Serving Rockcastle County Since 1887

Mount Vernon, Kentucky 40456 - (606) 256-2244 Volume 125 • Number 51 .50 per copy Thursday, November 24, 2011

Three cars were involved in a wreck Monday afternoon at the intersection of Richmond Street and Newcomb Avenue/School Street. Above, James Hellard, of Mt. Vernon, was driving the 2008 Dodge Pickup on Richmond Street when, according to police, he ran the red light and hit the 2011 Ford pickup driven by Ricky L. McCoy of Somerset. McCoy was attempting to cross Richmond Street from Newcomb Avenue. McCoy then proceeded to hit Judy Coffey, of Mt. Vernon, who was sitting on School Street and attempting to turn left onto Richmond Street. Below, a Georgia man lost control of his Ford Ranger Monday morning on southbound I-75 at mile marker 57. According to state police, both lanes of traffic were stopped for about an hour while crews cleaned up the wreck. The driver was treated at the scene by Rockcastle EMS.

Parents, teachers classified staff needed for search of superintendent

By: Sara Coguer

The Rockcastle County Board of Education is accepting nominations for a parent, two teachers and a classified employee to serve on a screening committee for the hiring of a new superintendent.

The full screening committee will consist of a principal, board member, and the parent, teachers and classified employees. The job of the screening committee will be to go through all of the applications for superintendent and present the board of education with their selections for applicants to be interviewed.

One aspect of this process is that the board can reject any or all of the screening committee's recommendations, or choose to interview a candidate that

First big wreck at new Richmond Street traffic light

By: Sara Coguer

The new traffic light at the intersection of Richmond Street and Newcomb Ave./School Street saw its first major wreck since becoming functional in the Spring of this year.

According to Mt. Vernon City Police, about 12:30 Monday afternoon, Ricky L. McCoy, of Somerset, was traveling through the intersection from Newcomb Avenue to School Street when he was struck in the front passenger side by James L. Hellard, of Mt. Vernon, who was traveling towards Mt. Vernon on Richmond Street.

After McCoy was hit by Hellard, McCoy's vehicle struck Judy H. Coffey, of Mt. Vernon, who was sitting on School Street waiting to turn left onto Richmond Street.

Witnesses told police that McCoy and Coffey had the green light and that Hellard ran the red light on Richmond Street.

McCoy's passenger, Tammy J. McCoy, was taken

The Mt. Vernon City Council met Monday night, and adjourned forty minutes later. During the brief meeting, Mayor Mike Bryant updated the council on the Rose Hill Sewer project which is on schedule. Bryant told the council that not all residents have signed up for the service but he is hopeful that everyone will be on board by the time the service begins.

Tax administrator Josh Bray updated the council

Homeless veterans home in the works for Brodhead

By: Sara Coguer

A Brodhead man is hoping to bring a homeless veterans home to the city in the near future.

At October's meeting, the Brodhead City Council heard a presentation from Sam Merrick about his desire to operate a homeless veterans home in the city of Brodhead.

Merrick told the council that in order for him to receive the grants he needs to open the home, the city and county have to "buy in" to the project, because the grant would be funneled through them as the non-profit organization.

The goal of the home would be to initially house

Hospital gathers a ton of food for needy

By: Arielle Reese, Community Relations Director Rockcastle Regional Hospital

Rockcastle Regional Hospital & Respiratory Care Center employee Jessica Evans-Martin was driving past a local food bank and saw a line of people waiting to get inside. Jessica was inspired to help after seeing a great need in the community. "When I saw all the people who were waiting out in the cold and rain for something to eat, I told myself I had to do something to help," said Jessica. "My next thought was to approach my co-workers at Rockcastle Regional Hospital and see what we could do."

Ramblings . . .

by:
Sara Anderkin Coguer,
Editor

Things I am thankful for, and it is amazing to me how this list changes, the more "mature" I get.

I am thankful for umbrellas, especially when I actually have one and it's raining.

I am thankful for little boys who think anything with the word poop in it is funny.

I am thankful that I can never relive my teenage years. As I watch my daughters go through those growing pains, I am thankful that I am through that phase and I am thankful that I turned out okay.

I am thankful for teachers. I had some of the best, some of my favorites being Judy Maples, Betty Henderson, CK Cornelius, Keith Singleton and Patty Reese.

I am thankful that I married into the family I did, so I can enjoy a longer relationship with two women who impacted my early years as not only truly great teachers, but as truly decent human beings.

I am thankful for large families. Trust me when I say that we are not a perfect family by any means, but we do band together and love each other - through our faults and our worst moments.

It's amazing the difference when one can laugh at another and no one gets too mad. If our parents taught us nothing else, we learned to not take ourselves too seriously.

I am thankful for quiet nights at home with just my family. They are so few and far between they have become precious to me.

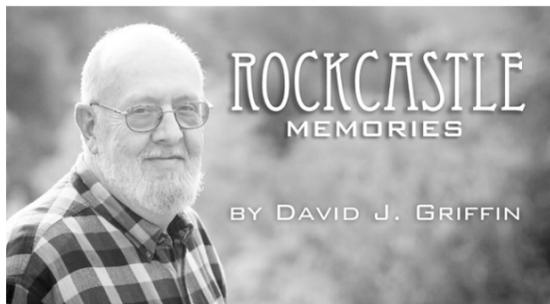

I am thankful that my mom cooked supper at night when we were growing up and I became accustomed to that and I can share the same experience with my own family. I truly believe that it is true - a family that eats together stays together.

I am thankful for my husband. People have told us that they believe we have the best marriage around. Jason and I snicker when we hear this, because we have our ups and downs just like any marriage. But I truly believe he has taken his marriage covenant seriously, and for that I am eternally grateful.

I am not always an easy person to live with. I get a little emotional, some times I am a little irrational, and every once in a while I am just truly hateful to the people I love most. It seems as if when I am at my worst, he is at his best and for that I am truly thankful.

I am most thankful for my God, and the people he has placed around me that

Columbia Steak House

During the summer between my junior and senior years at Mt. Vernon High School, I spent a lot of time with my first cousin, Patsy Cummins Barnett. She was a couple of years ahead of me in school and had already enrolled at the University of Kentucky majoring in pre-pharmacy. That summer we discussed what she loved most about UK, and she helped me to decide that I also wanted to study there. Sometimes she would catch a ride home with one of her friends to spend the weekend, and I would take her back to UK on Sunday night. Delivering her to Jewell Hall made me feel mature and gave me a feeling of being a small part of the university crowd.

The day that I graduated from high school, a Friday night in May of 1962, my '58 Chevy was already packed, and on Monday I entered summer school at UK. I wanted to take a few summer school classes and try to be slightly ahead of my class when they enrolled in the fall of the year. I signed up for college algebra, English grammar, and psychology. It turned out to be a wise decision both academically and otherwise, because I learned so much that summer about college life and about the social scene in Lexington.

One of my roommates was a sophomore and had already experienced the transition from high school to college. As soon as we became acquainted, I asked him where the best places to eat were in Lexington. He promptly replied, "If you want something quick and real tasty, then go to Joe Bologna's Pizza, which is located on campus. If you want to spend some money and impress your date, take her to the Columbia Steak House on Limestone in downtown Lexington."

I tried both restaurants and decided he was absolutely correct. I became a fan of these eating establishments and was a faithful patron of both for many years thereafter. I have continued to go to Columbia's over the years, though not so frequently. And I do not intend to stop now.

When I met my wife in the mid-seventies, I decided to take her to Columbia's for our first date. Because I had been there so many times, I called ahead and talked to Smitty, the Maître D' (he knew me well by that time), I asked him if he could manage to seat us when we arrived instead of standing in line. (There was always a line, and on the weekend it usually went down the street quite a way.) Smitty told me to come to the front of the line and he would seat us. And that is precisely what we did. It worked, too - my date was surprised and quite impressed.

Of course, I did not reveal that I had previously made the arrangements with Smitty. He knew that I would take real good care of him with a loaded handshake for helping me, and that is exactly what I did. He was a special guy and quite a character. I still miss him when we return to the restaurant.

Columbia's has been in existence since 1948 and has changed little over the years. In the sixties, the establishment was open very late at

Points East

By Ike Adams

Last time here I wrote about scaly bark hickory nuts and promptly had a terse reply from my buddy, Fred Beste, who lives there amongst the scrapple of Wind Gap, Pennsylvania. Fred wanted to know why I did not mention the pint of scaly bark hickory syrup he had dutifully sent me in the mail some months ago. Fred has a friend who taps hickory trees and turns the sap into syrup, sorta like honest people do with maple sap when they make sugar in Vermont, and it is actually pretty good stuff. If you aren't diabetic. Hickory syrup has to be laced with a heaping helping of plain corn sugar in the smelting process but it is mighty fine on French toast or pan cakes. If you are not diabetic but I already said that. At least it smells good and my wife says it tastes just fine if you are into hickory.

And the jug it comes in makes a wonderful keepsake in which to store your ink pen, point down. I have mine here on the desk. It is a pretty thing and probably cost more than the syrup it once held. I would love to get some of these little clay pints jars for moonshine and give them away for Christmas presents but Loretta Harlan County would probably melt the jugs. I may try it anyway. My ink pen leaks. I would call the contents, "Blue Moon of Kentucky". I am really into marketing and this idea is sure to be a seller. If you like raw blue whiskey that smells like hickory nuts. Actually it will smell a lot like cat pee but if you are at the game, who cares? It's the jug that counts and everybody will want one. Marketing is a

Cards of Thanks

Gene Martin

The family of Gene Martin would like to take this time to express our sincere thanks for your prayers, love and concern during our time of sadness in the loss of our loved one.

A special thanks to all the doctors and nurses at Rockcastle Regional Hospital, to everyone who sent food, flowers or made a donation to Three Links Christian Church and those who made the funeral so beautiful.

A special thanks also to Greg Lakes and Lakes Funeral Home, to Jack and Grant Martin and Michael Lopez for their words of encouragement and to the Venable Family for their beautiful songs.

Thank you so much, Darlene D. and Family

Bro. Jack Bruce

The family of Bro. Jack Bruce finds words rather inadequate to thank all those who gave comfort to our family during his illness and death. We will never forget the comfort and love given to us by Bud, Shirley, and Lewis Cox of Cox Funeral Home. We deeply appreciate the care given to Dad by Dr. G.W. Griffith, Dr. Lee Hicks, Rockcastle Regional Hospital, Compassionate Care Hospice Center, and all their staff members. Thank you to his pastor, Dr. Eddie Nation, and his church family of First Baptist Church, the Deacons who faithfully prayed with him, and to Loving Arms and Hosanna Sunday School Class for the many meals prepared and served. During the funeral, all our hearts were blessed as Mrs. Jamie Cornelius sang and led the Rockcastle Baptist Associational Choir in praise and worship. We were also blessed and uplifted by the words of the ministers - Bro. Eddie, Rev. Ron Lee, Rev. Roy Faulkner, and especially those of his grandson, Rev. Andy Hale. We praise God for the way He has touched your lives through Jack Bruce! To Bro. Randy McPherson and the pastors of the Rockcastle Association of Kentucky Baptists, thank you for your servant ministry with him for over 20 years and to Jenny McKinney who served faithfully alongside him in the Association, Kentucky Baptist Convention, and continued to carry on "the work" after Dad's retirement. We appreciate the Association's establishment of the Jack Bruce Scholarship Fund to financially assist young men called into the Gospel Ministry and attending Clear Creek Baptist College. There were also so many churches who reached out to our family and cared for us during Dad's last days here on earth and our lives are all the more richer because of your Christian love. Dad had many, many friends after over 60 years of ministry but we especially appreciate his friends and neighbors in the Hunter Ridge Subdivision who truly carried out Jesus' command, "Love thy neighbor as thyself." Thank you to Gene Kennedy and Judy Adams for their care for Dad and our family. And, to all those who called, came to the visitation, and worshiped with us at the funeral, we deeply appreciate your loving expressions of sympathy. "Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ. I thank my God upon every remembrance of you." (Philippians 1:2-3).

Thank you Rockcastle...

Dear Editor,
On behalf of Sara, we want to thank each and everyone of the Lady Rocket nation who came out to McBrayer Arena last Thursday in support of her U of L Cardinal team. She was overwhelmed by the turnout. It was the 2nd largest crowd every to see an EKU Lady Colonel's game with over 2,800 in attendance and we estimated that 2,000+ were Sara's fans, including the 2011-2012 Lady Rocket basketball team. We were told later that EKU averages about 200 for most home games.

She is representing Rockcastle County very well. Many of you keep up with her on facebook. Besides her basketball and school, Sara is very involved in FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes), has witnessed three of her teammates baptized after becoming a new Christian. Had the opening prayer/invocation at Women's basketball pre-season luncheon before 700+ avid supporters.

You can catch her again on Sunday, December 4th at Memorial Coliseum in Lexington as the Cardinals take on UK. Game time is 1 p.m. and it's a "white" out day, so get tickets NOW. It will be a sell out. Let us know if you'd like to come to a home game in Louisville.

Welcome...

Editor,
Welcome to Mt. Vernon, Kentucky, located in beautiful Rockcastle County in the breathtaking Daniel Boone National Forest.

Thank you for spending your money at our local businesses. They really appreciate it. Thank you for paying your property taxes on time, our little town could use the money. Thank you for being a good citizen, not just another thief as we have plenty of them already.

However, you are not from here, you are not a member of one of our elite social groups in Mt. Vernon. So please, sit in the back of the bus and be quiet. We know what is best.

Respectfully,

Where is responsible spending in Congress?...

Dear Editor,
The House of Representatives recently passed Harry Reid's first minibus appropriations bill. It contained 1) record levels of spending for food stamps ($80.4 billion - double from just three years ago); 2) $2.3 billion for disaster - which is excluded from spending caps and 3) a provision (inserted in the conference report) to expand the role of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac!

Last year, as part of their "Pledge to America," Republicans promised to end the practice of minibus bills. They have already broken that promise.

The "don't call it an omnibus" bill passed 298-121, but 101 Republicans voted against it! Good for them!

Senators Jim DeMint and David Vitter have already blocked a second minibus bill. What was the response! The top House Appropriations Congressman Hal Rogers is preparing to wrap the remaining bills into a single measure. Every single spending bill is going to be put into this bill!

Where is the responsible spending he promised us when he was out campaigning for reelection? I think it just took wings and flew out the window!

"Congress will have to put together the rest of the bus (meaning omnibus spending bill)," Rogers said. And when that happens, they will have thrown their 2010 campaign pledge under the bus!

night on the weekends - late enough to accommodate the bar crowd after the bars had closed. The smoky restaurant with the warm ambience would be filled with happily intoxicated, exhausted dance lovers, and the Nighthawk Specials would be flying out of the kitchen one after another.

Columbia's special was, of course, their garlic-battered steak - served with either a huge baked potato or those giant-sized steak fries. The name "Nighthawk" was coined by a local disk jockey named Tom Kindall, who had a regular stint on WVLK radio playing rock and roll from midnight until dawn. I can hear him now, "Now all of you music lovers, make sure you stop by Columbia's and tell them you are in need of that Nighthawk Special, and be sure to tell them you heard about it here on WVLK."

Let's go back to that special date I had in the '70s. Evidently my date was impressed enough that evening to continue to see me - she eventually became my bride, and we have been happily married for more than 30 years. This past August for our anniversary, I decided to replicate that first date and take her back to Columbia's. Guess what, we ate the same meal, and it was just as good after 32 years as it was on our first date. We even sat in the same area of the restaurant that we did in the '70s. About the only difference was our appetizer. For our anniversary, we ordered the lamb fries, which my wife loves. They didn't offer that as an appetizer back in our younger years.

The restaurant is basically the same as it was on our first visit - dark, simple, and extremely cozy. We spent the evening reminiscing about our lives together and how glad we are that we experienced our first date at such a historic dinner spot in downtown Lexington.

Over the years, Kathy and I have frequented Columbia's many, many times. We probably love this steakhouse better than any other in the state. How could anyone compete with the garlic-soaked steak, steak fries, and the awesome Diego salad? They are just too delicious. So here's to General Manager Flo Cowley for maintaining the atmosphere and great food that we first experienced so many years ago. Keep up the good work, Flo, and we will see you again soon.

(You can reach me at mtmman@mis.net or you can drop me a note at P.O. Box 927 - Stanton, KY 40380. Your comments and suggestions keep me thinking about how it was in the early days in Rockcastle County.)

He buys batteries for his cell phone by picking up pop and beer cans and such and he lives wherever he can find a place to lie down. "I try not to smell too bad but sometimes you can't help it" Wisdom from Sid Taylor.

Sid calls me up in the middle of the night when his batteries are strong and I wake up if I'm not already. And Sid says, "Adams have you got a minute because I was just thinking?" (Sid Taylor is a thinking man and somewhat dangerous when he does so but I usually listen up and take my chances when he finds time to call.)

"Beech nuts are on my mind," he said. "Have you ever lived on beech nuts and turnip greens?" And I had to confess that I have never been that bad off even though I am fond of both. And Sid told me that I ought to have to. "It'll make a man out of you," he said. Beech nuts and turnip greens.

And I got to thinking about all the huge old beech trees that separated Uncle Willie's place from our's and all the hours that I spent shelling out the tiny nuts so that Mom or Aunt Lona could use them to season fudge or fruit cakes. You really have not eaten unless you have had beech nuts. Yummm is an understatement. But much patience is required and hulling them out is not easy on finger nails.

So Sid says to me, "I have found a good woman here in Roanoke and she is going to put me up for the winter. She has the biggest turnip patch you have ever seen and beech trees all over the place."

I wouldn't touch that with a ten foot pole.

And I said, "Good for you Sid. Good for you." And he hung up.

Farm Service Agency County Committee Voting is Now

FSA county committee elections have been mailed to eligible voters. The deadline for eligible voters to return ballots to their local FSA offices is December 5, 2011.

To be an eligible voter, farmers and ranchers must participate or cooperate in FSA programs in LAA #3 for which the election is being permitted. A person who is not of legal voting age, but supervises and conducts the farming operations of an entire farm, can also vote.

Agricultural producers in each county submitted candidate names during the nomination period held last summer. Those nominated are John D King, Armon Greg Neeley and Maurice Burton Stephens.

Eligible voters who do not receive a ballot can obtain ballots at their local USDA Service Center. December 5, 2011, is the last day for voters to submit ballots in person to local USDA Service Centers. Ballots returned by mail must be post-marked no later than December 5.

Hispanic and Women Farmers Can Seek Compensation to Resolve Discrimination

If you are a female farmer or rancher or a Hispanic farmer or rancher and you believe that the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) improperly denied farm loan benefits to you for certain time periods between 1981 and 2000 because of your gender or race, you may be eligible to apply for compensation.

To register to receive a claims package call the Farmer and Rancher Call Center at 1-888-508-4429 or visit website address www.farmerclaims.gov.

Adverse weather events include: hurricanes, floods, blizzards, wildfires, extreme heat and extreme cold. Normal mortality losses cannot be reported after November 29, 2011.

Producers must provide the following to complete their application:

- Proof of beginning inventory of livestock
- Proof of death
- Rendering truck receipts or certificates
- Veterinary records or a picture of the dead animal including the date of death and documentation for cause of death
- Third party certification provided by a person who is not affiliated with the farming operations who can verify the beginning and ending inventory livestock records.
- Documentation must provide sufficient data that identifies: Kind/type/weight range of livestock; Number of livestock trict will pay 75% of the total cost of the burial not to exceed $250.00 when the burial is performed according to all eligible requirements established by KRS.

The Family Room

I Don't Remember What I Did

Chelsea awoke with a pounding headache. Her body felt as if she had been run over by a truck. For a moment she forgot where she was and why she hurt. It came back to her in a rush: her boyfriend had been drinking last night and had become furious when she tried to leave to pick up her daughter at school. He was always insanely jealous.

She had to get her daughter, so she raced for the back door but he got there ahead of her and pushed her against the wall while choking her. She passed out briefly and awoke to the sounds of dishes breaking and furniture being destroyed. She knew better than to try and stop him, so she sneaked out the door and ran toward her car.

Again he caught her and threw her to the ground. He began kicking her and she rolled to try and get away from him, but he kept after her. When he stopped kicking her, he picked her up and slammed her head against the fence several times.

As she lay in the grass, he went back to her car and started beating it with his fists. He broke the front windshield, cutting himself in the process. Bleeding from his hand, he ran at her and yelled at her. He choked her again and she finally passed out.

When she came to, all was quiet. She could taste blood in her mouth and feel her matted hair. The grass felt cool against her skin. She could barely feel her arms and her legs would not support her. She crawled to the house and called her mother.

Her mother had begged her to leave but Chelsea knew it would be worse if she wasn't there when he came home. Chelsea begged her mother not to call the police because "that will cause more trouble." Her mother reluctantly agreed and took Chelsea's daughter with her and left Chelsea there to sleep.

The next morning Chelsea could barely make it out of bed. She knew she should see a doctor, but also knew what a scene that would cause. She made it to the bedroom where she found her boyfriend asleep on the couch. Furniture and broken dishes were everywhere. She slowly began to clean up the mess.

Her boyfriend awoke and surveyed the scene. He looked at her and asked, "What happened to you?" Chelsea said quietly, "You happened to me." "Me?" he hollered. "You crazy _____. I didn't do anything to you."

Chelsea had always believed that he couldn't help what happened when he drank. She knew he got wild and crazy. She just tried to stay out of his way.

As he made his way to the bathroom, Chelsea again looked around at the destruction. "All the furniture that I paid for and all the things that belonged to my grandmother are ruined!" she thought.

Chelsea then glanced to the corner of the room where he kept his guitar and amps. That guitar was his pride and joy, and he wouldn't even allow anyone else to touch it. It was then that it came to her: the guitar was the only thing in the house that he had not destroyed! How "out of it" could he be if he managed to break her stuff but not his!?!?

At that moment something changed in Chelsea. She grabbed her keys and walked out the door, while dialing 911 on her cellphone.

FIVE CUP SALAD

This salad was mentioned in the "Mail Call Again" episode of my favorite TV show M*A*S*H. Radar's mother had sent him a home movie of his family from Ottumwa, Iowa. They were all gathered outside at Radar's house, eating a large dinner together. The table was laden with food. When it started to rain, they started carrying the food inside. Hawkeye asked "Hey Radar, what's that in the bowl?" Radar told him "That fruit salad with those little marshmallows." BJ turned and looked at him. "What do they call that?"

"That fruit salad with those little marshmallows," Radar replied seriously.

- 1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
- 1 cup miniature marshmallows
- 1 cup Mandarin orange slices
- 1 cup coconut
- 1 cup sour cream

Mix all together and chill for at least an hour before serving.

COTTAGE CHEESE JELLO®

- 1 box (3 ounce) lime Jello®
 - 1 cup cottage cheese
 - 1/2 cup celery, diced
 - 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
 - 1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
 - 1 small jar maraschino cherries, halved, drained
- Prepare Jello® according to package directions and cool for an hour or until it begins to firm. Add cottage cheese, nuts, celery and fruit. This step prevents the fruit and nuts from settling in one place. Mix well. Pour into mold or serving dish. Chill.

BLACK CHERRY SALAD

- 2 boxes (3 ounces each) cherry Jello®
 - 2 cups canned black cherries, pitted, drained
 - 1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans
 - 1 cup finely cut celery
- Prepare Jello® according to directions on box. Let cool until set.

PEACHES AND COTTAGE CHEESE
2 peach halves, fresh, frozen or canned
2 lettuce leaves (optional)
1/2 cup cottage cheese
1 tablespoon brown sugar

Place one or two lettuce leaves on plate if desired. Put peach halves on those. Add the cottage cheese. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Two pineapple rings can also be used in place of the peaches.

The Roots of Rockcastle

by: Tonya J. Cook

Fond Memories of Growing Up in Horseshoe Bend, Part III

For the past two weeks, the Roots series has been going back to the days of the 1930s, -40s, and -50s through the memory of Toni Mae Smith-Mink. The focus has been, for the most part, the Horseshoe Bend area.

Toni Mae and her brother, Jimmy Lee, had been orphaned at an early age in the early 1940s. However, she can remember her father, Tony Smith, making and selling dog figurines of various sizes and breeds. He would take plaster and pour it into the dog molds and wait for it to set. When set, he would take them from the mold, and paint the dogs. Then he would display them on shelves in front of his house. He was uniquely situated on one of the main thoroughfares going north and south during the "golden age" of Mount Vernon, so he had a thriving business.

Small business was thriving in Mount Vernon, taking advantage of the major road going through town and the tourist draw of Renfro Valley. Sam Greene and his wife, who also owned a small grocery/gas station in "the bend" had three frame cabins for rent. There were two single cabins and one double. As time passed and the need for them decreased, they finally fell into a state of disrepair and collapsed.

About 1949, Highway 25 went through town. It is known as Richmond Street in the area of Horseshoe Bend today. This forever changed the landscape of the community of Horseshoe Bend.

There, of course, was a work crew for the highway, that lived and worked in the area. These men often ate and lived, if weather permitted, in what became known as "Betsy's Camp". Betsy's Camp is located a short distance north of Renfro Valley. Betsy was a black lady that cooked over an open fire located next to a swimming hole in a wooded forest setting. The road crew came there to camp, eat, swim, and probably hunt, supplying Betsy with fresh game. The fishing was said to be outstanding. One could stand on the bank and the water was said to be so clear and pristine that the huge fish could be seen swimming just below the surface of the water. Several of the locals would go there to swim, as well. It is said that the waters of Betsy's Camp are still as clear and as full of fish as they ever were.

Although it has been many years since the "golden age" of Renfro Valley, Mount Vernon, and the community of Horseshoe Bend, the memory of these still burns bright in the memory of Toni Mae and these shared memories have enriched all of us.

Christmas season is the time to celebrate importance of family

By: Sam Hamilton
Co-Chairman
Recreation and Wellness
Task Force

As the holiday season begins, it is a time when families gather and renew bonds that strengthen them and celebrate another year of memories that have been made. It is a time of togetherness that is important to the fabric of our families and community. Many times our extended families only come together once or twice a year to spend a few hours catching up having some family time.

The Recreation and Wellness Task Force recognized that Rockcastle County does not have adequate facilities to support and promote health family activities in our county. The Task Force included many of these facilities in the purposed Health and Wellness Complex. The Complex would provide picnic shelters and areas to play corn hole, horse shoes and other family oriented games. There needs to be areas to have family cook-outs and playground areas for our children to run and enjoy a warm spring day. A dog park was included so that our residents could take their dog out and let them run free on a nice sunny day. It is important that our county support our families and help build bonds that will keep our families strong in the toughest times.

The financial impact of these types of recreational facilities for our residents is also important. If a family of four goes out to eat and then to a movie on a Friday night it would cost about $50 to eat, about $40 for tickets, and another $10 to $20 for snacks at the movie plus gas to a surrounding city. A normal family in our county does not have $100 to spend on a weekend for this type of activity. Our community could host Friday night movies in the park like other cities in our area. The cost would be $10 per car load. Snacks such as popcorn, hotdogs and sodas could be sold for a dollar each. A family of four could go to the movies for less than $25. It would also keep that money in our county instead of spending it in other areas. The community could host plays in the summer or concerts in the park.

The purposed Complex would allow our families to participate in healthy family activities that would strengthen their bonds.

Some people have said that our county cannot afford this project in this economy. The fact is our community cannot afford not to build this complex. Our economy is struggling and during these times is when our community needs our leaders to step up and find ways for them to save money and help them keep their families together. What is your family worth to you?

Hammond is now starting for Cardinals

In a move to get things going early, former Lady Rocket Sara Hammond and red-shirt sophomore Cierra Warren moved into the starting line-up for the 9th ranked Louisville Cardinals home opener against Xavier on Sunday. Hammond, a freshman McDonald's and Parade All-American is averaging 21 minutes a game, 6.3 points and 7.5 rebounds, which leads the team in rebounding, has 5 blocked shots to start the season and 5 steals.

Before a crowd of approximately 12,000 the Cardinals held Xavier to 12 first half points and led 31-12 at intermission. They extended the lead to as many as 31, 55-24 midway through the 2nd half before cruising to a 62-44 win.

The Cardinals are now 3-1 on the season and will have a home game on Tuesday against Austin Peay before flying to Florida for games against top 20 Florida State and Florida A&M this coming weekend.

Hammond scored 6 points, hit her first three pointer of the young season and grabbed 8 rebounds in the game.

city is still not getting this revenue, but Bray told the court that Luther Galloway with A.G.E. is helping him expedite the necessary paperwork to the state.

In new business, the city voted in favor of a resolution for application for and administration of a grant for ballistic vests through the Kentucky Office of Homeland Security.

Fire Chief David Bales told the council that the department had received a grant of $27,500 for vehicle rescue equipment. The grant funds were 100 percent, with no matching funds needed. This grant was given through the Kentucky Office of Homeland Security.

During his fire department report, Bales reported that the Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue made 19 runs and used 9,250 gallons of water in the month of October. He reported that through October 31, the department had made 245 runs for the Rockcastle Regional Hospital and decided to see if they would want to help. While that committee primarily focuses on employee wellness campaigns, they were motivated to help and immediately began brainstorming ideas. The group decided to have a food drive and set a goal of collecting a ton, or two thousand pounds, of food. The donations would be collected for CAP’s Grateful Bread Food Pantry and the First Baptist Food and Clothing Mission.

From that meeting, the food drive evolved into something bigger than Jessica and the Wellness Council could have ever hoped it would.

Employees began bringing in bags of groceries, a collection day was held at local grocery stores, a Zumba class brought in food, donation cans filled with change around the hospital campus, people donated money for food purchasing and local grocery stores donated items. In just a little over one month, the Wellness Council had reached their goal and on November 17, 2011, over 2500 pounds of food was transported from the hospital’s campus to two local food banks. Rockcastle Regional Hospital also donated $500 to each of the food banks for additional purchases of needed food items for the upcoming Holidays.

“The food drive was only made possible by the generosity of many people,” said Betty Purcell, Wellness Council Chair. “Our hospital works as a team not only to help our patients, but also our neighbors. We saw the food drive as an opportunity to reach out to our community. We hope the food drive contributes to a happy, healthy holiday season.”

CAP’s Grateful Bread Food Pantry is located on Williams Street in Mt. Vernon and First Baptist Food and Clothing Mission is located on Church Street in Mt. Vernon.

10 veterans, with the hope of eventually housing more if possible. Merrick also told the court that the home would bring in three new jobs: a social worker, a nurse and a life safety coach.

Merrick told the council the home would be a transitional residence for the veterans, to help them get back into a healthy and safe environment. He stated, “The transition to civilian life is very difficult for some veterans, and we would be able to provide an environment for them to do so effectively.”

“Obviously veterans range through all ages, but the majority of the homeless ones are from the Vietnam era,” Merrick said. “They would stay from two to five years, however long it takes for them to become productive citizens again.”

Merrick told the council that the home would have to follow very strict guidelines established through Veterans Affairs. “I would like to call it a Veteran Helping a Veteran,” Merrick said. Merrick is a disabled veteran himself, who worked with the Office of Veterans Affairs.

Although the process is still in its earliest stages, Merrick states that he has “high hopes, if everyone keeps working with me.”

The council took no action on the presentation but did give Merrick some information as to a site for the project.

A look at the history of Thanksgiving

By: David Owens

As we sit around our Thanksgiving table this Thursday and feast and enjoy family fellowship; do you ever wonder how our Thanksgiving tradition got started? We all know about the pilgrims and how the Indians showed them to groups began to separate from their persecuting churches, to form their own secret congregations. One such group was a radical Calvinist church centered in none other than Sherwood Forest, in a small village in Nottingham shire named Scrooby. What religious be-

The pilgrims also rejected the legitimacy of the Pope, the Saints, and the church hierarchy, as was the veneration of relics. Icons and religiously symbols such as crosses, statues, stain-glass windows and other worldly manifestations were seen as a form of idolatry. The pilgrims believed the church or meeting house should be very humble in appearance and was giving no special reverence. These were the primary causes of conflict between pilgrims and the Church of England.

The pilgrims, on the other hand, believed that "baptism now, as circumcision of old, is the seal of the covenant of God," and they felt that groups like the Anabaptists were depriving Christ's flock of all its young lambs that died in infancy.

book written by Henry Ainsworth, which they believed was a more true and literal translation of the psalms, whereas the Church of England tended to use the Sternhold and Hopkins psalter which was more poetic in tone. The Church of England also used the Book of Common Prayer whereas the pilgrims strongly opposed scripted reciting of other men's prayers.

entire castle staff. When the pilgrims from England arrived in America, roasted goose was replaced by roasted wild turkey as wild turkeys were abundantly found. Thus, a new American tradition of serving turkey at the Thanksgiving celebrations was started. The reason we eat turkey on the last Thursday of November is that on October 3, 1863, President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed, by an act of congress. "An annual National Day of Thanksgiving, on the last Thursday of November, as a day of Thanksgiving and Praise to our beneficent Father who dwelleth in the Heavens." So it is that on Thanksgiving Day each year, Americans give thanks to Almighty God for all His blessing and mercies toward us and our country.

liefs did they have, that made them so intolerable to the English authorities?

grow corn with fish fertilizer. We eat turkey and pumpkin pie on the last Thursday of November to honor them and give thanks for our religious freedoms.

First of all the pilgrims separated from the Church of England because they believed that the reforms of the Anglican church had not gone far enough, that although the break with Catholicism in 1535 had moved some way toward the puritan belief in and idea of religious authority grounded solely in scripture, by substituting king for pope as the head of the church, England was only recapitulating an unnecessary, corrupt, and even idolatrous order.

The pilgrims believed infant baptism was the sacrament which wiped away original sin, and was a covenant with Christ and his chosen people as circumcision had been to God and the Israelites, and therefore children should be baptized as infants. This was in opposition to the Anabaptists, who believed that baptism was essentially an initiation ceremony into the churchhood of believers, and they could only be administered to believing adults who understood the meaning of the ceremony.

The pilgrims faithfully observed the Sabbath, and did not work on Sunday. The pilgrims did not celebrate Christmas and Easter. They believed they were human holidays invented for man's pleasure and not prescribed by scripture. They also considered marriage a civil affair, not to be handled by the church ministers, but instead by civil magistrates. Marriage was a contact agreed upon by a man and a woman.

Now, addressing the tradition of why we serve turkey on Thanksgiving Day. Although different reasons are given, the most commonly accepted one by early American historians is that of Queen Elizabeth. In England it is a custom to bake a goose for thanksgiving occasions. This tradition is said to have come about because the queen was celebrating a harvest festival with baked goose as the main course. During the feast she received news that a gale storm had sunk the Spanish Armada navy on its way to attack England. Taking it as an act of God she ordered additional roast geese to be prepared for the

We can trace this historic Christian tradition to the year 1623. After the harvest crops were gathered in November 1623, Governor William Bradford of the 1620 Pilgrim Colony proclaimed, All ye Pilgrims with your wives and little ones, do gather at the meeting house, on the hill...there to listen to the pastor, and render thanksgiving to the almighty God for all his blessings."

Pilgrims also believed in predestination and that their church was the only true church. They believed that before the foundation of the world, God predestined all who would be saved and all who would be damned. Only those God elected would receive God's grace, and become a member of their church.

A small fire at Denny's Restaurant Monday morning was caused by a malfunction in the decorative neon lighting around the roof, which ignited the wood and shingles. Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue responded to the scene. Damage to the restaurant was minimal.

Nurse wins state award

By: Arielle Reese
A nurse of the Respiratory Care Center at Rockcastle Regional Hospital was recently recognized by the Kentucky Association of Health Care Facilities (KAHCF) with a state-wide award for nursing.

Stephanie Jones, RN, was notified in September she was the Eastern District Winner and in the running against the winners from other districts for the state award.

At the KAHCF banquet in Louisville on November 17, 2011, Stephanie received the Stephanie Professional Achievement award for registered nurses from across the state.

Stephanie was nominated by her peers who described her as "knowledgeable, helpful, compassionate, caring, professional, cooperative, hard working and dedicated."

Her peers also recognize the ways Stephanie goes above and beyond her routine job duties each and every day.

"Stephanie is a nurse that treats patients like they are her family," says Cindy Burton, RN, Rockcastle Regional Hospital Chief Nursing Officer.

"She takes a holistic approach to nursing and caring for her patients. She focuses on making the residents happy as well as meeting their physical needs. We felt Stephanie was very deserving of this award and we are proud of her accomplishment."

KAHCF is the trade association representing long term care facilities throughout the Commonwealth.

Its annual conference November 15-17 at the Galt House Hotel in Louisville hosted more than 1,400 people from across the state and nation.

"Government Grant" scam calls

BBB warns not to give bank account info or send money

Scam artists claiming to represent the U.S. government are calling consumers all over central and eastern Kentucky saying they have been "selected" by the government to receive a "free grant" to use for whatever they want. The Better Business Bureau of Central & Eastern Kentucky warns the public that there are no such grants and not to give the callers any information or send any money.

"With the tough economy, people may become more susceptible to falling for this scam," said Jack Frank, President & CEO of the BBB of Central & Eastern Kentucky. "People need to realize that the government is NOT contacting people to award any money, despite what the con artists are saying on the phone." At least a couple of consumers have been tricked into giving their bank account numbers over the phone.

Some consumers report being told they were "selected" to receive grants because they paid their taxes on time, or never declared bankruptcy. Some were told to send money via MoneyGram in varying amounts to cover fees. Others were instructed to give their bank account numbers so the "funds can be transferred" into their accounts.

"No money will be deposited and your bank account can be accessed by the scammers and your hard-earned money taken out," warned Frank.

Government grants are not available to the public to use for whatever they want, like trips, paying bills, or fixing up the house like the scammers are saying. Caller ID on some consumers' phones are showing "private" for the calls. After giving out bank account information, some consumers were then directed to call a phone number with a 202 area code, which is the area code for Washington D.C, to "verify their information." The BBB believes that is in an effort to convince the victims that the call is legitimately from the government. Consumers describe the callers as having thick, foreign accents and stating they represent the U.S. Treasury or other federal government department.

Anyone who receives one of these calls should hang up immediately. If you have given any bank account information, contact your financial institution as soon as possible to see if they can block access before it is too late. Consumers may contact the BBB with questions at (606) 678-2014 or 1-800-866-6668.

Financial Aid Tip of the Month

Avoid these very common financial aid mistakes

When it comes to paying for college, many parents and students may end up spending more than necessary because they made some common mistakes when seeking financial aid. Follow these tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) to make sure you get the help you need.

Many students miss out on money for college simply because they do not apply for it. Apply for every scholarship you can, since you do not have to pay back scholarships.

Even if you do not think you will qualify for federal student aid programs, submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Many states and colleges use the information from the FAFSA to determine if you are eligible for other aid programs. Not filing may hurt your chances of getting more free money for college.

Another common mistake is waiting until the last minute to apply for financial aid. Some programs have deadlines, while others have limited funds. If you wait too late, you may miss out.

When you are accepted by a college, you will receive a financial aid package. Look at it carefully before you accept it. If you have received offers from more than one school, compare the offers to see which one is the best deal. In some cases, you may be able to negotiate a better package.

Rocket Carpet Cleaners

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet? Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?

A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150* degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.

B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.

The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shortening the life of your carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.

D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.

E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.

The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet. Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

An encouraging word:

Any work can be satisfying

By Howard Coop

During a particularly trying time in our lives, we were, indeed, very fortunate. Her job as a home-health nurse required her to come to our home day after day for a long period of time. Through that experience, we got to know her well and came to appreciate the excellent service she rendered.

Many times during that long period, it was necessary for her to come to our home twice a day. Therefore, we saw her at all hours of the day and under all kinds of conditions. Occasionally, we saw her near the beginning of her workday; often our home was her first stop in the morning. On those occasions, she was rested and eager to face responsibility. At other times, we saw her near the end of a very long day after an extremely demanding work schedule had tired her body. Yet, in all situations and at all times regardless of her workload, she brought a pleasant smile and a friendly greeting. Indeed, she was always, and under all conditions, the epitome of pleasantness.

A job, any job, may be exceedingly demanding, and the conditions under which one works may be extremely difficult, but there is more. The attitude one brings to one's work and the spirit in which that work is done mean much. Indeed, attitude and spirit are tremendously powerful; they can be transforming.

The right attitude and the right spirit can make the most difficult job and the most menial task both pleasant and worthwhile. A right attitude and a right spirit can make tedious work more than an unpleasant job; those attitudes can turn it into a means of helpful service to others. One remembered only as Parlette has been quoted as saying, "To work at the thing you love, or for those you love, is to turn work into play and duty into privilege." Work doesn't have to be tiring and tedious. With the right attitude and the right spirit, any work can be satisfying and fulfilling.
