Frankfort Watchline

"It's all a fraud and all a sham."
That analysis of the Frankfort political and government scene made some years ago by one of the keenest observers does allow for exceptions. But it's all too true.
Take the legislative commission that's supposed to point out a sensible path for the state's colleges and universities to offer adequate opportunities without bankrupting the state--or parents. It's off to a good non-political start--made up entirely of Democrats. But Republicans' meanings about the unfairness of it all are mainly for the voters. GOP leaders feel the commission can't come up with any real answers -- and blame won't be shared.
Or take the question of over-loaded coal trucks' tearing up roads. Republican Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss wants Attorney General John Breckinridge, a Democrat, to put a stop to it. Breckinridge says Goss has more legal help available than he does. And Republican Motor Transportation Commissioner Alex McIntyre says he's doing all he can--but local courts won't help. So the trucks roll on and so do the words.

the backlash, he's now calling the bill a hoax because it didn't really provide money.

The fact is that appropriated funds just as any other measure not in the budget itself--and the Legislature made it clear how the funds were to be obtained.
But the fact is too that Gov. Nunn didn't have to veto the kidney center bill to buy a jet. And Democrats know that.

Perhaps some day all sides will agree that Kentucky's governor is entitled to go first-class and so are its students, its sick and its citizens forced to share roads with coal trucks.
But that may be a while. As an aide of the governor said:

"I came in thinking an orderly approach to government would get things done--now I'm an anarchist."

There's growing feeling that a Combs-Ford race pitting two Democrats from the same basic faction in the governor's primary will prove just too tempting for other hopefuls to ignore.

And State Treasurer Thelma Stovall won't bow out as a possible candidate. She had indicated she'd take a decisive reading on the situation this month. Now she says she'll be going all-out for Democratic candidates in November, then take a look.

The hand-shaking champ of the Republican administration, Court of Appeals Clerk Dick Vermillion, has his eye on the treasurer's race. And former Appellate Clerk Drex Davis already is running for treasurer on the Democratic side.

The administration slate will be put together with care and the aim of drawing all possible geographical strength.

The ticker, according to talk right now, seems likely to include Parks Commissioner James Host, a native of Ashland now living in Lexington, Public Information Commissioner Ken Harper from Northern Kentucky, Commonwealth's Attorney Edwin Schroering of Louisville and Vermillion, from Corbin. Western Kentuckians are being checked for strength too.

Public Service Commissioner Tom Emberton of Metcalfe County remains the most-talked-GOP candidate for governor. But former Parks Commissioner Robert Gable of McCreary County is pulling out the stops in seeking support.

And some older GOP stalwarts are flapping away at the whole youth movement.

Early in his term, Gov. Nunn expressed his attitude toward those who worked to elect him: "The ones who stoked the coal should get to blow the whistle."
.....

Hunting & Fishing

Seasons for hunting waterfowl in Kentucky have not yet been set by the Department of Interior and the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, but already many hunters are wondering about the hunting procedures for the thriving Ballard County Wildlife Management Area.

The area, quite naturally in Ballard county and comprising about 8000 acres, was first opened to the hunting of waterfowl in 1957. Since then it has steadily grown in popularity among wildfowlers. Last year was the best yet from the standpoint of harvested geese. A total of 2538 geese was taken by 3738 hunters during the season.

Because of the great interest in hunting on that area, the Department has been forced to strengthen its regulations governing the hunt and in alloting hunting dates and times. So no one will miss out on the means for obtaining permits to hunt on the waterfowlrich area the following procedure has been established for hunters this year:

Hunters must make application by letter postmarked no earlier than Sept. 1, 1970. The letter must contain all names in the hunting party, along with addresses and first choice for hunting dates, and alternate hunting dates. The hunting fee ($3 per day per hunter, or $9 per pit) must be enclosed. Reservations will be assigned as they are received on a first come, first served basis and hunters will receive confirmation by return mail.

Should a hunter holding a confirmed reservation be unable to fulfill his engagement, another person may be substituted in his place, provided that person has not in the current season hunted on the area as much as 10 days.

Persons making application should remember that opening day, Saturday and holidays are in greatest demand and it would be wise for a person to seek other dates, if possible. Also, as usual, there will be no Sunday or Christmas hunting. Shooting will end at 12 o'clock noon throughout the season.

If open dates should occur anytime during the season they will be advertised as far in advance as possible. To

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Roy Martin

Victory vs. defeat. Victory is not always commendable. And surely, defeat need not be disgraceful. Inhuman experience, there are levels in both victory and defeat. For example, when we see a bewildered man defeated because he lacked the courage to win, we pity his pathetic picture. But, when we see a courageous man going down in defeat after trying his best to win, we glory him in defeat. At times it can even be a tragic defeat. This is especially true if a principle of justice, integrity, fair play or personal honor is involved.

None of us can win every time. How we lose is often more important than how we win. To succumb or be subdued because we lack the courage for the struggle to win is the only time disgrace can be linked to defeat. Actually, it is possible to win when one loses..

He Can Cost You Money

Just a reminder that since the City Council of Mt. Vernon passed an ordinance recently raising the overtime parking fine from 25¢ to $1.00, this villain can cost you money if you stay longer than your penny or nickels worth.

fill-in on open hunting dates, persons who have hunted more than 10 days will be considered but preference will be given to those who have hunted 10 days or less.

Letters of application which are postmarked before Sept. 1, will be returned to the sender unopened. Requests for reservations will not be made by telephone or in person, and no refunds will be made unless canceled in writing seven days prior to the hunting date assigned.

Mail the letter of application to: Ballard

County Wildlife Management Area, Route 1, La. Center, Ky. 42056.

If accepted, here's what to expect once you arrive at the headquarters building. Guns will be checked upon arrival at the building at 5 a.m., after which hunters will be allowed to enter the check station. Permits and hunting licenses will be retained. Hunters will draw for the pit from which they will shoot and will then be transported to the assigned pit. After returning from the hunt, game will be checked at the station and licenses will be returned to hunters.

Other random notes:

Each goose hunter will be limited to eight shells no more than three persons may occupy a pit; those under 18 years of age must be accompanied by an adult; duck shooting is barred on the goose hunting area; a shooting, except from a pit, is prohibited; and a hunter is barred from leaving the pit except to retrieve a kill.

Other minor rules have been issued, but here is a general statement of fact which every hunter should know: Destruction of blinds, wearing of highly colored or white clothing, and shooting at high flying birds are a few of the activities that spoil hunting for yourself and for other hunters. Good sportsmanship is a prerequisite for good waterfowl hunting.

Pollution Abatement Practices Approved

Pollution abatement practices have been approved for use on farms in 33 States, Jack Welch, Chairman of the Kentucky Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today. Four additional states have requests still pending. Farmers have traditionally received cost-sharing on soil and water conservation measures, and specific pollution abatement practices were added when Congress authorized the 1970 Agricultural Conservation Program. Mr. Welch said, "The need for pollution abatement practices has long been recognized by farm leaders." Mr. Welch said. Approval of these practices is in keeping with the current emphasis on improvement of the quality of our environment, he added.

Throughout the Nation, 82 pollution abatement practices are now authorized. All were originally recommended by State or County ACP Development Groups as those needed in specific areas. Nationally, most of the practices involve disposal of farm wastes. These include farm feed lot runoff control, reduction of pollution of water supplies by farm waste materials, control of sedimentation, and measures to reduce residual effects of pesticides and fertilizers. Measures eligible for cost-sharing include the construction of livestock sewage lagoons, disposal systems, basins, dams, pits, and waterways.

Pollution abatement practices must have some soil and water conservation benefits, Mr. Welch said. These practices have been approved for Kentucky, he said. Kentucky has received approval for cost-sharing under ACP on the following pollution abatement practices:

1-1 Reducing Pollution of Water Caused by Farm Wastes. Livestock sewage lagoons.

All of these practices, like others under ACP, must be approved by the County ASC Committee, Mr. Welch said. Farmers who are interested in the program should indicate to the County ASC Office.

Don't eat "like a lady." A government survey pointed an accusing finger at the fair sex, saying that women, 35 and over, generally are the worst offenders where selection of a good diet is concerned.

The same government report called attention to a "hidden hunger" for calcium in millions of American diets, and went on to say: "As most everyone knows, milk is the best source of calcium in our food supply...."

"To help you achieve your calcium need, nutritionists recommend that children drink three or more 8-ounce glasses of milk each day; teenagers and pregnant and lactating women, four or more glasses; and adults, two or more glasses, daily, or its equivalent in other dairy foods."

ASC Comm. Nominations Now Being Held

Rockcastle County farmers are having the opportunity to nominate petition candidates for ASC community committee posts.

The nominating period began July 28 and will close August 17. "This year we hope to have in Rockcastle County will nominate by petition full slates for all five communities. A full slate means a minimum of six candidates to choose from in electing a community committee of three members and two alternates," Shellie Mullins, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said.

All ASC community committees are elected annually. The newly-elected community committeemen will convene shortly after their September election to elect one new ASC County Committee member and two alternates. County Committee members serve three-year terms, with one new member elected each year. Alternates are elected annually.

Mr. Mullins explained that the County ASC Committee administers agricultural programs such as marketing quotas and acreage allotments, price-support loans and purchases, conservation cost-sharing, and other farm action programs at the county level, dealing directly with producers. Community committees not only elect County Committee members and alternates, but also help the County Committee administer these programs. "There's no red tape tied up in nominating a community committee

ramblings... School Calendar Told

Saw a sign advertising Bitter Sweet for sale Sunday. Can you imagine that it is that time of year again? School begins the last of August and before you know it you'll have to be filling up your tanks for winter heat.

Oh well, things would get rather dull if the weather was constant but it would be nice if things were reversed and we had about 8 months of summer, a little bit of spring and fall and maybe a week of snow right at Christmas.

We were in Florida this month, sporting off of friends and relatives, and the first couple of days we were very sad because we only had a week to spend. But, the last two or three days were spent in discussions on whether or not to come home early. Home isn't that beautiful world. When you're there you can see all sorts of faults with it, but when you're away from it the faults seem to magically disappear.

Our moment of truth came when we had only been gone a couple of days and our youngest child started crying for her babysitter.

Since the Mt. Vernon Playground will be closing within the near future, we feel that now is an appropriate time to give a "pat on the back" to this year's Playground Director Paul Thomason.

Mr. Thomason, we feel, has done an excellent job in all phases of activities held at the playground. And, we should know, since we do seem to spend a good deal of our time during the summer at the playground.

Might as well use this means to dispose of ten one-half German Shepherd puppies. The other half of their ancestry is in doubt but there are eight males and two females so if you're interested, just let us know. Please.

Have you ever realized how dull things are around here unless you, the readers, help to keep us informed? Those visitors you had last week end, the engagement or wedding which just occurred in your family, family reunions, all these things are important to us and to our readers. So, how about it. A simple call to 256-2244 would help us to present a more complete picture of activities in Rockcastle County.

September 7 (Labor Day) will be observed as a holiday. The next break will be September 25 for CKEA. The second in-service day will be held November 25.

The Thanksgiving holiday will be observed on Thursday, November 26, and Christmas vacation will begin at the end of classes on December 22 and end with students back to school on January 4, 1971.

The calendar committee voted to take March 18 and 19 off for the state basketball tournament and instead of a full week off for KEA the committee voted to teach on Monday and Tuesday of April 14, 15, and 16 off for KEA.

Next to the last day of school, May 19, will be a professional day with teachers working on records and reports. Students will have this day off and school will close on May 20 unless severe days have to be missed because of inclement weather. However, if the

Capital Digest

The State Department of Revenue is preparing the rules under which Kentucky's first legal bingo games will be conducted; Under the licensing law passed by the 1970 General Assembly, bingo games cannot begin until regulations are approved by James E. Luckert, commissioner of Revenue.

The law provides that the games must be played for charitable, non-profit organizations.

A recent special election in Newport on the question of conducted legalized, charity bingo brought the vote of: 2223 yes; 525 no. The approximate $6000 cost of holding the election was paid by bingo advocates.

A taxpayer's suit filed by Samuel Kosofsky, challenging the constitutionality of the bingo law, is being studied by Campbell Circuit Judge Paul Stapleton. Several attempts to enjoin the holding of the election were rejected by the courts, including the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

GOV. NUNN PROPOSES CREATIVE PARTNERSHIP IN NEW FEDERALISM
The national administration realizes the need for "total development" to replace poverty with progress, Governor Nunn told the Midwestern Governors' Conference at Columbus, Ohio. He proposed a creative state-federal partnership to give the states greater responsibility in operating joint programs. Community Action agencies, the Governor said, "should not attempt to solve all the problems of the poor or expect to become the master planner and coordinator of all social programs in the community."

"Rather, their programs must serve the larger purpose of stimulating broader community effort," Nunn asserted. "They must emphasize full utilization of all resources--state, local and private--for the betterment of all. Above all, they must stimulate the willingness and ability of the poor to be involved in determining their own destiny..."

"This points to a greater realization of the advantages of a federal-state and private partnership for development."

PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT OFFICE HAS AUTHORITY FOR STATE-WIDE PLANNING

The Kentucky Program Development Office under a law passed by the 1970 General Assembly, to conduct comprehensive statewide planning, including water and sewage projects, the state attorney general's office has ruled. Asst. Atty. Gen. Walter C. Herdman sent the ruling to KIPDO Administrator Frank J. Groschelle, who pointed out that the law does not affect the rights of local agencies to do their own planning.

Social Security News

There is a great deal of misunderstanding about nursing home payments under Medicare, reports James Mustian, Manager of the Somerset Social Security Office. Only limited coverage for full-time skilled nursing care and other health services provided in the nursing home can be paid for under Medicare. Many people believe that the law pays up to a hundred days of nursing home services under any circumstances. This is not true.

Congress said that only a certain kind of nursing home care would be paid for under Medicare. This is the type in which the patient's condition, upon release from a hospital, requires him to be in an institution for the primary purpose of receiving skilled nursing services on a continuing basis.

A nursing home that qualifies to give this service is called an "Extended Care Facility." Services in such a facility are really an extension of a kind of service he was receiving in the hospital for his injury or illness.

Some patients who apply for care at skilled nursing homes after hospitalization may find that Medicare will not pay for their care because it is not of a high and skilled level. Mustian says it is important that folks covered by Medicare and their families understand how this part of the law works and invites questions by telephone to his staff, telephone 678-8168.

"Taking care of electric heat simply means turning it on."

MRS. BILLY H. BRADSHAW, COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY

That's actually all you have to do. Electric heat takes care of itself, while it's taking care of you. Just set the thermostat at the temperature you want and forget it. Every room of your house will have even heat, all the time.

"You know, there are some systems that seem to have a stubborn mind of their own," says Mrs. Bradshaw. "But I control my electric heat and how warm I want my house. And I don't have to worry about repairs or check-up costs. So electric heat really is economical and worry-free. You just turn it on and relax!"

PIPPER GROWERS

You may have reason for growing peppers is to make money. Don't lose some of it by hauling a bunch of green peppers to the market. Peppers will remain on the plants for 5 to 8 weeks before they ripen and begin to decay. It is common among new growers to rush their first harvest. Before you harvest your crop the first time, measure off 100 feet of row, the field is ready to harvest, if you can pick 1/2 bushel or more of red-ripe peppers from this 100 feet of row. If you pick less than 1/2 bushel, wait another week before harvesting.

We hope you gave careful thought to laying out your field before it was planted. Much of the labor of harvesting can be saved by working out a plan. Carry baskets, buckets, or whatever containers you are using to pick in, to the centers of the rows and pick toward the end of the row or toward a haul road. Under average conditions, 150 feet of row should yield one bushel of peppers. This information should assist you in locating haul roads and distributing containers so they will be most convenient for harvesting.

Frequently a picker will harvest a pepper which appears to be ripe, but after it is picked, he discovers it is partly green. The pepper may be placed under the plant where it will be shaded and then picked up the following week as the field is being harvested. It may also be stored in a barn, crib, or other suitable storage out of direct sunlight and then delivered to the market the following week, but do not place them in a refrigerator.

Do not put peppers which show decay in your baskets. However, peppers which have sunscald but are sound otherwise can be sold. If peppers are left on the plant too long, they lose moisture and shrivel, but this does not hurt their sale as long as they are still sound.

You are almost ready to start selling peppers from those plants you set out three months ago. Don't let insects and disease rob you now. Keep them under control by continuing to spray or dust.

CHIGGERS

Mullins, Mullins and George Sims; thence up the branch to a white walnut thence with the road to the beginning, containing 50 acres more or less. Tract No. 4 - Parcel No. 4 - Beginning at four maples on top of a ridge; thence running east a straight line to the fence and with the wire fence to a stone; thence a straight line running north to a white oak in Taylor Griffin's and Luther Vanzant's line thence with said Griffin and Vanzant line a west course to a corner in Ben Barnett's line to the beginning corner, and containing twenty-five (25) acres more or less.

All of the mineral rights in and under the above described real property is reserved and not conveyed in this conveyance. The second party is to have the right and privilege of the spring located near this property. Tract No. 5 - Beginning at a poplar corner, corner of Dola Rader and Taylor Griffin thence southeast following the Dola Rader and Taylor Griffin; thence southeast following the Dola Rader and Taylor Griffin line to the gravel road; thence following the road, northwest to Dola Rader and Taylor Griffin line; thence with Dola Rader and Taylor Griffin line back to the beginning corner and containing one-half acre more or less.

Master Commissioner, Rockcastle Circuit Court

naturalists beware! The chigger or redbug season is here. Survey shows 20% more belt line scratching this week than last. Places to avoid include: berry patches, orchards, wooded areas, meadows, lakes, lawns, parks, and golf courses - might as well be in jail as to stay away from those places. So here is the thing to do. Use repellents such as Ofe or 612 or 622. Pour repellent on hands, rub them together then rub lightly these areas: arms and legs if they are not covered by clothing, socks and stockings, especially the elastic bands, and waistbands of shirts, trousers and shorts. This treatment should give effective chigger control for several hours. Another suggestion is to take a good hot soapy bath or shower as soon as you return home; this will wash chiggers from your hair follicles or pores before they can insert their mouth parts to the skin.

The pain and itching is apparently caused by the chigger's mouth parts which pierce the skin to dissolve the tissue upon which it feeds. To determine if chiggers are present you might place a piece of black cardboard edge-wise on the ground. Observe it for a few minutes. If chiggers are present, they will climb to the top edge and congregate there. Make the test in about a dozen spots over the area. Pick out spots that have different kinds of cover, such as solid growth of grass, tufts of grass, dead leaves, and decaying twigs. Remember, you are a chigger hunter; you should be protected by a repellent.

If you were missed by the chiggers watch for the fleas. July seems to be the flea month and returning vacationers are sometimes met at the door by sudden-looking frantically for a free meal - you. As long as Felis and Canis are in the house, fleas are not much of a problem, it seems. Larvae are often present in pet sleeping quarters and during July they will change to adults. Unless a cat or dog is circulating around the area the fleas will take to the road and inhabit other areas of the house. What can we do? Dusting the animal about every 2 weeks with lindane, methoxychlor, or malathion should solve the problem. Read labels carefully. For the lucky returning vacationers try this. Let Felis and Canis run through all the rooms in the house a dozen times. Most of the fleas should have found their happy home by that time, then use dust treatment.
