of nights when I was in my teens almost bowled me over. Of the house he and wife, Loretta, had on Little Blair Branch, (one of only 2 suburbs of regular Blair branch) and of listening to Steve Craft sing everything the Stanley Brothers had ever recorded in their kitchen on Saturday night.

On top of a mountain so high that you can look down and see hundreds of miles of lower ridges "running like humpbacked dinosaurs" to quote a poem by Terry Cornett. On top of that mountain at the very head of Still House Branch, (the other suburb), the Adamses and Blairs and Thompsons all get together at the end of the first week in August. And they celebrate the love they have had for one another these last hundred and fifty years and they rejoice in the love that just keeps growing.

Den Arthur Adams who is also part Blair and Thompson but wound up

Adams because his Dad gave it to him, lives in Paulding, Ohio but he grew up on Blair Branch. He spends his weekends and his money organizing the event and he talks members of all three families who still live on the holler into helping him out. In the process he offers to all of America, a perfect example of what family love is all about and why it is so important.

I hope that he teaches some of the rest of us how to keep this reunion going. And I wish that George Bush and Bill Clinton understood how important that is to our country. But I'm not holding my breath.

Burglary

There was an attempted burglary at B.P. Gas Station at Burr Sunday night.

Intruders cut the telephone line and broke lights out before being seen.

They did not gain entrance to the station.

A total of 96 marijuana plants were found and destroyed last week at Sand Hill.

They were from 4 to 6 feet tall. State Trooper Craig Sutton, Sheriff Shirley Smith and Darrell Doan found the plants.

Late Death

Earl Shelton, 76, Rt. 1, Orlando, died Wednesday at his home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete at Dowell and Martin Funeral Home.

Break-in

A house in the CliffRock area of the county belonging to George Walters was stripped of 500 feet of copper wire and 64 feet of number 3 wiring recently.

Entrance to the house he was repairing and upgrading for vacations was gained through a side door. Deputy Sheriff Darrell Doan investigated the theft.

Apply Aug. 17-31 for Knox Deer hunts at Fort Knox

Applications for the gun deer hunt and bow deer hunt at Fort Knox will be accepted Aug. 17-31. For complete hunt information and application forms, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Hunt Control, DEH, Fish & Wildlife Section, ATTN: ATZK-EHE.

Fort Knox, KY 40121-5000.

Applications and information may also be picked up at the Fort Knox Hunt Control Office, Building 112, 11th Avenue and Bintner St.

Separate applications for gun and bow hunt are required, and hunt applicants are selected by computerized random drawing. Mailed applications postmarked before Aug. 17 or after Aug. 31 will not be considered for the drawing.

Every non-military hunter age 45 and under must have a hunter education card from a recognized, state-sponsored hunter education program. A hunter education card is also required for all military-category hunters, regardless of age.

The fee for non-military and for all military hunters not on active duty is $18. Checks or money orders must accompany mailed-in application forms.

The military hunter category covers active-retired/Reserve Component military, current and retired Fort Knox civilian employees, and family members of these groups. All others are non-military category hunters.

Aug. 31 deadline to apply for quota deer hunts by KDFWR

Hunters interested in applying for quota deer hunts on wildlife management areas operated by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) must have their application postmarked by August 31 to be eligible for WMA hunt drawings.

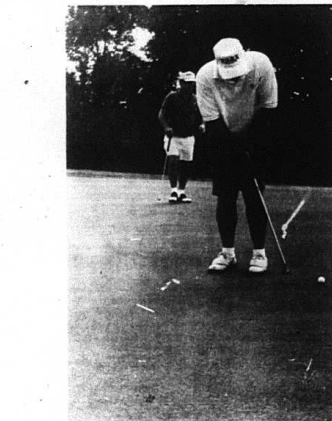

New this year, all applications must be accompanied by a certified check or money order in the amount of $3, which is used to offset the costs of processing applications. Random computer drawings will be conducted for 20 different hunts to be held on 14 different areas throughout the state. Hunters may apply once and only for one hunt. Hunters under 16 as of hunt day may apply to one youth hunt and one conventional quota hunt. For more information or to receive an application, contact the KDFWR Information division at (502) 564-4336.

Jim Clontz finished second in the championship flight at CRCC last Sunday.

Keith Kincer tied for first with Doug Mullins in the first flight at CRCC. Jennings Krahenbuhl of London won the second flight.

Deer permits and licenses available at state fair

All persons interested in wildlife should make it a point to visit the fish and wildlife department's display in the East Wing of the Fair and Exposition Center during the 1992 Kentucky State Fair August 20-30. This year's booth will feature information about the return of black bears in Kentucky, as well as highlight other types of wildlife found in the Bluegrass state. Sportsmen will be able to purchase hunting and fishing licenses of all types, including deer permits for the upcoming 1992-93 season. Additionally, a variety of printed information about Kentucky's wildlife resources will be available. Free of charge, including limited copies of the 1992-93 Kentucky A Field Magazine outdoor calendar issue.

Energy thieves steal from you, too

Electricity theft is a crime. It doesn't happen often. But when it does, it drives up prices for other customers, who eventually must make up the loss.

When caught, the thief must pay for the estimated stolen energy, plus the cost of investigation and correction. He may also be fined, imprisoned, or both.

But beyond that, electricity theft is also dangerous. It can create safety hazards that could result in serious injuries to innocent people from fire or shock. The thief's family and neighbors, firefighters and utility employees are among those at risk.

Our employees are trained to spot theft cases. Computer analysis of billing records can raise a question. And we follow up on anonymous tips.

If you know of someone stealing electricity, please report it. We'll keep it confidential, and you'll be doing yourself—and other honest customers—a favor.

Youth

The August 9th meeting at the First Baptist Church was one I will long remember. It strengthened my belief in the youth of today. Undoubtedly we have some of the finest young people I have ever had the opportunity to be around. Rockcastle County can be justly proud of the product the schools and churches are turning out. And I say again, churches, it is not only the First Baptist Church that has encouraged its young people to take an active and productive role in today's world where crime seems to be the main attraction to the very ones who will be the leaders of tomorrow. It just so happened that I was at the First Baptist because of a program that involved Chad Abney and Jason Wilson. As everyone knows by now, Chad is my grandson, so wherever he is performing one will find me close by.

Chad and Jason have recently returned from a mission to Brazil. They were chosen to go by the Kentucky Baptist Student Work Department. Their team was made up of six college students from various colleges, chosen for their harmony in singing and records of a clean and Christian life. The program on the night I spoke about was a report of their activities in Brazil. What I saw knows by now, men standing before an audience, their faces glowing with peace that comes from sacrifice of time that could have been spent at home or having fun with school friends. I knew I was seeing a brighter future taking place in my presence.

They told about singing and speaking to crowded churches where there wasn't even standing room. And how the people looked them straight in the eye the whole time they were singing or speaking. Jason said it gave him the courage to know every eye was on him. They told of handing out leaflets on the streets and in the malls and watching the people read every one of them then respected them by appearing at the service that night. Chad told of seeing so many clothes hanging out to dry in the poorer section of town he asked why and was told it was the only way the women in that section of town had a way to make a living. They would go into town and ask to do the laundry of those able to have it done, then take it home with them to wash and since there were not many dryers available they would hang them on any available space they could find to dry. Each of their spoke of the love they found amongst the citizens, especially the middle and low income ones. Their talk was more of the people than of the beautiful scenery there. They enjoyed the experience so much each of them have expressed the desire to go back.

Christy Fletcher is another one who gave up her summer time to go on to Oklahoma that night. This was in the northwest of our own country. I haven't heard her report but I am sure she will be giving the same kind. There was still another group of young people from this church that went to Oklahoma to work with youth camps. Now there are other young people who are not going to foreign fields or to far away places in our own country but they are contributing their talents to those who watch their daily lives. There are many names that come to mind but since I don't know them all I won't be guilty of leaving some out by mentioning those I do know. That is, except the ones I spoke of going to the mission fields.

We have young people who do not belong to any church but who are doing great things in their own communities. They are showing leadership ability by being good farmers, using the modern methods of farming and proving there is a better way of doing things. We have young men and women starting their own business and are succeeding by being honest and showing they care for their customers' welfare. And there are those who believe in marriage and raising their family by the old standards of honesty and hard work. Some of our young people have joined the services where they are proving to the world they believe in freedom and are willing to sacrifice their first years of maturity to prepare to protect this freedom. Some of our sons and daughters are going into the medical and mental health fields, not only for the money, but for the good they can do for a nation overburdened with the lack of medical care. By not standing up for what we know is right, we, the older generation, have allowed our country to become a cesspool of graft and greediness that is devouring the country we profess to love. This is what we are handing over to these young leaders of tomorrow to solve.

I am quite sure from what I witnessed the other night, these young people that the schools and churches are encouraging will take their rightful place in a troubled world and will do the job well. I would like to think there will be a telephone line from this world to the next one fifty years from now so I can hear Chad say, "Look, Grandma, at what we have done to clean up the mess you all left for us."

Kathy Kluesener named employee of the quarter

Kathy Kluesener of Lancaster has been named Employee of the Quarter by the Christian Appalachian Project.

As volunteer coordinator, Kathy is responsible for admissions procedure, Partners with CAP, screening applicants, and the placement of volunteers in programs.

Kathy first came to CAP as a summer volunteer in 1972, when she worked at summer camp at Cliff View Lodge on Lake Herrington. She returned as a volunteer in succeeding years until 1980, when she became a full time employee working in the Sunshine Center and the volunteer program.

She is married to Tony, who works at Matthews in Danville, and has four children: Louis, 10, Erin, 9, Maureen, 7, and Patrick, 4. Both are active members of St. Williams Catholic Church in Lancaster.

Brock gets three merit certificates at exhibit

Doug Brock of Brock's Studio of Photography recently attended the PP of A International exhibit, Trade Show, and Convention held in Orlando, Florida. Doug had three Merit Prints that were on display at the convention and was invited by Polaroid to attend a special reception honoring the Merit Winning photographers.

The three photographs earning Merit Certificates this year were "Barefoot in the Rain," "Remembering the Cause," and "Morning Pasture." "Barefoot in the Rain" was created during an on location portrait session of Katelyn Greer, daughter of Elmo Lee and Marsha Greer of London. "Remembering the Cause" was shot during the re-enactment of the Civil War battle of Camp Wildcat. "Morning Pasture" is a photograph of Eugene Hasty's horses and cows in the early morning fog.

The Print Merit system is designed to award a continuing honor to PP of A members who consistently produce outstanding photographs. The Exhibition Merits are used to earn the Degree of Master of Photography.

Attending the Trade Show and Convention provides photographers the opportunity to meet with the industry's leading photographic manufacturers and explore the latest professional photographic equipment and services.

First Volksmarch to be held at Gatlinburg on September 26 and 27

The Gatlinburg, Tenn., Chamber of Commerce and the Great Smoky Mountains Hiking Club are inviting everyone to participate in the first Volksmarch in East Tennessee in Gatlinburg Sept. 26 and 27, 1992. A Volksmarch is non-competitive hike through a scenic and/or historic area over a pre-marked route. The Gatlinburg hike, which is 10 kilometers (6.2 miles) takes you on a leisurely hike through the great Smoky Mountains National Park and into Gatlinburg.

The trail in the park is very interesting with a lot of historic value and one that is not real well known by hikers.

You do not have to be a seasoned hiker to do this trail, everyone is encouraged to go at their own pace. The Volksmarch is free to all participants. Those that are hiking for credit through the American Volkspport Association must pay $1.50 for credit and $3 ($4 after Sept. 18, 1992) for an award. The award is a Volksmarch patch designed by Gatlinburg artist Jim Gray.

Pre-registration is available by contacting the Gatlinburg Chamber of Commerce Events Department. Registration is also available at the starting point at the Gatlinburg Chamber of Commerce from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. both days of the event. Finishing time for the hike is 6 p.m. both days. Hikers can choose to hike one day or both.

You do not have to be a member of the American Volkspport Association to participate, everyone is welcome and encouraged to attend.

For more information contact the Gatlinburg Chamber of Commerce at 1-800-568-4748 or 615-436-7333.

Volunteers asked to share home

Many students abroad are hoping to find American families with whom to live during the coming school year. They've filled out the applications, sent along school and health records, a personal statement and photos of their families and friends. Now they're eagerly awaiting news.

The American Institute For Foreign Study Foundation's Academic Year program is now inviting American families to share their homes with these teenagers from Germany, Spain, Japan, Brazil and thirty other countries around the world.

Here are some "selfish reasons" for joining this group:

- Host families take a ten month trip without ever leaving home. They learn about the holidays, food and customs of a foreign land. They share its culture first hand.

- Host families come to know these students as their own "sons" or "daughters." They've chosen this student themselves, because his or her interests match theirs. Together they build a relationship that often lasts a lifetime.

- Host families need not have teenagers of their own, and single parents are welcome. Following an interview with the Foundation's local representative, family members are invited to choose the boy or girl who would best fit with their lifestyles and share their interests. Hosting can begin in August and January for year- or semester-long programs.

Families interested in becoming hosts are invited to call the Foundation's Academic Year in America office at: (800) 322-4678 or write to: American Institute For Foreign Study Foundation, Academic Year in America, 140 Greenwich Avenue, Greenwich, CT 06830.

Eleven Days Until Deadline!

Has your story been written for the history book by and for Rockcastle County and our people??? Do not despair, but do hurry! # EFNEP Day Camp a success locally

Kiwanis to sponsor self-defense seminar Sept. 10

There will be a seminar in self-defense Thursday, Sept. 10 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon School. The seminar will be presented by Mike and Matt Bryant. This program will be sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Rockcastle County and the cost will be $10 per person.

Due to limited space preregistration will be necessary. Contact any member of Kiwanis for a preregistration ticket. Deadline for preregistration will be Sept. 7. Anyone from 18 and older will be able to benefit from this seminar and learn how to protect themselves.

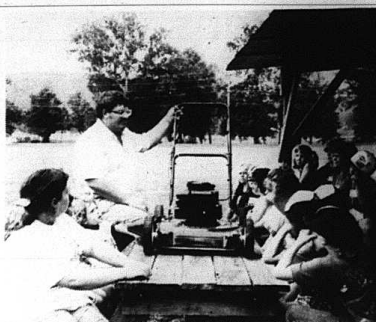

For further information contact Lu Ed Nielsen at 256-9599.

Please plan to come. Proceeds will benefit Kiwanis projects. Children are our number 1 priority.

John McQuary, County Extension Agent for 4-H, conducted a lawn mower safety workshop at the second EFNEP Day camp sponsored by the County Extension Service.

Thirty young people participated in the second EFNEP Day Camp, sponsored by the Rockcastle County Extension Service. It was held at Renfro Valley on July 23. This was for youth ages six through twelve. The children were entertained by a Renfro Valley Museum tour. They then received a nutritious lunch sponsored by Pam Burdette, manager of Pizza Hut. Our afternoon session consisted of a lawn mower safety workshop. The materials used for the workshop were from the American Red Cross. The young people also had a craft activity in which they painted fabric tote bags. The day ended with fishing in Renfro Creek. Special thanks to Renfro Valley, Pizza Hut, Southern Belle, American Red Cross, Appliance Service Center, Frances Wilder, and the Rockcastle County Homemakers.

Tom Mills, County Extension Agent for Agriculture, explains lawn mower parts to children at the EFNEP Day Camp. The lawn mower used in this demonstration was donated by Appliance Service Center.

Outstanding young tobacco farmer Gary Wayne Hurst, Rockcastle County, was honored as a semifinalist in the Outstanding Young Tobacco Farmer recognition program sponsored by Philip Morris USA and the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. With Hurst are W.T. Mills, Rockcastle County Extension agent for agriculture, and Dale Hill, manager of agronomy for Philip Morris USA.

And being the same property conveyed to Liza Annette Mullins by deed of conveyance from Virgil and Evelyn Mullins and Shelley and Linda Mullins, dated the 5th day of February, 1985, recorded in Deed Book 124, page 456, in the office of the clerk of the Rockcastle County Court Clerk's office.

THE PROPERTY WILL BE SOLD UPON THE FOLLOWING TERMS AND CONDITIONS:

- The property shall be sold to the highest bidder(s) for cash or for a deposit of TEN (10%) PER CENT of the purchase price in cash at the time of sale and the balance payable THIRTY (30) DAYS from the date of the sale, with interest at the rate of TWELVE (12%) PER CENT from annum from date of sale until paid. The purchaser(s) shall be required to execute bond with surety thereon, to be approved by the Master Commissioner, for the balance of the purchase price. The bond shall bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) per cent per annum from date until paid, and to remain and be a lien on said property until fully paid.
- The purchaser(s) shall have the privilege of paying all of the purchase price in cash or paying the bond before maturity by paying the principal amount thereon, together with all interest accrued thereon to the date of said payment.
- All unpaid ad valorem property taxes, including 1992, shall be paid from the proceeds of the sale.
- The purchaser(s) shall have possession of the premises upon complying with the terms of sale and risk of loss of improvements shall thereafter be on the purchaser(s).
- This sale must be made subject to all easements, set back lines, restrictions or covenants of record or otherwise.
- Should there be a lien on the property held by the United States, a federal right of redemption shall exist.

Vacations are nice but thank goodness it's over

It is certainly good to be back at work. I made a serious mistake when I gave in to my family's request to go to the big city on vacation.

Oh my wife, Pam "outlet mall" French, had a great time. My mother also had a blast and my daughter loved every minute of the vacation. However, none of them were driving when we got lost in downtown Washington during rush hour.

People in Atlantic City and Washington drive differently than they do here.

People seem to think they are in military vehicles and the highway is the front line. I was a few feet above a crosswalk once when I crossed the street walking to the Washington Monument. I heard words that Kentuckians don't use very often. I knew it was wrong to cross unless inside the crosswalk, but I didn't know it meant my family origin was in question.

While in the Smithsonian I had the nerve to ask for a brochure to help me find those things of interest. Apparently, this request destroyed the day of my two ladies behind the counter.

When in Atlantic City I met some friendly people. They were always smiling and making me feel welcome. It wasn't until later that I discovered they had a good reason to smile...They would eventually have my money.

I saw a lot of differences between those cities and Berea but the traffic problems were probably the most obvious.

Once you are in the wrong lane, you can plan on getting to see places you had never intended to go. It may be impossible to turn around for hours.

At first I thought food prices were reasonable but I discovered that was only true if there is competition nearby.

When we stopped at restaurants where other restaurants were close, the prices were only slightly higher than here in good old Kentucky.

But, never try to eat if there are no competing restaurants in the area. While in downtown Washington, we found one little cafeteria on Capital Square. Apparently these owners are aware that if you are going to eat, you are going to eat at their establishment.

When you have a hungry little girl, you will do almost anything to feed her.

We made the mistake of going through this cafeteria and filling our plates before going to the check out line.

I handed the cashier a $10 bill and held out my hand for the change.

There in front of me was an expression I hadn't seen before. There was the look of total disgust on that elderly face. She raised her wire-rimmed glasses, peaked out from under them and said, "$19.75 sir."

I couldn't help it. I got tickled and couldn't seem to stop laughing. The idea of leaving the trays on the counter and walking off left my head as soon as I saw Kyla's desire to eat the food on her plate.

Needless to say, I paid the price and we got to eat.

Finally, we started the trip home and the sight of the sign welcoming us to Kentucky, lifted the weight off my shoulders.

I have explained to my wife about our next vacation. I want to go to a local lake and spend a day or so fishing. Then, I want to go home.

Of course she was glad to have made this long trip, so she was agreeable to my plan for the next vacation...at first.

But, we had been home only a few hours when she spotted some other vacation trap in a magazine.

Throughout the entire ordeal, I was looking forward to getting back to work.

It's good to be back at my desk and catch up on what I've missed over the past week. Apparently, there was a lot.

Once again the United States has demonstrated its desire to have too many chiefs and not enough Indians.

The decision to release Elvis stamps has been a long controversial issue in the U.S. The Elvis stamp issue seemed to be yet another divisive problem for the Postal Service.

St. Vincent is a tiny island in the West Indies. Guess what. They have already released Elvis stamps. Not just one, but nine poses of the late king of rock-n-roll.

Marriage: The end of life as Bryan knows it

My best friend, Bryan, is getting married in shortly over two months.

As an old married man, I find it amusing to observe him as the big day draws nearer, and his days as a bachelor slowly slip away.

I've known Bryan since I was in the eighth grade, and, since he has been my best friend since then, was amazed when his relationship with Michele lasted to the point that he proposed to her last July.

Knowing him like I do, it's amazing to me that any female could stand to put up with him for four years, let alone be persuaded to become his bride.

But Michele is a sweet girl, and in the four years they've been dating, has become like a member of my family. (Knowing my family, I don't know if that's an insult to me, or an insult to her.)

And although Bryan loves Michele (ooh, yuck, this is getting to be soppier than a Wilson Phillips song), with the golden rings looming just over the horizon, Bryan seems to be frantically grasping to the last strands of his bachelor lifestyle.

Bryan and I were chatting on the phone the other night, sharing a bit of laughter over some inane subject (such as why do men with a receding hair line usually have hairy backs?), when I started to sense he had some-

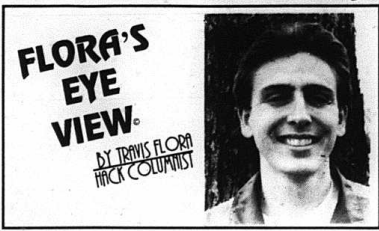

Rather than spend over a year arguing which pose to develop, they have released a sheet of such stamps depicting the King at all stages of his carcer. The U.S. will issue only one Elvis stamp sometime in 1993. For those Elvis fans who can't wait any longer, you may purchase the sheet of nine stamps for only $9 plus $3 for postage and handling by calling (800) 873-2003.

thing on his mind. I decided to hint around and find out what was wrong.

"What's wrong?" I asked him. (Pretty sneaky, huh?)

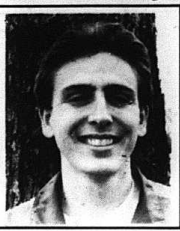

"Well," he started. "Let me ask you if you think I was wrong," he said.

"Somehow, the way he said it let me know the verdict already: guilty.

As he explained what events had transpired between he and Michele, I felt a sudden power sweep over me. Finally, I knew what Oprah Winfrey felt when she had a really juicy guest on her show, and the crowd was getting restless.

This week's topic, according to Bryan, was "Women who can't make up their minds, and the man who tries to be helpful and do it for them."

Meanwhile, Michele probably would have titled it "Men: The bossy swine they really are."

The only difference between the two versions of the same topic is that, if viewers had their choice, Michele's title would get twice as many viewers all willing and able to do a little man-bashing.

Anyway, the situation was this: Bryan said he asked Michele a question about what she wanted to do that evening.

Bryan never said exactly what he asked her if she wanted to do. He may have asked her to go to the movies that night, or if she wanted to eat at McDonald's that night.

Whatever the question was, Bryan was not pleased with the answer.

"Well, I don't know, maybe, I guess," she replied.

"And she said it all like it was one word, 'Well, I don't know maybe, I guess,'" he told me.

"Is that a yes, or a no," he asked her.

That, he said, is the straw that broke the camel's back that day.

"She accused me of trying to run her life, and that I always got to do what I wanted to do, but that I didn't care what she wanted to do," he told me. "If I didn't care what she thought, I wouldn't have asked her in the first place."

"Bryan," I answered, "How did she answer 'Well maybe, I don't know'?"

"I don't know," he said, "she just said it."

"Let me tell you something about women," I said. "Women don't just say anything. Women constantly give hidden messages every time they say or do anything. As a man, you are expected to decipher this code, and reply with a correct response."

Michele's "Well maybe, I don't know" was actually a yes or no response, I said. It's a game women play, and you'd better learn to play it well if you want your marriage to last.

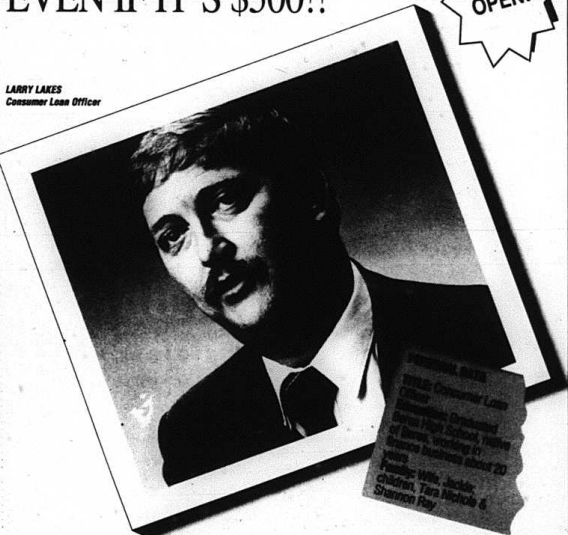

"I hate playing those games," he said. "She'll just have to learn that I'm the man, and when I ask a question, she'll have to tell me straight out her answer."

I stopped laughing about five minutes later. Bryan is still a young pup, I thought, but Michele will do all right.

I'm giving her a bundle of rolled up newspapers for a wedding gift.

Library News

By Geraldine Robbins

Here it is time for school to begin again and summer vacation is over for the children. We have enjoyed having them spend time in the library this summer. We had a very good reading program this year and we hope to have an even better one next year. I hope the children will continue to come in for both reading enjoyment and for school assignments.

I'd like to extend an invitation to all the teachers in the schools to feel free to use our books and materials for your classrooms. We also welcome any groups from the schools to come in for special programs.

Our children are our future and we here at the library want to play a part in helping with their education. If we don't have materials or books that are needed, we will make every effort to get them.

In September we will implement a long-range plan for the library. A committee has been formed consisting of four people from different communities, two trustees Pam and myself. We will be gathering information and getting ideas from the people in the county by means of surveys, telephone calls etc. to determine the needs of our patrons and we hope to extend our services to people who do not use the library. This would probably be one of the questions on a survey. "If you do not use the library, why?" We do anticipate making changes that will help direct this library to be able to play an even greater part in serving the citizens of this county and doing this more efficiently.

If you are asked to participate in any of the surveys, phone calls or whatever means we use to determine the patrons needs, please do so. We welcome all comments and suggestions that you have to offer.

I would also like to hear from your parents concerning the children's story hour on Wednesday. We want to know if there is enough interest to have this program after school starts. Would another time be better for you to bring the children in? Perhaps after school or on Thursday night. A lady has volunteered to work with the children but we need at least six to participate in the activities. Please come in or call me and give your suggestions.

There is a new shipment of large-print available from the Department of Libraries. We have been receiving about 100 books every three months, in two different shipments but we won't be getting as many this month. In the last shipment two books have been taken out and not returned. We have to pay $18 for every book that is not returned. We cannot afford to pay this much each time. I hate to punish a lot of people because two have chosen not to return their books. If they are brought in then, I will get another shipment.

Sherry Owens was accepted at Phillips Preparatory School in Mobile, Ala. She is the daughter of Kathy and Bryan Owens of Somerset. Her grandparents are James and Margie Cromer of Mt. Vernon, A.B. and Verla Owens of Mobile, Ala. Great grandparents are Della and Lester Arnold and Tielsma and Albert Owens, all of Mt. Vernon.

Completes course

Marine Pvt. James M. Glavin, son of Mary E. Wright of Rt. 4, Mt. Vernon, recently completed the Small Arms Repair Course.

During the course, at the U.S. Army Ordnance Center and School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, MD, students receive instruction on the operation, inspection, maintenance, and repair of rifles, pistols, shotguns, submachine guns, grenade launchers, mortars and other automatic weapons. Studies also include preparation of weapons for shipment, storage, and related safety precautions.

The 1992 graduate of Maple Hill High School, Castleton, joined the Marine Corps in December 1991.

AB James P. Carr Jr., husband of Christy Callahan Carr and son of James P. and Mary R. Carr of Mt. Vernon recently graduated from Basic Training at Lackland AFB San Antonio, Tx and is currently attending Aero Space Ground Equipment School at Chanute, AFB, Ill. After graduating in November he and Christy will reside at Offutt AFB, Nebraska.

I am asking that everyone please return all your books on time or re-new them if you aren't finished. The books are free for everyone to use, but please respect other people enough to return them so others may enjoy them also.

The library has just received The Kentucky Encyclopedia, Editor in Chief, John E. Kleber and Associate Editors, Thomas D. Clark, Lowell H. Harrison, and James C. Klotter. These are well-known writers of Kentucky history. The Kentucky Encyclopedia's 2,000-plus entries are the work of more than five hundred writers. Their subjects reflects all areas of the commonwealth and span the time from prehistoric settlement to today's headlines, recording Kentuckian's achievements in art, architecture, business, education, politics, religion, science, and sports.

Entries describes each county and county seat and each community with a population above 2,500. Broad overview articles examine such topics as agriculture, segregation, transportation, literature and folklore.

For both the researcher and the more casual reader, this collection of facts and facts about Kentucky and Kentuckians will be an invaluable reference work.

Some other new books are: 1. The Father of Love; an inspirational book by Janette Oke. 2. Lines In The Sand; Justice and the Gulf War. 3. The Long Road To Gettysburg 4. The Canoe Handbook: Techniques for mastering the sport of canoeing 5. Best Selling Quilt Patchwork : 6.

Another Book of Anecdotes by Fayette Brown, Road Meats, Rabbit To-back'n' Roadside Sable.

Come in and visit your library and see the many services we have to offer.

"Bicentennial at State Fair"

Ritche to the renowned Stephen Foster Singers adds to the excitement at the Bicentennial theatre and the Kentucky Heritage Stage.

In the "Exhibition Shop," John Kleber, Editor-in-Chief of the acclaimed "Kentucky Encyclopedia," and David Snyder, artist of the Official Bicentennial Poster, will sign their works Aug. 24 beginning at 11 a.m. These, as well as T-shirts, caps and other Bicentennial products, will be available at the shop during the fair.

The fair runs August 20 to 30 at the Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville, and these activities are just the start. For details, see the attached schedule, or contact Stephanie Darst at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center, 502/367-5000, or call Bryan E. Wright, Kentucky Bicentennial Commission, 502/564-5833.

THE BISHOPS Jubilee Echoes' anniversary sing features The Bishops

Southern Gospel music at its best will return to the Rockcastle County High School Thursday, Sept. 3rd at 7:30 p.m. as the Jubilee Echoes host their Anniversary Sing, with this year's special guest The Bishops.

Known for their tremendous family harmony, The Bishops are one of gospel music's finest groups. Consistently at the top of gospel charts, with such songs as "Blind Bartimeus," "God's Amazing Grace," "Lazarus Come Forth," "I Need You More Today," and their latest number one, which is nominated for 1992's song of the year, "He's In The Mist", The Bishops are a group you do not want to miss. Not only are the Bishops nominated for song of the year, but also artist of the year, favorite young artist, and each member is nominated in individual categories.

The Bishops, Kenneth, Mark, and Kenny, have come a long way since beginning their careers back in 1984. The simple lifestyle of East-Central Kentucky and the strong spiritual commitment they were all reared in has helped to keep the easy going values strong in their personal lives with strong family values and a dedication to the call of spreading God's Good News of Jesus Christ to all that will hear.

Tickets are $6 advance and $7 at the door, and are available at the following merchants: Saylor Pharmacy in Mt. Vernon, Heavenly Treasures in Renfro Valley and Berea, Brookhaven Christian Books in London, Richmond Supply in Richmond, Danville Bookstore and Heritage Books in Somerset. For more information call 256-2282.

Joyful Noise to cut record

Joyful Noise plans to be in the studio on Aug. 29 to do a single cut of a heart-touching song entitled "Silent Cry." It deals with a very controversial issue of today-abortion. The song goes right to the heart of the matter and tells how God deals with it.

Jack Stallworth was inspired to write the words and music. When we do the song live you can see it moves the hearts and minds of the people in a special way. When tears are shed you know the song has been well received. We truly believe "Silent Cry" will change the heart of someone and give a baby a chance to know life.

We know God will bless but we ask all Christians to pray for this recording. The song should be released around the middle of September and we ask that you call your local radio station and request it daily, and if you get the opportunity come in to service wity Joyful Noise.

Praise and give thanks to God daily. Pray for the healing of our nation. We can make a difference!

Starting our Livingston Homecoming off this year will be our Friday Night Gospel Singing Sept. 4, 1992 starting at 7 p.m.

On the firehouse lawn in Livingston (Seats will be provided)

This year's singers will be:

"The Born Again Singers," London, Ky.

"The Spiritual Four," London, Ky.

"The Eversole Family," London, Ky.

"The Joyful Noise," Mt. Vernon, Ky.

"The Hensley Family," Mt. Vernon, Ky.

and also some local talent

We are expecting a great singing this year. Please come out and enjoy it with us.

Thanks, Billy Medley

Free hunter education course available

A free Kentucky Hunter Education course will be held on August 27 and 28, 6 - 9 p.m. and August 29, 9 a.m. - 12 p.m. at the Rockcastle Extension Service, Richmond Street, Mt. Vernon.

The ten hour course, sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, the Rockcastle Sportsmen's Club and the Rockcastle Extension Service, will include classroom instruction in hunter ethics, wildlife identification, outdoor survival, first aid, firearms, bow hunting and ammunition. The last session will include actual range firing and an examination.

Upon successful completion of the course, a graduate card will be issued which is valid in any state where such certification is required. Attendance at all sessions is required for certification.

Effective March 1, 1992, all hunters born on or after January 1, 1975, shall, while hunting, carry a valid hunter education course graduate card in addition to the appropriate Kentucky hunting license requirements. A bow hunter not in possession of a firearm may carry a "National Bowhunter Education Program" course completion card in lieu of the hunter education card. Children under age 10 and persons exempt from purchasing a hunting license are not required to possess the card while hunting. Children under age 10 shall be accompanied by an adult of at least 18 years of age while hunting.

For additional information, please contact Jimmie Silvers at 256-4590 or Mike Bryant at 256-5246.

Rockcastle included in plan for regional incinerator at Corbin

With landfill space becoming scarcer and more expensive, a Lexington company want to build a regional incinerator in Corbin to burn trash.

It also would recycle some trash on the way to the incinerator and produce steam and electricity from what is burned.

The plan for what is being called a "recycle/waste to energy plant" will be presented today to the environmental committee of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District. Rockcastle is in the 8 county area.

The 230,000 people who live in the eight counties covered by the district produce 450 tons of trash a day. The incinerator would burn up to 500 tons a day.

Sam Johnson of Johnson Management, which is proposing to build the incinerator, said the plant would need to collect trash from a wide area to be feasible.

Johnson and a partner, Robert McIntyre, have been meeting with mayors and county judges/executives, telling them that burning trash is the answer to state regulations that are pushing up landfill fees.

"It's not a technology issue, it's a matter of cooperation between cities and counties," Johnson said.

Although the proposal is in the early stages, it already has opposition.

The Knox County chapter of Kentuckians for the Commonwealth and the Knox County Solid Waste Advisory Board have decided to oppose the incinerator, said Linda Blair Brock, a member of both.

"We have enough trouble with coal trucks on these roads, let alone garbage trucks," Brock said.

She and other environmentalists went to meet with company officials in Corbin last night.

Similar proposals have run into stiff opposition across the country. Opponents say that even when they meet air quality standards, incinerators put out cancer-causing pollutants that accumulate in the environment. Proponents say it is better to burn trash than bury it in a landfill which may eventually leak, causing worse environmental problems.

The New York Times, in surveying the situation, noted that "Because incinerators have become so unpopular, few politicians will propose them."

The unwillingness to approve incinerators has even spawned a new acronym - NIMTOO - Not in My Town Of Office.

There are 176 municipal trash incinerators operating in the U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico, according to the Solid Waste Information Clearing House in Washington, D.C. Few new ones are being approved.

There were two trash incinerators in Kentucky, but both have shut down.

An incinerator in Louisville operated from 1957 until last year, when air pollution standards got stricter.

A much smaller one in Franklin in Western Kentucky operated for only six months in the mid-1980s before shutting down. Franklin Mayor Bill Young said it was improperly built and the city is suing the French company that built it.

Despite his town's problems, Young said he still thinks a properly built trash incinerator is a good idea. And Johnson said the "dirty old incinerator most people think about" is not the high-tech plant he has in mind. The $20 million incinerator he is proposing would be designed Euthenergy Systems, Inc., which has extensive experience in building and operating incinerators.

The incinerator would be built in the Corbin/Tri-County Industrial Park, one mile east of Corbin.

It would help other town tenants to the park, which is empty, Johnson said. It might, for example, attract a company that would melt recycled aluminum cans into ingots for shipping or a food-processing plant that needs steam.

Electricity not used by other tenants of the industrial park would be sold to East Kentucky Power Co., Johnson said.

The ash from burning would go to a regular landfill, he said.

Cleland Thorne, a member of the Corbin City Commission and the Whitley County Solid Waste Advisory Board, said he has questions about whether pollutants would be in that ash. (Cont. to B9)

Special programs available at ECU

Whether you've been bitten by the computer bug or the "Cyrus Virus," you can probably find a class to your liking among the more than 80 community education courses offered this fall by Eastern Kentucky University's Division of Special Programs.

Some of the courses teach old dogs new tricks, other teach new dogs old tricks. Some are fun, while others are serious. But they all promise to be informational and inexpensive.

Yes, you can learn how to dance the "Achy Breaky." But you can also learn how to publish newsletters, make gingerbread houses, play guitar, decorate cakes, develop a profitable investment strategy, and more.

All the courses are open to the general public. No previous college experience is required. And the classes are informal, with no tests or grades. Many of the classes meet only once; others meet on several occasions, many are for an hour or two, others all day. Almost all the courses are offered in the evening.

Seventeen computer courses will be offered this fall: Introduction to the PC for the Scared and Nervous, Introduction to DOS, Advanced DOS 5.0, How to Buy a PC and Software, Introduction to Windows 3.0, Lotus 1-2-3, Advanced Lotus 1-2-3, Introduction to WordPerfect 5.1, Intermedia - WordPerfect, Advanced WordPerfect, WordPerfect 5.1 for Windows, WordPerfect Flyers 5.1 and Forms, PageMaker 4.1 for the PC, Desktop Publishing, Introduction to the Macintosh for the White-knuckled, Beginning PageMaker on the Macintosh and Even More PageMaker on the Macintosh.

Most of the classes are hands-on, with instruction from ECU faculty and staff, and community professionals. Continuing education units are available for each computer class. The CEU is a nationally recognized, standard unit of measurement that is awarded on the basis of one CEU for every 10 contact hours of participation in an organized continuing education experience, under responsible sponsorship, capable direction and qualified instruction.

While the CEU is not intended to be equated with academic credit, many business firms and professions have recognized the CEU when considering persons for promotion, salary increases, transfers and professional recognition, according to Leigh Ann Sadler, community education coordinator.

Finance and business courses include: Investment strategies, Generalizing for a Small Business, General

Bookkeeping Skills I, General Bookkeeping Skills II, English for Today's Business World, Finding and Getting the Job You Want, Newsletters: Communication for the '90s, and Selling When You Hate to Sell.

A highlight of the personal development course schedule is Make It and Take It Craft Saturday, Oct. 24, when participants can create their own handmade gifts "in the company of friends and kindred spirits." They are asked to choose three courses from among six: Dried Herbs Basket, T-shirt Decorating, Faux Finishes, Gingerbread Houses, Cake Decorating and Glass Etching.

Other personal development courses on tap include: Basket Weaving, Brainstorming and Creative Thinking, Adult Driver Education, Home Landscape Design. (Cont. to B9)

Volunteers needed for foster care review board

District Judge Walter F. Maguire in Rockcastle County is seeking additional volunteers for the Rockcastle County Foster Care Review Board. Review boards are comprised of community volunteers, who examine the case files of children placed by the district court into the custody of the Cabinet for Human Resources. All volunteers are trained after being appointed to the review board by the district judge.

In Kentucky, over 4,500 children are placed out their home. Foster Care Review Board members examine the files of these children several times a year to determine if proper decisions concerning permanent placement are being made and are being carried out promptly by the Cabinet for Human Resources. Board members submit their confidential findings and recommendations concerning each child's placement to local district judges.

Anyone interested in foster care or child welfare is encouraged to volunteer. For further information, contact the Foster Care Review Board Program, Administrative Office of the Courts, 100 Millcreek Park, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 or call 1-800-928-2350.

Life and times of Emory Martin

By: Ray McClure

The trials and tribulations and successes of the one-armed banjo player, Emory Martin, is recounted by his wife of 49 years, Linda, in a new book recently published.

From his beginning on Aug. 26, 1916, through his years at the Grand Old Opry and Renfro Valley, Emory has been a first-rate entertainer despite years of little pay and little recognition.

Emory's father was a sharecropper who worked very hard in Hickman County, Tenn., area, but he had an "extra amount of good common sense and was a good man," Emory's mother, Maud, reports.

The family moved to Nashville in 1923 and Emory got his first taste of country music.

But their stay in Nashville was short, and they returned to Hickman County.

The book recounts Emory's life from early childhood, his first job with Sid Hartkreader of the Grand Ole Opry; his employment with Uncle Dave Macon, Johnny Wright and Kitty Wells; The Louisiana Hayride, and his time spent with Jack and Fairley Holden.

He spent several years on the Renfro Valley Barn Dance and with John Lair.

"Lair's dream was to have a barn dance in a real country area and have traditional country style music played," Linda writes. Mr. Lair had two road show units on the road continuously, all year round, including tent shows during the summer."

In time, Emory took over the Renfro Valley Gulf service station and operated it for several years, while still playing on the barn dance.

Linda also had her day on the barn dance. When Jerry Byrd left to go to Nashville with Ernest Tubbs, Linda played the steel guitar on BCS "Sunday Morning Gatherin'."

In a foreword to the book Patricia Hager Rucker, associate professor of sociology wrote:

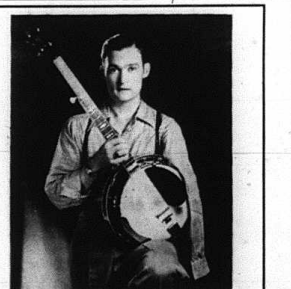

"Country music, originally of interest in the rural south, has grown into one of the great American success stories. Part of the reason for such success is that the music speaks of the people who love it. Emory Martin was one of those entertainers who made a difference.

Linda and Emory have gone an admirable job of making a difference. Readers will find it full of memories.

Incidentally the Martins have a son, Roy Arnold and two grandchildren, Stephen and Gina. Roy and Billy Dowell operate Dowell and Martin Funeral Home.

For those who wish a copy of the book, write Linda Martin, Rt. 4, 184B, Mt. Vernon, KY 40456.

Hansford

Sherman Lloyd Hansford, a former Pulaski County sheriff who recently retired as a U.S. marshal for the Eastern District of Kentucky, died Monday night after a one-car accident.

Hansford, 59, was traveling west-bound on Ky. 80, about 18 miles east of Somerset, when he lost control of the 1988 Lincoln he was driving. The car struck a guardrail, rolled over several times and came to rest on its top, the Pulaski County sheriff's office reports.

Hansford, who was not wearing a seat belt, was thrown from the vehicle. He was pronounced dead of chest injuries at Humana Hospital-Lake Cumberland, Pulaski County Deputy Coroner Quintin McGinnis said.

The accident occurred at 9:45 p.m.

Hansford, who lived on 211 North Ky. 39, became a U.S. marshal in 1975 during the Ford administration after being a deputy marshal since 1970. He was a deputy marshal during the Carter administration, then became a marshal again in 1985 during the Reagan administration.

He was elected Pulaski County sheriff in 1965 and served one term in that post.

Hansford, a Pulaski County native, was a farmer and crop grower. He was a Farm Bureau Insurance carrier in his life. He returned to farming after his retirement in January.

He served in the Army during the Korean War and was a member of Woodstock Masonic Lodge No. 633 and Woodstock Order of the Eastern Star Lodge No. 521. He also had been active in the Pulaski County Lincoln Club as well as Republican and civic organizations.

Surviving are his wife, Helen Estep Hansford; his parents, Arthur and Bessie Hansford; and Helen Irene Poynter Hansford; a son, Greg Hansford; a daughter, Sheila Denise Hansford; a brother and four sisters.

Services will be at 1 p.m. Friday at Pulaski Funeral Home. Visitation will be after 5 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home.

OK. Let's get down to business! 24 hours. That's all we get. And still for some, it's just not enough. Now of course, we at GTE don't presume to tell you how to spend your time. Just how to save it. The way we see it, the phone is the shortest distance between a problem and a solution. Unlike a memo or business letter, it allows you to deal with problems immediately. And get results immediately. Compared to a personal sales call, it not only can save you a bundle of time, but a bundle of that other precious commodity. It lets you sell faster. Distribute faster. Collect money faster. Go to lunch faster. See your front door faster. Need we go on? Make the call. Because after all, it's about time. Isn't it?

"What Saith the Scriptures"

(This article was written as a Letter to the Editor but, due to newspaper policy, we are putting it in as our regular article.) D.M. In response to William Mullins' article, "What Do the Scriptures Say?" (July 30, 1992), let me make some observations.

He said, "People who go about trying to convince others that God doesn't baptize with the Holy Ghost and doesn't operate the gifts of the Spirit and work miracles and healings anymore are enemies of the Cross of Christ." That's a pretty serious charge! I'd certainly be "guilty" of trying to convince people on those above points. I've taught on the radio, in newspapers, in sermons and in personally teaching others, that God no longer baptizes people in the Holy Ghost, or gives the gifts of the Spirit, nor works miracles and miraculous healing for today. I'd be willing to enter into a public discussion with Mr. Mullins, or any other representative, of the "Pentecostal Persuasion" on these matters. Paul said he was "set for the defense of the gospel" in Phil. 1:17, and I certainly would be ready to defend the gospel I preach; not withstanding what 300 million Pentacostal people may say. Jude said in verse 3, that we should "earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." I stand ready to contend for the faith of the gospel, for it is indeed "all a matter of faith." We read of Paul "disputing" in the synagogue and in the school of Tyrannus in Ac. 19:9-10, and we stand ready to "dispute" these issues, for truth has nothing to fear from an open investigation.

Mr. Mullins and 300 million people (a goliath number) have made a bold claim about the power of God being upon them. He's issued a serious challenge. That what I teach is the "traditions and doctrines of men" and that I'm an "enemy of the Cross of Christ." This servant of Christ stands ready to battle with this one who has defied the Army of the Living God!
