The jury that needs looking after in Kentucky, and the pardoning power too. Cynthiana Court.—A large crowd in town about 150 head of cattle on the market, of fair to medium quality, and most of them sold, but the market was inactive and hardly as good prices obtained as was expected. Light weight two-year old steers, $68 from 350 to 375; a few, 1,000 to 1,200 lb. from 4 to 4 1/2; yearlings, 3 to 3 1/2; heifers, light weight, 2 1/2 to 2 3/4; some better ones, 3 to 3 1/2; calves, $10 to $15 per head; no demand for milk cows; only private sales of horses and mules which met with ready sale at fair prices. Cynthiana Times.

It is the usual losses that count without being considered. Farmers as a rule expect to lose more or less young pigs, they do not worry over the occasional loss of a young calf, and they look with indifference on the loss of a lamb or two, while half a hundred dead chickens will have no effect on them. Every young thing should be counted as of value. The loss of a pig, calf or lamb is a real loss and as much care should be taken to prevent these losses as any other. Let the careless farmer charge himself with the profits he might have made on every young thing that dies and he will soon convince himself that he can afford to allow anything to die from the lack of attention.

BOER WAR.

Heretofore gigantic spectacles in the amusement world have been very limited in their scope, and the realism has been considerably marred by artificial aid in the way of fire works, ballets, and vaudeville features, introduced to create interest and procure an attraction to the eye. It has been the proud boast of fair of South Africa to send representatives to America, and give ideas in realism that never before has been accomplished, and the management can feel highly gratified that all the concessions at the World's Fair, public approval and patronage is lavishly bestowed on the Boer War and South African exhibit. The production is more than spectacular, it being also historical and realistic, and the younger generation who have taken advantage of witnessing the production can speak with pride in the future, that they have actually seen and met the famous Cronje and the dashing Viljoen.

Since the time when Poland lost her independence no man has created the discussion and universal sympathy throughout the world as that between Britton and Boer, and realizing the fact of the keen in great created in this country, Captain Arthur W. Lewis, by herculean efforts organized the great production that is now undeniably the crowning feature of the World's Fair, being ably assisted by Mr. Frank E. H. Pills, who is justly styled "The P. T. Barnum of South Africa."

The military camp which occupies a space of twelve acres is entered through an exact reproduction of South Africa's largest Fort at Cape Town and is closely associated with the Dutch settlement, it being erected to save off the fierce onslaught of the merciless servitors.

On entering, there is a large museum of relics of the Kaffir and Boer wars, skins of lions, giraffes, leopards, and antlers of all descriptions, gathered from the far interior of the dark continent, and also numerous other relics that are well worth a visit alone.

A walk around the camp is full of special interest giving an idea of what military camp life is, both from a British standpoint as well as Boer. There is also the Kaffir Kraal exactly as in the native country.

The performance which is given afternoons and night, commences with the introduction of the different contingents, then the principal officers who led on the actual field of battle; the British comprising Major W. S. Stewart, Capt. Chapin, D. S. O., and Capt. Franklin and Dix. The Boer officers comprise General Cronje, the hero of Paardeburg, General Viljoen, Asst. Commander-in-Chief of the entire Boer forces, and hero of Helvetia; commandant P. D. Moll, severely wounded at Belfast and Fort Piani, G. M. J. Van Dam, who took the British surrender at Nicholson's Nek, where he also was wounded; Commandant M. J. M. Magre, wounded ten times, and J. N. Boshoff, who was with General De La Rey at the wounding and capture of Lord Methuen. He was also entrusted with the safe keeping of President Steyn, when he was so hard pressed by Lord Kitchener from the Free State into the Transvaal. Following is a tribe of Basutos, mounted on their best horses, composed of a party of Zulus and Swazies in their native war dress, mule and oxen war transport, giving an idea of the means of transportation, sword exercise by a squad of New South Wales Lancers, Staats Artillery, and a series of exciting races.

Clingan man doing most of the preaching and he left nothing undone. There were 35 additions, 15 by baptism and most of the others came from the Baptist. A crowd estimated at 400 gathered Sunday to hear Eld. Clingan preach his last sermon for this time, but we sincerely hope that he will come again.

Is there not some enterprising man in this community who will take up the matter of getting the remainder, $450? It outsiders give one-tenth of the necessary amount without solicitation, it surely appears that our people ought to do the balance and get out of the bid yet in which we have been engaged for these many years. The proposed four miles of pipe would cut out the worst portion of the road between Mt. Vernon and Crab Orchard thereby giving us a good road between these two points. This subject should not be allowed to die out but pushed to a successful conclusion.

When found she was crying and her hands were soiled away that her father had threatened to whip her. Soon after she disappeared her bonnet was found in the woods torn in shreds and foot play was suspected. A neighborhood fortune teller was interviewed and she told that the child had been drowned in a creek, and was floating throughout the section and searching parties organized and spent the night in the woods. No clew could be obtained until the blood hounds arrived and set out on a trail, which led to the discovery of the little girl hiding in a canebrake.

To Superintendents, Teachers and Patrons:—
A majority of the counties of the State, through their County School Book Commissions, have, in accordance with an act which became a law February 28th, 1904, entitled "An Act to Create a State School Book Commission," etc., adopted a uniform series of text books to be used in all public schools of Kentucky for five years, beginning September 1st, 1904, as stated in the following proclamation by the Governor:

A PROCLAMATION.
To the People of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:—
Whereas, The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, session of 1904, passed an act, entitled "An Act to Create a State School Book Commission and a County School Book Commission and to Provide for Use in the Public Schools of this Commonwealth a Uniform Series of Text Books, and to Define the Duties and Powers of Such Commission; to Fix the Maximum Prices of Said Text Books; to Make Preparations for Carrying This Act into Effect; and Providing Penalties for the Violation of the Same," and which act became a law February 28th, 1904, and

Whereas, The State School Book Commission, as required by said act, did advertise for and receive bids or proposals from publishers of school text books to furnish the same to the pupils and patrons of the common schools of this Commonwealth, and transmitted to the various County School Book Commissions lists, samples and prices of all books so offered by such publishers, and said County School Book Commissions did, in due time, select a report to the State School Book Commission their respective selections of text books from said lists; and

Whereas, The State School Book Commission did, on July 1st and 2nd, 1904, canvass said reports and tabulate the result of said selections made by said County School Book Commissions and awarded the contract to furnish said books to said publishers thereof in accordance with the said selections or adoptions of a majority of the said County School Book Commissions, as required by section IV of said act, the titles of said books so adopted and the retail and change prices thereof being as follows, to-wit:

And, Whereas, The contractor, American Book Company, to whom the said contract to furnish said books was awarded, has entered into the required contract with the State School Book Commission and has executed a bond in the sum of fifty thousand ($50,000), will good and sufficient surety, to faithfully perform all duties and obligations of said contract; now, therefore,

I, J. C. W. Beckham, Governor, in pursuance of section VIII of said act, and by virtue of the power hereby conferred, do hereby proclaim that said books are the legally adopted text books for use in all the common schools of this Commonwealth, and I hereby fix September 1st, 1904, as the date on and after which all public common schools in counties having no existing legal contract for school books, shall use the same for a period of five years from said date. The attention of County School Book Commissions and teachers in such counties is called to the penalties imposed by section X of said act for violation thereof.

In counties having existing legal contracts with the said American Book Company, the said State Series of text books may be introduced in lieu of the corresponding books of said contractor, if such counties elect to do so, on and after July 1st, 1905. If such counties do not elect to use the State Series before the expiration of such contract, they shall do so immediately after the expiration of such county contract, thereby conforming to and fully establishing the State uniformity of text books contemplated by said act.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed. Done at Frankfort, this ninth day of August, nineteen hundred and four, and the one hundred and thirteenth year of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

J. W. BECKHAM,
By the Governor:
H. V. MCHESNEY,
Secretary of State.
SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS.
Superintendents, County School Book Commissions and teachers will please note the following special instructions relative to the Uniform School Book Law, and its application to their respective schools:

I. It is the duty of each County School Book Commission to select the books to be ordered by such counties to supply patrons and pupils with the books provided for. (Section 8.) These appointments of dealers should be reported to the contracting publishers, the American Book Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, whose duty it is to arrange with the dealers so appointed to supply and sell books. (Section 15.)

II. The prices of the books, as printed above, shall appear on the respective books, and it is unlawful for any agent or dealer to sell any of said books at a retail price higher than that printed on the back of the book, or at an exchange price higher than that printed on the back of the book. Any dealer who sells any of the State Series of books at higher prices than those printed on the back thereof is liable to a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars. (Section 7.)

III. All counties whose contracts have expired, and all cities which have no legal contract for books, must use the State Series from and after September 1st, 1904. Failure to do so subjects the members of the County School Book Commission in such county to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and teachers in such counties who provide any other books than those provided by law cannot legally receive any salary so long as such violation continues. (Section 10.)

IV. Counties having existing legal contracts will continue to use the books covered by said contracts until the expiration thereof, unless the County School Book Commission of any such county elect to abandon the books published by the American Book Company, if any, which may be covered by such county contract, and substitute therefor the corresponding books of the State Series, published by the same company. In the event of such preference, such counties may change to the State Series any time on or after July 1st, 1905, and have the privilege of the exchange for one year and retail prices of the State Series instead of continuing the use of books now under contract for the full term for which said contract was made.

V. The exchange price referred to above and printed on the back of each book is the price in cash which will have to be paid for a new book when a corresponding old one, in actual use, is surrendered and given to the agent or dealer who sells the new book. In order to get the benefit of these exchange prices, the new books must be introduced and the exchanges made within one year after the counties become eligible to take the State Series. (Section 5.) Any county, therefore, or city, which fails to make the change required within a year after September 1st, 1904, if such county or city has no existing contract, will lose the value of its old books. Counties whose contracts expire next year, or that may decide to abandon their old contracts and accept in lieu thereof the State Series, will have one year from the date of such expiration or such acceptance of the State Series within which to make the exchange.

All counties under existing contracts are entitled to the exchange price for one year after the introduction of the uniform series. VI. It is important that all school officials, teachers and patrons cooperate in establishing and enforcing the provisions of the Uniform School Book Law. Any deviation from the requirements should be reported to the State School Book Commission, at Frankfort.

Mr. G. W. Fowler, of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving as a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Ala. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soured meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. It was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me one bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the first way. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one twenty-five cent bottle cured the three of us." Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.
For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused Indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes Catarrh. The peptic action of Indigestion inflames the mucous membrane lining the stomach, and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of normal digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure
