Blood Drive is June 20th

Did you know that nearly everyone of us will need a blood transfusion some time in our lifetime? It's true. Thousands of hospital patients across central and eastern Kentucky need blood each day. It could be to survive a car accident or some other traumatic injury. Maybe the blood is needed for cancer or burn treatments or for a delicate heart or liver transplant.

Arsonists set fire to Hardees

On Sunday afternoon Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and Brindle Ridge firefighters were called to Hardee's Restaurant at Renfro Valley.

Mt. Vernon Fire Chief Garry Hansel said three young men came into the restaurant and were acting "bad" and told employees if they did not get service soon they would be sorry.

Hansel said the three apparently went into the men's bathroom, punched a hole in the ceiling, stuffed paper towels in the hole and set them on fire.

Mt. Vernon Fire Department Public Affairs Officer Steve Griffin said the manager of the restaurant said that she thought she smelled plastic burning and sent a maintenance employee to examine unattended areas of the building. When he opened the door to the men's restroom it was full of smoke.

Mt. Vernon fire fighter Brian Hansel, who was one of the first on the scene, said smoke was Firefighters managed to get the trucks out of the fire house on Saturday after extinguishing the blaze with fire extinguishers and the use of an army truck the fire department uses for forest fires. Damage just on the building was estimated at $45,000.

Stallsworth is again water superintendent at Livingston

Sam Stallsworth has been hired as the new water superintendent at Livingston, replacing Danny Bullock who quit in May without notice.

Stallsworth, who occupied the same position before Bullock, was hired on a week-to-week basis, will still work for Clifford Collins but will maintain Livingston's system in his off hours.

Stallsworth has filed suit in federal court against the City of Livingston, over his August, 2004 dismissal, claiming he was fired after criticizing the City for not having a full-time police officer.

The suit names former Mayor J.C. Griffin, who resigned June 27, 2005 and members of the commission at the time.

City Commissioner Phillip Doan queried the commission members about Stallsworth's status at a meeting of the commission Friday afternoon. "Are we supposed to be training someone to take his place?" Doan asked.

Stallsworth came to the meeting later and Doan put the question directly to him. Stallsworth told the commission that he would do the job "as long as the present commissioners are in office and you need me."

Stallsworth said that, so far, only three of the 11 water customers who had not paid their bill on time, had been disconnected. Seven of the past due customers paid and Stallsworth was scheduled to shut off a fourth customer, after the meeting. If a customer's water service is disconnected, it will be reconnected within 24 hours after the bill is paid.

Stallsworth also reported that due to repairs to the city's water plant equipment, the system was now running only 25 gallons a minute as compared to 50-60 gallons a minute before.

Commissioner Carpenter told the commission members that she had called a Wood Creek Water District official after reading a story in an issue of the Lexington Herald-Leader that quoted a Wood Creek official as saying that the city was still $4,000 in arrears after making a $10,000 payment follow-

Livingston fire station burns on Saturday

By: Richard Anderkin

This past weekend was a hot one in more ways than just the 90 degree temperature.

On Saturday, Livingston firefighters were called to a fire at one of their own fire stations, located on Main Street, after a deep fryer shorted out.

The call came from an anonymous caller who told 911 the fire was coming out the front of the building. The deep fryer was located near the front of the metal structure.

The fire department and Ladies Auxiliary had a fish fry planned for the afternoon and evening and had plugged up the deep fryer which apparently shorted out causing the grease in the fryer to catch on fire.

No one was in the fire station at the time of the fire which firefighters responded to at 7:41 a.m.

Livingston Fire Chief Sam Stallsworth said his volunteer fire department extinguished the blaze with the use of an army truck which was inside the other fire station, located across from the station which caught fire. The department uses the army tanker to fight forest fires. "We also used fire extinguishers, which were in vehicles of some of our volunteers," he said on Monday.

Stallsworth estimated the damage to the structure at $45,000, which did not include the equipment inside the fire station. "Our breathing apparatuses were inside the building and they don't give that kind of equipment away. It will be several days before we know just what kind of dollar figure we can put on the total damage," he said.

Firefighters managed to get all three fire trucks out of the building, after the blaze was knocked down and immediately began cleaning the trucks which had smoke damage and debris from the fallen ceiling on them.

"Our main goal was to make sure we could use the trucks if something else happened in our fire fighting district," he said.

Two of the trucks are currently being housed in the old fire station and Stallsworth said he had one at his home. There was no insurance on the building.

250 attend meeting for new Hwy. 150

By: Richard Anderkin

Over 250 people attended a Right of Way plan showing for the relocation of Hwy. 150, between Brodhead and the intersection of Hwy. 461, at Mt. Vernon on Tuesday night.

Highway Department employee Kim Shoemaker said that of the 115 parcels that will be appraised and bought for the new road, 95 percent of the landowners came to the meeting to discuss the land acquisitions.

"That was the best turnout we have ever had at our informational meetings," she said.

Landowners, and the general public, were told that when right of way plans have been developed to a point of determina-

Benny Anglin celebrated his 109th birthday on Friday, May 26th. He was born May 27, 1897. Many of his family and friends attended this memorial event. It's very interesting listening to Benny tell stories of his life and the changes of the last century.

Rockcastle Memories

By David J. Griffin

My recent reminiscing about my grandfather and the local hardware store in my hometown prompted me to take a literal "walk down memory lane." Last week, I decided to spend an afternoon visiting the 100-year-old business, which is now a piece of Mt. Vernon history. The site of the visit was Cox Hardware, where I remember spending time with my grandfather while warming around the pot bellied stove. The business was owned at the time by John Cox. I discovered that I was not fully prepared for the rush of memories that followed.

Walking through the front door, I was immediately overwhelmed with the familiarity of the antique tools, photographs, signs, and commemorative items attached to the walls. I was greeted by a friend who was one of my closest during high school, Marty Cox, who now owns the historic shop with her husband, Jimmy Cox. After a warm hug and a brief stroll around the store, we settled down to chat by the familiar stove that I had shared with Pop.

While we were reminiscing, I could not keep from focusing on the nostalgic decor all around. An old, wooden, crank phone hung on the wall with a 1960 phone book on a string by its side. I had to get up to see if I could find my grandfather's number. Sure enough, there it was: Eugene Stokes - 256-2229! I had used that number for years upon years as I grew up in my old home place.

After a short time, Marty moved to the counter to wait on a customer. While she was busy, I walked around the room looking at all of the gadgets and equipment lining the shelves and walls. I found a wooden record player with a 78 rpm record on the turntable. Marty noticed me looking at it and said, "David Joe, it still works!"

In another counter I found a large collection of Case knives. (I had to restrain myself from reaching for my wallet to make a purchase.) Next time, I may have to buy one for my collection - especially since my first knife came from this same store 54 years ago. I also found a spade that I need because I recently broke the one that I have. The price was $7.95. That is not a misprint.

When the customer had finished shopping and Marty had returned to sit and chat, another great friend of mine appeared. Her name is Shirley. It was almost like returning to high school. As we talked about our days together growing up, memories of my youth came rushing back.

About that time, a lady walked into the store and Shirley started to introduce the two of us. Before she could do so, I greeted the newcomer, "Hello Nancy." Marty commented that Nancy was from Broadhead, so how would I know her? Nancy said, "David Joe and I used to ride around in his '58 Chevy." The Mt. Vernon girls were more than surprised to learn that my cruising days

Points East

By Ike Adams

The Uncle's theme has been so popular over the last couple of weeks that it seems only prudent to dwell thereon. I've had more email and/or phone calls as a result of my recollection of Uncle Jim and Uncle Willie that it seems a shame to stop now.

I've written about Uncle Stevie Craft many times over the years. He was more like a Grandfather than an Uncle to me. He married my Mom's older sister, Nan, and their kids pretty much grew up with Mom. They were my cousins but they always treated me more like aunts and uncles.

Vada Craft Caudill, widow of Buford Caudill as in the fall beans that I named for him 20 years or so ago, is Uncle Stevie's and Aunt Nan's daughter. Vada, who is still very much alive, still lives on Blair Branch and we won't talk about age here. Suffice to say her oldest daughter is one year younger than me.

My three brothers and I grew up with Buford and Vada's three sons and two daughters on an almost parallel age scale and we were mostly in the same grades throughout elementary and high school.

Uncle Stevie was their grandfather and they called him Papaw or Pop but he was always Stevie to me.

He had a disability from the Spanish American War that he would never talk about.

I'm not sure what the war did to him---just that it was not a subject of discussion and that he never kept much Army memorabilia hanging around.

Uncle Stevie was a man of the woods. Not only that but he was the consummate vegetable gardener. He kept chickens and hogs and for many years into my early teens, a milk cow. During my youth I would plow his acre+ garden with a bull tongue plow pulled behind old Dock, our big Percheron work horse. It was supposed to be a family-helping-family deal but Uncle Stevie would slip me five bucks which would be like having 50 now.

I bought my first shotgun from Albert Dean Blair when I was in like seventh grade---a model 37, 16 gauge Winchester single shot after pooling my Grit Newspaper profits with a generous contribution from Uncle Stevie. It was such a pretty thing and, as I recall he charged me 20 dollars for it. Uncle Stevie told me that if I'd offered Albert Dean fifteen dollars and waited a day or two and walked by his house counting my money every once in awhile, I could have saved five dollars on that gun.

"Them Blairs' eyes will light up if you wame some money in front of them", he'd say.

But it was in the woods that Uncle Stevie taught me so much. How to recognize ginseng and yellow root (Goldenseal) May Apple, wild ginger, yarrow, shawnee lettuce, snakeroot and on and on. How to recognize every tree in the forest and what they were good for.

How to tell if the hickory hulls had been chewed by squirrels this morning or last night. How to thump gently on your chest and make a grouse fly into shooting range.

How to squint your left cheek to sauack and talk like a squirrel or suck the back of your wrist just right and imitate a wood duck.

How to go on the steep mountainside and grow a new ground planting of cornfield beans under the timber and pack out 50 pound sacks of perfect string beans in July.

How to place a Prince Albert tobacco can more than a hundred yards from a ground hog's hole, and sight your gun in until you could hit the Prince in the head and then lie still as death back in the poplars. How to hit that whistle pig between the eyes at ten times the normal range for a .22 and think nothing of the accomplishment.

He was much much more than that, was my Uncle Stevie Craft and I should be working on a book.

In the meantime, I still call owls the way Uncle Stevie taught me.

They even answer in Wind Gap from time to time.

T.J.'s Journal

by: Tonya J. Cook

Dear Journal,

It was complete, except for the pillow fight. Six girlfriends from my church and myself had stayed a long weekend at the Marriott in Columbus, Ohio. Four of us had traveled together and the other three met us there. We all arrived Friday in the mid-afternoon and stayed until Monday morning. We were attending a church conference that lasted Saturday and Sunday. Churches from five states had been invited.

We were located about midway up the hotel on the fourth floor. We had adjoining rooms with a door that opened between the rooms without having to go out in the hallway in order to visit back and forth. Most of the conference was to be held in one of the conference rooms at the Marriott so it made everything quite convenient. We wouldn't have even had to leave the hotel if we didn't want, as within its nine floors it held about anything you would need.

We all had met in the lobby and got on the elevator together to go to our rooms. Other than ourselves, two half-drunken gentlemen also got on board and after the elevator door closed, introduced themselves and invited the lot of us to "a helluva party" they were throwing on the fifth floor. Much to their amazement, we all declined their most generous offer.

Shortly, two or three of our entourage went down to get their luggage from their cars. They were propositioned on the way back. By this time we were beginning to wonder what kind of an establishment this was. This was, after all, a Marriott Resort Hotel with rooms at one hundred thirty dollars a night.

I've decided that there are trashy, sleazy men at all levels of the spectrum and you can run into them just about anywhere. I tend to believe, however, that there are a few gentlemen still left, at least here in Kentucky. I don't believe most of the men living locally would have been so crass with perfect strangers.

My friends and I were all dressed in good-quality pants outfits, comfortable and leisurely, and modest by any standard. Our conduct was most appropriate for middle-aged ladies who were mostly wives and mothers traveling to a religious conference. Yet, we were insulted like were a bunch of hot-pants honeys standing on a street corner in the "red light district." It's been only a few years back, such as in my mother's day, if men had been so rude they would have been wearing wrung jaws complete with a big handprint. I think that some men have been watching too much of the Desperate Housewives. Most housewives aren't that desperate.

We had some really good meals while in Columbus. We went to a couple of nice steakhouses, the Olive Garden, a couple of burger joints, the café at the hotel, and the Waffle House for breakfast.

The conference was a success. We enjoyed several nice and inspirational sermons. The special music was so wonderful. One song in particular even brought tears to the eyes of grown men. The local brethren managed to get better acquainted, and we even met several new brethren from the five states that had been invited. We all look forward to the next opportunity.

Taking the Kids: Good News for Area Foster Placements

I recently heard a former South Carolina judge comparing the displacement of American children from their own homes into foster placements with the mass exodus of New Orleans' residents in the wake of Hurricane Katrina. At first glance, this didn't seem much of an analogy. But on closer examination, the comparison invokes some startling and disturbing similarities.

Approximately 500,000 people were forced out of their homes by Katrina. About the same number-one-half a million-children are removed annually from their parents' care. Most of these children are placed in foster care. To a child, the prospect of being ripped from a parent's arms and placed in an unfamiliar setting with complete strangers may be even more traumatic than the experience of a complete family unit being forced to reside in an emergency shelter or temporary housing. At the very least, a displaced family has each other for emotional support.

Not so for a small child suddenly thrust into a stranger's home. The tragic consequences of Katrina have been well documented and are easily understood. The effects of foster placement on American youth and the economic impact on society are not so easily recognized. The direct non-economic impact on foster children relates to the stress of being placed into unfamiliar surroundings, sometimes in a culturally different environment, and the continuing uncertainty of knowing the future. The economic costs of foster placement on taxpayers related to the forced removal of children alleged to be dependent, neglected or abused are tremendous. A recent study indicates that the costs of a single foster placement in Kentucky for a thirty day period exceeds $50,000.00. Of course, Cruising is dangerous....

Dear Editor,

I write regarding cruising, public safety in Mt. Vernon and the owner of a small black pickup with license plate 7176-PV.

As I expect everyone knows, circling around town in motor vehicles, or cruising, is a common activity in Mt. Vernon. Much of the time, this involves repeated trips between the tobacco store on U.S. 25 North and NAPA Auto Parts, past the courthouse.

Unfortunately, most of the time, this also seems to involve hurriedly pulling into these establishments, often in groups of 3 or more cars, then quickly circling around and pulling back out into traffic. I can recall numerous times when such vehicles have pulled out in front of me. Often I think, 'okay, there is no way this next cruiser is going to pull out in front of me.' Then not only does one cruiser pull out right in front of me, but so does a second.

In the past, I had the misfortune to be coming into town down the steep hill near NAPA Auto Parts. Not only did the cruiser in the small black pickup, license plate 7176-PV, pull across the road into NAPA in front of me, but he also immediately pulled back out.

If the opposing lane had not been clear, I am sure a major accident would have resulted. Fortunately, I was able to get around him in the opposing lane as he sped up. And, of course, he didn't think of apologizing or taking responsibility for his actions, even though he nearly killed us both. Does this young man have parents?

I am not opposed to cruisers having a good time or circling around town. But only if they do it responsibly and safely.

Irresponsible driving from cruisers is not uncommon. It should be cracked down on. I strongly urge the Mt. Vernon Town Council to stop this type of activity. It is a matter of public safety.

Sincerely,
Michael Sheliga

Are you "Born Again?"...

Dear Editor,

If you have been "born again" then you have begun developing your own personal relationship with the Lord. We live it in the way that He leads us and guides us. Sometimes it takes us a little longer to give up those things which the Lord is convicting us of. I know, 'cause I've been there. And I've found it a much more enjoyable experience when I finally do give up those things. I see the convictions of others and my own as well and I find that sometimes my convictions are for me alone. I believe the Bible

- it clearly says in Philippians 2:12 to "work out your own salvation with fear and trembling." Now, don't get me wrong - sin is sin - but I am talking only about personal convictions. Convictions are the Lord's way of cleaning out His temple. They are not always easy or what we consider needful, but the Lord has need of us and we should remember just where our help comes from.

We all have our mentors, those who have been in the service of the Lord for many long years and who have the wisdom to help us with our daily walk. These folks are the true Pilgrims of our time. They have seen where the church was and where it is now. They are the brothers and sisters who sit on the front pews and "Amen" the preacher and whose tears have stained the altars down through the years. They are the preachers and teachers who do not back down from the Word of God no matter the size or stature of the congregation. They are always the first ones to be right there beside a man, woman, boy or girl who has just given their lives to the Lord at an altar of repentance. They are the prayer warriors who continually seek the face of God. Church, what will we do when these old saints of God are gone on to their reward and we are left to carry on what they have been so diligently built. Sometimes I wonder if I am doing enough. Am I doing all that I can to tell people about the love and forgiveness of the Lord? Am I being enough of a light to the world or am I being a light at all? It is my most sincere prayer that the Lord will continually turn my heart to the sinner first and myself last. I believe prayer is our direct line to God and it is by prayer that we find divine intervention in our lives. I'm afraid that if we do not stay prayed up, trials may come come our way that we will not be prepared to face. Luke 18:1 teaches us "that men ought always to pray and not to faint" and I Thessalonians 5:17 says "Pray without ceasing."

I believe in fellowship and I believe in God's people. We may not all go to the same church or have the same name hanging over the door but when we have had that "born again" experience we are all of His church. Ephesians 5:27 says "That he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish." I believe this is a journey that we must take and though we may not all drive the same cars or eat the same foods or stay in the same hotels along the way, I believe that we will all get there if we stay on the right road, keep gas in our cars and have our destination continually in view. Our destination being Heaven, our gasoline being prayer and the road being straight and narrow.

I haven't made it to Heaven yet. I am still working out my own salvation. Therefore, I believe that there is still a lot of work left to do. And I believe that holiness is the way of the Lord (1 Thessalonians 4:7 "For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness"). Holiness to me is not a name over the door, it's a way of life. We need to live holy and sanctified, loving our brother/sisters and, yes, loving our enemy. As Jesus died on the cross of Calvary, He asked God to "Forgive them; for they know not what they do." Forgiveness is the key to our salvation, for without it we would all be lost. You see, one simple prayer separated us from the world and one Savior came as a simple man to forgive a lost world.

God said in His Word, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." And we all know that to be in the Gospel of John 3:16-17. If that isn't enough to get us excited about our walk, then maybe we need to revisit Calvary's Cross, humble ourselves and pray a little more.

I'm in this for the long run cause anything less isn't gonna get me any closer to Heaven. I love the Lord with all my heart, all my soul and all my might. So, I say let us be fruitful (James 3:18 "And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace") for it is by our fruits that we are known.

God Bless!
Your friend in the Lord

A local politician known by the name of Buzz also dropped in. He said, "You are David Griffin, aren't you?" As I shook his hand, he told me that he reads my column each week. I even met up with a former teacher, Mrs. Durham, who came to make a purchase. We talked about our days at Mt. Vernon Baptist Church, where she was the song leader when I was young. She also expressed warm feelings about reading my memories of my childhood.

That visit to the hardware store will be one of my fondest recollections for many years. The site and the friends remain, just as they were nearly 50 years ago. As I drove back to Furnace Mountain, my mind was overflowing with the idea that those days have flown by so quickly. Time may pass, but the memories linger on.

"Bench"

for many children, foster placement is short-term, perhaps only a few days, but for many unfortunate children, temporary foster placement may involve months or even years in different foster homes.

There is, however, positive news for Kentucky children particularly in our community. We are fortunate to live in a society which has the ability to remove children from dangerous environments and to provide corrective services to alleviate the circumstance which engendered the removal. Not surprisingly these days, many--if not most--forced removals of children are related to the serious abuse of drugs by parents. In most instances, trained professionals are available to help any family alleviate the condition which prompted the removal of children. Once that problem has been corrected, the children can be safely returned. Few societies are able to provide such protection for their citizens.

Statewide, the counties of this judicial Circuit fared quite well when compared against other areas in dealing with foster children. Pulaski and Rockcastle Counties fall within the Lake Cumberland foster care area while Lincoln County is within the rural Bluegrass region. Looking at recent statistics, it is readily apparent that our communities are doing something right.

In the Lake Cumberland area, foster children spend approximately 10.6 months in foster placement before reunification with their parents or some permanent placement occurs, such as adoptions. To any child, ten months seems like an eternity and the justice system needs to move much faster to resolve these cases in a timely fashion. But, it is too much to expect that parents who are addicted to oxycontin or methamphetamine can receive effective substance abuse treatment in a much shorter period. Since the first goal of the state must always be to try to reunify a child with his or her parents, ten months is pretty impressive. Moreover, in most other regions of Kentucky, children stay in foster placements for much longer periods.

In both the Lake Cumberland and rural Bluegrass areas, social service agencies and the courts are very successful in reunifying families. Nearly 50% of all children are able to be reunited with their families following appropriate intervention. In some areas of Kentucky, reunification occurs in less than 40% of all cases.

And while the average costs of foster placements statewide exceed $50,000 for every child who stays in foster care for more than thirty days, that figure barely exceeds $30,000 in the Lake Cumberland area.

At a Circuit Court judge, I have little or no involvement in the majority of these cases. I wish I could claim some responsibility because these recent studies indicate that great strides are being made on behalf of our children. This news reflects positively on those judges who are primarily responsible for dealing with children who are abused, abandoned, neglected, or who--through no fault of their parents--are not adequately fed, cared for, or sheltered.

The courts, the underpaid and overworked social workers who deal with these frightened and fragile children, and the foster parents who provide safe, stable and nurturing temporary homes, deserve credit for making some progress in reducing the impact of forced removal upon our most valuable citizens. Much work, however, remains to be done. In the coming years, continued efforts need to be made to ensure that children are not unjustly removed from their parents, that removal occurs for the shortest possible duration, and that in those instances where parents refuse to address those behaviors which pose an actual risk of substantial harm to their children, that another permanent placement is quickly obtained.

portunity such as this when we can get together.

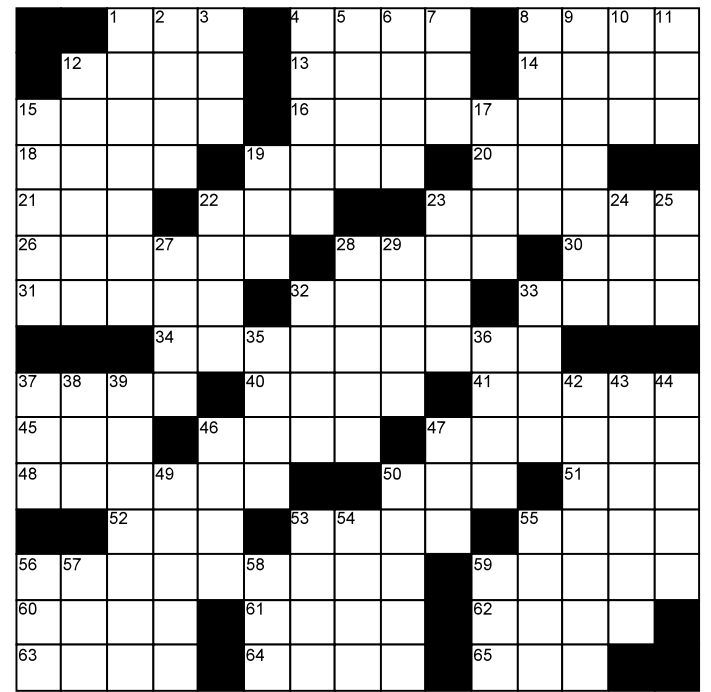

In our room, when we had settled down for the night, it reminded me of a high school sleepover. We laughed and joked, and even had some serious "girl talk." We even prayed, among other things that the party on the fifth floor would fall through to the fourth floor. There's no telling what was going on just above our heads. Had we been a little younger, the pillow fights would have broken out.

A few years ago, there was a program on the History Channel called "Haunted History." To hear them tell it, almost everything in America is haunted but the most haunted place is Columbus, Ohio. There are supposed to be hundreds of ghosts roaming the city. Why this city more than any other? Supposedly it's because they have five major cemeteries surrounding the city, and if a straight line was drawn in a particular fashion, it would form a perfect pentagram. The pentagram is the design of choice for Satan-worshippers. However, we didn't see anything out of the ordinary, at least in the supernatural sense.

Monday morning came soon enough, and it was time to go back home. It was a good trip. We sure hated to leave all of the ghosts, drunks, perverts, and parties behind.

By: Dr. Roy Don Whitehead

"After an abusive marriage, I promised myself that would never happen again, but it is!" Diane said in amazement. (All characters are fictitious.) "The last two men I've dated have both been abusive. They all seem so nice at first. How can I tell which ones are abusers?"

Over the last twelve years as a counselor at Bethany House Abuse Shelter in Somerset, I have been asked that question many times. Victims sometimes find themselves getting out of one abusive relationship and into another.

Even some very intelligent people do not know or do not see the warning signs that could alert them to the presence of an abuser.

Warning Sign #1 is jealousy. It may seem like love when he is very possessive and wants to know everything you did during the day. He may threaten another male who has talked to you or he may act hurt when you talk to your boss on the phone. That is not love; it is jealousy and it can lead to misery in an abusive relationship. What seems so "sweet" at first becomes all-encompassing as he monitors your every move and threatens to kill you if you leave.

Warning Sign #2 is his wanting to spend every moment with you. As the relationship progresses, you realize that he is so insecure that he cannot stand to be separated from you. He is afraid you will leave him if he lets you out of his sight. As with jealousy, this quickly becomes old, as you have no privacy and no life of your own.

Warning Sign #3 is his rushing the relationship along. He wants you to move in together after a month of dating or he wants to marry you after two months. Part of you is flattered by this kind of intensity and mistakes it for love. Another part of you realizes you need more time to get to know each other. Abusers seem to worry that they cannot maintain the "nice guy" facade for long so they must move quickly. Marrying him or moving in with him increases his control over you.

Warning Sign #4 is his temper. One victim told me that he never was angry at her (until they were married), but she had seen him beat the dashboard in anger at other drivers and challenge someone to a fight over a trivial incident. His temper may turn on you once you reside inside his house.

Warning Sign #5 is his attempt to control you. "I like you better with short hair," he says, and you get your hair cut. "Don't wear any makeup," he says, "you look pretty without it." Or he may say, "Don't you think that dress is a little too short?" What begins as a subtle suggestion escalates into full-fledged control, as he tells you what to wear, how to cut your hair, where to go and whether or not you can get a job.

Warning Sign #6 is his isolating you from other people. "I want it to be just us," he says, "so let's don't take your kids." He may discourage you from having friends or visiting your family. As the relationship intensifies, he will throw a fit or a lamp if you visit your mother, or he will cuss you for having lunch with a girlfriend. The control comes slowly, but it comes.

Warning Sign #7 is that, while you are madly in love, everybody else thinks he is bad for you. Other people can often see the abuse/control before you can. Listen carefully to what family and friends tell you. Do not accept their advice uncritically, but, if they are nearly unanimous in their disapproval, they probably see something that you do not. If they are not telling you anything, ask them for an opinion. Friends and family will sometimes say nothing because they do not want to say something negative about him. It is better to hear the negative before the wedding than six months after when the abuse has already begun.

Homemakers Club to meet June 19th

The Quail Homemakers Club members will be meeting June 19th at the home of Geraldine Robbins at 7 p.m. There will not be a meeting in July but the annual picnic will be held at the Quail Park August 21st. Visitors are always welcome to attend the meetings.

"What Saith The Scriptures"

Notice, Jesus desires and prayed for his followers to the one. "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word. That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me." John 17:20-21. Paul commanded unity and oneness in I Cor. 1:10. So, no doubt about it, God wants us to be one! Now, Paul gave us the attitudes necessary for unity in Eph. 4:1-3, "I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called. With all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace." Without these attitudes, we will never be one. Then Paul states the platform for unity in Eph.4:4-6, "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all." Without this platform that Jesus gave for us to stand together upon, we will never be one. When Jesus is exalted the absolute Monarch and King; men unite together. You see, Jesus is trying to make us one, but man keeps hindering Jesus, by promoting human teachings, human doctrines; by denying what he taught.

Brodhead Water Works
Water Quality Report
PWSID # 1020889

We are very pleased to provide you with this year's Annual Water Quality Report. We want to keep you informed about the quality of our water and services we have delivered to you over the past year. Our goal is and always has been, to provide to you a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make continually to improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water remains at the highest level and the lowest price as we meet the needs of our community. Our water source is purchased water from the City of Mt. Vernon. The City's raw water source is surface water from Lake Linville located at Renfro Valley, Kentucky.

The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or human activity. Contaminants that may be present in source water include microbial contaminants, inorganic contaminants, pesticides and herbicides, organic chemical contaminants, and radioactive contaminants. In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems.

Water Supply Plan:

Our water is produced by Mount Vernon Water Works. Mount Vernon Water Works is located at Renfro Valley, Kentucky. Our supplier treats surface water sources. The source water assessment has been completed for our supplier and indications are that susceptibility to contamination is generally moderate. Areas of concern are agricultural activities, failing septic systems, highways and railroads. The use of pesticides and herbicides and the potential for chemical spills pose a threat to the water source. The complete source water assessment can be reviewed at Mount Vernon Water Works.

The Brodhead Water Works routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. The table enclosed within shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 2005.

Definitions & Terms:

Non-Detect (ND) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.

Parts per million (ppm) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Action Level (AL) - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - a measure of the clarity of water. We monitor for turbidity because it is a good indicator of the effectiveness of our filtration system.

Treatment Technique (TT) - a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Picocuries per liter (pCi/L) a measure of the radioactivity in water.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL) - The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water.

There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.

Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG) - The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.

The data presented in this report are from the most recent testing done in accordance with administrative regulations in 401 KAR Chapter 8. As authorized and approved by EPA, the Kentucky Division of Water has reduced monitoring requirements for certain contaminants to less often than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. Some of the data in this table, though representative, may be more than year old.

| | Allowable Levels | Highest Single Measurement | Lowest Monthly % | Violation Y/N | Likely Source |
|----------------------|--|----------------------------|------------------|---------------|---------------|
| Turbidity (NTU) (TT) | Less than 0.3 NTU 95% of samples each month. | 0.3 | 99% | N | Soil runoff |

Maximum Contaminant Levels (MCL):

MCL's are set at very stringent levels. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated contaminants, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population.

Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

If you have any questions about this report or concerning your water utility, please contact Becky Bussell at (606) 758-8635. We want our valued customers to be informed about their water utility. tion, an attorney will be assigned to the project for the purpose of providing the Department a title abstract of each property's title.

They were also told that businesses or farm operations are entitled to receive payments for actual reasonable moving expenses plus qualified reestablishing expenses up to $10,000. They were also told that, under certain circumstances, the businesses and farm operators may be eligible to receive a payment of not less than $1,000 nor more than $20,000 in lieu of moving expenses.

They also told heads of non-profit organizations that they are entitled to $10,000 for actual moving expenses and may also be eligible for a lump sum payments.

Owners of homes, who have been owners for at least six months, are eligible for as much as $22,500 for moving expenses and renters of rental property are eligible for $5,250 in moving expenses.

However all transportation employees at the meeting, which was held at Mareburg Baptist Church, pointed out that there were no guarantees of the amount of money that an individual land owner would receive.

Officials said that after right-of-way acquisition, 90 days would be given to landowners to move or re-locate and, before they are required to move, the state will give them a 30 day notice as to the exact date they must be gone.

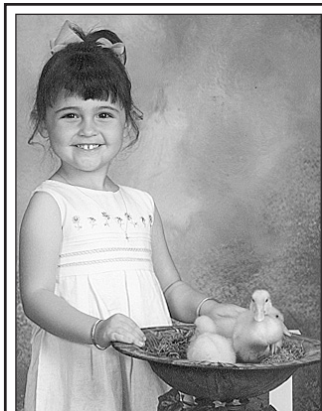

Project manager Joe Cox said the buying of the right-of-ways would probably begin this winter and construction on the approximately six miles of new Hwy. 150 would likely begin in the summer of 2008.

The cost of the right-of-way purchases is estimated at $7.1 million and the cost of construction is estimated at nearly $25 million.

A detailed map of the new road was on display Tuesday and all affected property owners were listed on the map.

There will be at least two new access roads as part of the project but the original Hwy. 150 will not be used.

Congratulations to Miss Bailee Cheyne DeBorde on winning first place at the Pretty Baby/Pretty Child pageant at the Brodhead Homecoming. Bailey is 3 1/2 years old and she is the daughter of Charles and Paula DeBorde, granddaughter of Wayne Wilcott and Beverly Sloan and Keith and Susie Rigsby and the late Robert DeBorde. Bailee would like to thank everyone who came to support her and listen to her sing. Congratulations Bailee. We are all very proud of you and love you very much.

Eldon McGuire, with his dog Bandit, sings and plays guitar while sitting on his Richmond front porch. McGuire, who said he is a self-taught musician and has played professionally all over Kentucky for the last 11 years, received the guitar from his father-in-law, Roy Davidson, who played it for 20 years at Renfro Valley. “It’s just so relaxing,” McGuire said about why he likes to play. “There’s just nothing like it. McGuire, formerly of Mt. Vernon and the son of Edna Dawson of Versailles and the late Raymond McGuire, is married to the former Diane Davidson. (Photo by the Richmond Register) coming out of the roof when he arrived.

There were six employees and two customers in the restaurant at the time of the 4:30 p.m. fire. Except for some of the employees suffering from smoke inhalation, no one was injured although fire fighters did suffer from heat exhaustion because of the 90 degree temperature combined with the heat from the fire.

When fire fighters from Mt. Vernon got to the scene they hooked to a fire hydrant in front of Derby City Truck Stop, but had no water.

"We then pulled 400 to 500 feet of hose to the hydrant in front of the Heritage Inn beside Derby City," Griffin said.

"Mt. Vernon City water employees came to the scene and got water to the hydrant in front of Derby City," he said.

Chief Hansel said it took between 10 and 15 minutes to knock down the fire.

This was the second time the restaurant has caught fire. Hardee officials could not be reached for comment on Tuesday as to how long the restaurant would be closed due to fire, smoke and water damage.

Mt. Vernon Police Chief Terry Jackson, who is investigating the fire, said on Wednesday that he had suspects in the case and that a surveillance camera tape has been sent to be analyzed.

"got hold of the official," he told her that the $4,000 was $900 left from the previous past due balance and May's bill which would be about $3,100. Carpenter said that the $900 had been paid earlier and that the city hadn't even received a bill for the May water service from Wood Creek when the story was printed. Even though the May water bill to Wood Creek is not due until June 15th, City Clerk Tina Tyree was directed to get a cashier's check for $3,049 on Monday of this week to pay the current bill.

Carpenter noted that once the city meets a $1,985 interest payment in July to Rural Water, then the city should be able to keep abreast of bills for the water department without having to continually use general fund monies.

In other action, the council passed a motion to institute a purchase order policy for all purchases.

In Loving Memory of my Papa Herman "John" Morris

God looked around His garden
And found an empty place,
He then looked down upon the earth
And saw your tired face.
He put His arms around you
And lifted you to rest,
God's garden must be beautiful,
He always takes the best.
He knew you were suffering,
He knew you were in pain,
He knew you would never get well
On earth again.

He saw the road was getting rough,
And the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed your weary eyes
And whispered, "Peace Be Thine."

It broke my heart to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of me went with you,
The day God called you home.

Happy Father's Day Papa!
You are so loved and missed so very much!
OO's XX's to you Papa.
Love Always and Forever,
Your daughter,
Tammy "Durbin" Clifford

Thousands attended the 2006 Project Safe Neighborhoods National Conference held this month in Denver, Colorado. The conference also brought together 1300 members of the PSN task forces from around the country for educational, coalition building, and networking purposes.

Commonwealth Attorney, Eddy Montgomery, selected Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney and Assistant Rockcastle County Attorney John Gillum to attend the conference. Rockcastle County Detective Matt Bryant also attended.

During the three-day program, Assistant County and Commonwealth Attorney John Gillum helped develop strategies for gun violence prevention and school programs for educating juveniles about dispute resolution and existing firearm laws.

Conference highlights included speeches by President Bush and Attorney General Alberto Gonzales. $30 million in federal funding was announced nationwide for programs to support anti-gang efforts and an additional $10 million for combating violent crime in small towns where law enforcement is critically understaffed. $310,000 will be coming home to Kentucky.

Project: Daniel Boone Development Council, Inc. - DBDC 2006 Home Buyer Project.

Purpose: This project will initially develop 14 homes in Clay, Jackson, Laurel and Rockcastle counties. Additional units may be completed in the next few years if the initial project goes smoothly. The project could also under certain conditions, assist up to three families to rehabilitate their current dilapidated housing.

Location: Unspecified locations in Clay, Jackson, Laurel and Rockcastle Counties, Kentucky.

Approximate HOME Funds in Project: $500,000 of HOME funds.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by KHC which documents the environmental review of the project. The Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying upon request during normal business hours.

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by KHC to the Chief Program Officer, Attention: Lewis Diaz. Such written comments should be received at the above address on or before June 30, 2006. All such comments so received will be considered and KHC will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

KHC will undertake the project described above with HOME funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) under Title II of the National Affordable Housing Act of 1990. KHC is certifying that KHC as State Participating Jurisdiction consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, KHC may use the HOME funds and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and other related laws and authorities. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) That the certification was not in fact executed by KHC's Certifying Officer; or (b) that KHC has failed to make one of the two findings pursuant to 24 CFR Part 58 Sec. 58.40 or to make the written determination required by Secs. 58.35, 58.47 or 58.53 for the project, as applicable; or (c) KHC has omitted one or more of the steps set forth at subparts E of 24 CFR Part 58 for the preparation, publication and completion of an Environmental Assessment; or (d) KHC has omitted one or more of the steps set forth at subparts F and G of 24 CFR Part 58 for the conduct, preparation, publication and completion of an Environmental Impact Statement, if applicable; or (e) KHC has committed funds or incurred costs not authorized by 24 CFR Part 58 before release of funds and approval of the environmental certification by HUD; or (f) A Federal agency acting pursuant to 40 CFR part 1504 has submitted a written finding that the project is unsatisfactory from the standpoint of environmental quality.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58) and may be addressed to: Ms. Sandy Frye, Director, Office of Community Planning & Development, U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development, 601 West Broadway, Room 110, Louisville, KY 40202. RHRC organized many different events throughout this week from the annual cake walk to a garden party. The most popular celebration this week was the Resident Fashion Show. Ms. Peggy Carroll Lunsford, Infection Control Coordinator at RHRC, coordinated this event. The residents that participated were dressed in attire such as evening gowns, business suits, Stetson hats, and jewels. Each resident that participated in the fashion show had their hair styled and the women had their fingers and toenails painted by staff. "This was a wonderful day that we will never forget," Lunsford said. "This made our residents feel special." One resident commented, "I felt like a queen today."

Our models (residents) were Goldie Evelyn Poynter, Laura Daniels, Diana Benien, Ruby Allen, Bobby McClure, Virgie Reynolds, Nancy Coffman, Ruby Broughton, Lorene Williams, Elizabeth Smith, Edith Nicely, Wayne Manus, Charles Elliott, Burnetta Norton, Geraldine Anglin, Alma Adams, and Willie Langford. Staff models were Melissa Thompson,

The escorts were Bill Shackelford and Mike Carpenter. Steven Bowman was the Master of Ceremonies. Music was performed by Angie Blanton. All clothing and accessories were provided by Peggy Lunsford, Kathy Wright, Debra Martin, Tammy Reynolds, June Smith, Roberta Collins, and Tammy Glover. The hairstylist and makeup artists were Pat McKinney, Amy Lawson, and Peggy Lunsford.
