WHERE IN KENTUCKY

Shall We Find His Like , Again? Who Shall Take Up His Cause With Courage, Ability and Zeal?

Saturday night the sad and h rending message came that Gov Goebel was dead and Sunday morning's paper confirmed the re-port in bold head lines. The dai-lies brought the dreadful news to many a home throughout Kentucky, which made the Sabbath as heavyhearted as the day was rainy and disagreeable on the out side. The Governor grew worse, rapidly Saturday afternoon from 2:30 o'clock until his death-most of the tim scene around his death-bed and out in the long hall and down in the corridor of the big Capitol Hotel,

We take leave to speak for himself.
We take leave to speak for him, but in his behalf; in detense of the good name which he wished to leave behind him now dear only to the bereaved ones of his own famiassociates; for he lived a lonely, isolated life; was check-by jowl with no one; a simple student who aspired to be a leader and a statesn. He was ambitious. The ous fault, and grievously has William Goebel answered it. But there are kinds and degrees of amon. He wished to do the State ne service. He thought the est way to attain this end hest way to attain this end was to represent the interest of the great hody of the people against the growing aggressions of the char-tered companies. It cost him his life, He has paid the debt. He is gone.

But, being a student, sustained by the rectitude of his convictions along with the knowledge of his researches, he set himself against the aggressions of the chartered companies like a states nan, no like an empirist. He did not seel whimsically on corruptly to oppose them; but, rather, to moderate their excess, to restrain them with-in the bounds of their chartered rights. To accomplish a task so needul and difficult required not merely legal learning and acumen, but personal courage of the first order; because in the capitals of all our States there are lobbies, which scene around his death-bed and out ordet; because in the coprisis of all our States there are lobbies, which corridor of the big Capitol Hotel, strong men ground in mornful ago, grave and dignified Senators, judges, lawyers, doctors and preachers bowed their heads and tears trickled down their musty fixed the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states that the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of the search of the machinery is blackmail; in the newer, the message of personal states and the way and the newer the newer and the newer the newer that

The killing of Mr. Sanford by Mr. Goebel is the pivotal point up-on which Mr. Goebel's character has been arraigned. It was a street duel. Mr. Sanford was a dead shot. But, when the bullets passed. Goehel's one, nebody seriously thought of indicting Goebel. In the convention that nominated Mr. Goebel for Governor the Louisville and Nashville Railroad wa the main factor. After a week of battle, day and night, Mr. Goebel beat the combination of brute force and money, and won the nom tion; doing nothing to he petitors whatever he did to the that they were not ready to do to him. COMMENTS.

(Detroit Tribane Ren) A great many excuses have been made for the political crime that Gov. Taylor has committed in Kentucky; but no partisan has ye been able to justify it. It may be said that Mr. Goebel was trying to said that Mr. Goebel was trying to obtain the Governorwhip by fraac and that a blindly partisan Legir lature was assisting him in the per petration of this outrage; but what ever Mr. Goebel did was don within the sanction of the law.

A COLD COMPÉRY.

[St Louis Post-Dispatch, Dem.] Mr. McKindev gives cold com ort to the Kentucky Republican who are trying to substitute to force for law.

Surrender Taylor's only co (Chicago Post Rep.) There is at present nothing ever for the Federal Govern ever for the regarm to do. There is no possible je dution for the arbitrary orde Taylor in adjourning Legisla The sooser Taylor surrenders gives the courts an opportunit better for his own and party's pects in Kentucky.

The position he has taken aince the liasardly shooting of Goebel is not legally defensable. His acts since that event have been defined on the liasardly shooting of the liasardly shooting the liasardly shooting powerment, of the Contribution of Kentacky and of the aw governing its elections.

TAYLOR AN ANARCHIST. [Pitsburg Press, Independent.]

Practically, no matter if his majority was originally 100,000, he has become an anarchist, derying cours as well as Legislatures.

Newark Advertiser, Ind.)
The Legislature was adjourned to prevent it from sitting as a Coun of Appeals, and legally ousting Taylor, and the latter, taking advantage of an atrocious crime, pergenated from his own official residence by his own partisans, and under his eyes, acted throughoutfun his own interest. But surely he must see that, in the eyes of the American people, he, the beneficiary of the crime and and the gath-American people, he., the benefici-ary of the crime and and the gath-erer of fruits, will not be held guilt less of that crime when he refuses to take a step to secure the assassin, and denies opportunity to the crim inal authorities for that purpose.
